BY EYE WITNESS.

Twenty-seven million dollars lie ready in the hands of the man or men who, by starting subway construction, will give Chicago the greatest benefit and assessment and property developer that can be conferred upon it.

This money is the accumulation of the so-called traction fund created by the 55 per cent of their net profits which the street railway companies pay to the city.

Salvage that will relieve the time-devouring, nerve-destroying and money-wasting congestion in the loop, and that will be the nucleus of a city-wide system of rapid transit, can be built at an average cost of $2,000,000 a mile.

Could Begin Tomorrow.

In other words, preparations to build thirteen and one-half miles of subway in the heart of the most congested business area in the world could be begun tomorrow morning.

But the vision and the calculations of the men who have given the longest and most exact consideration to the practical aspects of the most vital subject before the community today do not halt at the end of thirteen and one-half miles. These men see a way to carry to completion within a few years twenty-eight and one-half miles of this construction, and they say they can do it without laying a burden on the taxpayer.

Thirty millions more, insuring the construction of fifteen miles of subway, can be raised, they maintain, by a system of special assessments levied on property that would be directly benefited and spread over a period of twenty years.

Benefits Enormous.

These benefits would be enormous. This is no matter of speculation. Men who have put thirty years of their lives and all of their shrewdest effort into building in Chicago real estate say that the increase in values created by a subway system would run all the way from 200 per cent to 400 and 500 per cent.

One owner, whose holdings include 10 parcels of Chicago real estate, says that he is so confident of the increased values which a subway would create that he would cheerfully see his assessment doubled on such of his holdings as would be touched by subway stations, and that on a lot lying as far away as fifteen blocks from the route of the subway it would be good business to pay a special subway assessment of $200. For the benefit of the small holder he proposes that such an assessment should be spread over twenty years.

"Ten dollars a year," he added—"it comes to less than a dollar a month, and it means $36,000,000 for the building of fifteen miles of subway."

Can Act Under Present Law.

To enable the city to levy such assessments, the subway proposition must be tackled not from the point of view that it is a tunnel for a public utility, but a lower level street for the benefit of all the people. The present law governing special assessments will bear that interpretation. Some of the biggest builders and some of the keenest legal minds in this town have been mulling over that fact for a long time. Already they have brought the fact to bear convincingly on the minds of a considerable number of North Clark street property owners, with the result that that thoroughfare may be the first in Chicago to have a subway. West Madison street had the chance, but shyed at it.

Such are some of the fundamentals of the proposition by which Chicago

LINER CRASHES INTO ICEBERG; RUSHES TO PORT

St. John's, N. F., May 25.—The Donaldson liner Cassandra, which struck an iceberg 160 miles off Cape Race, arrived tonight.

The vessel struck a submerged section of the berg. Immediately passengers and crew were called to quarters and the ship's boats swung out. Passengers were escorted to deck with but slight confusion.

There was no excitement, according to the ship's officers, who stated the damage was limited to springing of several plates on the starboard side below the waterline abaft of amidships. The ship made little or no water, and after sending out calls for help, came here at top speed.

The Cassandra had been stopped all night in the heavy fog. At dawn the steamer was put under way again.

The grating sound of the hull scraping on the submerged ledge caused orders for full speed astern. Passengers not yet up were not awakened by accident, but were called later.

Anna Humenik, 17 years old, attempted to commit suicide last night by turning on the gas in the bathroom of her home, 1018 West Twentieth place. Her parents called the police, who revived her with a pulmoter. According to her mother, she had been reprimanded by her father, "for going out every night."

EX-GOB TRAPPED AS CHECK THIEF

Thousands in His Grasp, Loses Nerve and Nets Only $100.

Robert O'Dell Ashworth, some time before his individual demobilization, prepared himself to step from the humdrum duties of an ordinary seaman into the dazzling heights of frenzied finance. But Robert, despite his flossy name, proved to be a piker, and now he must make an enforced visit to the Mare Island or Portsmouth naval prisons for swiping $100 when he might have made it thousands.

He Takes 98 Checks.

Mr. Ashworth was arrested a couple days ago in Leone, Tenn., his old home town, by W. G. Harper, a United States secret service operative. He was charged with having stolen ninety-eight checks in blank from the big check book in the office of Ensign W. A. Scott, disbursing officer at the Great Lakes naval station. He confessed, said he had used only three of the checks, and had torn up the other ninety-five. The amount of money involved in the forgery, he said, was about $100.

Another Gob Involved.

After the government operatives under Thomas R. Porter, chief of the Chicago zone, had located Ashworth at Leone and had him apprehended, Harper, accompanied by Ensign Scott, went to Tennessee. At Nashville yesterday Ashworth was held under $5,000 bond before a United States commissioner. He implicated another gob who is still at Great Lakes. The authorities declined to divulge this man's identity.

Find Body of Mother of Twins in Drainage Canal

The body of Mrs. Adelia Korman, mother of Alfonso and Albert, 6 year old twins, was found in the Wilmette drainage canal yesterday. Mrs. Korman, who was employed as a maid by William B. Kunkle, 414 Abbotsford road, Kenilworth, disappeared a week ago, leaving a note in which she stated that she was "going to end it all" and asking that her children be sent back to Belgium, her native land.

YANKS ON RHINE PREPARING FOR NEW ADVANCE

BY PAUL WILLIAMS.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[By Special Cable.]

[Copyright: 1919.]

COBLENZ, May 25.—The 4th and 5th divisions have begun active preparations to put the 3d army in readiness for a further advance. The 6th division began entraining this morning for Brest. As it was situated back of the area of the Moselle valley, its withdrawal is not considered inconsistent with the plans of other divisions to go forward. Five divisions are believed sufficient for a new line, as there are no important German cities on the front of the American bridgeheads for many miles.

The people remain quiet. They hope counter proposals may carry conviction, but they are not sanguine.

The Social Democratic party now is permitting the papers to publish recruiting advertisements of Noske's army. There is further indication of the success of Noske in bringing the Socialists around to a better feeling toward the troops.

Why Bullitt Quit Staff of the Peace Commission

BY CHARLES A. SELDEN.

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.

[Copyright: 1919.]

PARIS, May 24.—[Delayed.]—William C. Bullitt, on the staff of the American peace commission, and the man sent to Russia with Lincoln Steffens to interview Nicolai Lenine, and whose report on that mission was suppressed by the president, has resigned from the peace staff.

He prints in L'Humanite this morning his letter of resignation to the president, in which he says the treaty with Germany is full of causes for future wars because of the unjust clauses. He tells the president that if he had worked in the open, taking the people of the world into his confidence, instead of working in secret with the big four, he would have succeeded in making a just peace.

Bullitt is the only member of the staff to resign despite reports that nine have quit because of dissatisfaction with the treaty.

Back Yard Argument Leads to Husband's Arrest

Sam Moletta, 1334 Orleans street, was arrested last night by a squad from the detective bureau. He is alleged to have threatened to blow up the home of Mrs. Madeline Gobas, 1336 Orleans street, following an over-the-fence argument between Mrs. Gobas and his wife. Mrs. Gobas appealed to her landlord, who notified the police.

GERMANS FAIL TO GAIN POINT ON SAAR ISSUE

June 3 or 4 Date Set for Treaty Showdown.

BY HENRY WALES.

[By Special Cable.]

[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

PARIS, May 25.—The "Big Four" yesterday completed the redrafting of the Saar basin clauses of the treaty, following German communications asking for changes. Under the new arrangements German gold payments for the mines and gold payments for other expenses are changed.

The communication announcing changes relative to the Saar will be handed to Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau today. The "Big Four" also completed the economic terms of the Austrian treaty.

Call in Viscount Chinda.

The "Big Four" called in Viscount Chinda yesterday, who made a statement regarding what Japan can do in Russia to solve the bolshevik muddle. Chinda made certain statements regarding Admiral Kolchak and the new government.

Afterward the "Big Four" handled the Austrian frontiers, completing all except a small portion of the Slovak boundaries on the south. Tomorrow the "Big Four" will complete the treaty.

There was no meeting of the "Big Four" today. Present indications are the tentative program will be carried out and the treaty handed to the Austrians on Wednesday.

Sign by June 4.

Latest estimates place June 3 or 4 as the date when the Germans will sign the treaty, as they probably will be allowed only forty-eight hours after May 29, when the week's grace expires, after which the allies will name the date when they shall be called upon to sign or refuse.

Now it is believed improbable that President Wilson will visit Belgium before getting the treaty out of the way, and from present indications it seems he will be unable to visit Belgium at all, as it is a foregone conclusion he will proceed to the United States immediately the German treaty is disposed of.

Deadlock with Dutch.

The Dutch and Belgian negotiations concerning the south bank of the Scheldt river and Dutch Limberg has reached a practical deadlock, owing to the refusal of Holland to recognize any Belgian claims.

Belgium may solve the former question by the construction of a deep water canal from the Rhine and Meuse, and thence to tidewater via Bruges and Zeebrugge, if capital is obtainable, it is understood. Such a canal would divert much of the Rhine traffic from Rotterdam, but would also militate against Antwerp as a port.

Want United States Capital.

It is understood Belgium is dickering for American capital for construction of the canal. Right of way across Dutch Limburg is necessary for construction of a direct canal, however, and this is held up by the Netherlands, the prestige of whose ports would be menaced.

Belgium claims that Dutch failure to maintain neutrality in Limburg requires that the allied and associated powers back her demand for eradicating this salient in the frontier, but the

33D MEN RACE HERE; MAY WIN NIGHT AT HOME

Gen. Bell Arrives to Help in Welcome; Likes Job Plan.

Six thousand Prairie division heroes are racing across the country against time today. They are racing for a goal of real joy—a night at home, in their own beds and among their own people.

Officials of the war department estimate that if running schedules are maintained throughout the day by the thirteen long troop trains the boys will glide into Chicago yards about 10 p. m. tonight. It remains for unit commanders to say whether or not the homecoming heroes can leave their trains and go to their homes for the remainder of the night.

"With favorable conditions, the men of this first contingent should begin arriving in Chicago before midnight," Maj. Gen. George Bell Jr., commander of the division, said last night after holding a series of informal conferences with Chicago welcoming leaders. The general and his aids arrived at 3 p. m. yesterday.

"Of course, many of the trains will come in during the small hours and the men on them probably will be in their berths," he concluded. "Their release from the troop trains during the night will rest entirely with their unit commanders.

Can Trust His Men.

"I hear that other homecoming units have been allowed to scatter to their homes when arriving before the time scheduled for their military reception and parade. I know that men of the 33d division can be trusted as far as any troops anywhere and will report back to their trains in the morning if orders to that effect were issued by their officers. The men will be given as much liberty here as possible."

The railway companies plan to bring all thirteen trains into the Chicago yards, but not to the stations, between 10 p. m. today and 6 a. m. tomorrow. The trains will then be run into the various stations between 7:30 a. m. and 9 a. m. and the men marched to Grant park.

Capt. Marshall Field III. was in conference with Gen. Bell in the Blackstone for several hours last night and was made special representative of the Prairie division in the reëmployment drive.

Likes Job Plans.

"The Chicago and Illinois reëmployment organization that Capt. Field represents," Gen. Bell said, "is going to succeed splendidly in this job campaign. It is perfect. I am ready to do anything to help, but I cannot see where I can make the job organization any better. I believe that reënlistment will help solve this employment problem, too. Many of the men will go back into the service after being out of it a month or so.

"Chicago is a city of splendid welcome and the division appreciates the honors Chicago is conferring on it."

The commander will meet Gov. Lowden and members of the reception committee today. He may attend the general reëmployment conference called at noon in the Union League club.

Accompanied by Wife.

Gen. Bell came to Chicago early to help complete arrangements for the welcome of the Prairie division men. He was accompanied by Mrs. Bell and his daughter, Mrs. W. S. Wood; Lieut. Col. W. H. Simpson, chief of staff of the division; Capts. E. A. Woodward and Frederick M. Rea, aides de camp. Mrs. Bell met the commander in New York and expects to accompany him to Camp Grant, where she will be "first lady of the cantonment," occupying the famous white house that has been home to so many military leaders since the training period opened.

The party went to the Blackstone, where they will remain until the first division contingent arrives tomorrow morning. Gen. Bell will lead his men in the military program of the day and report as commanding general of Camp Grant when the troops arrive there for discharge.

Complete Welcome Program.

While the thirteen troop trains began their race toward Chicago yesterday, auxiliaries of the homecoming units, subcommittees of the state welcome committee, and executive officers

HAWKER TELLS OF ACCIDENT AND RESCUE

(By the Associated Press.)

LONDON, May 25.—Harry Hawker's own story of his disaster and rescue, sent by wireless from the destroyer Revenge to the London Daily Mail, follows:

My machine stopped owing to the water filter in the feed pipe from the radiator to the water pump being blocked with refuse, such as solder, the like shaking loose in the radiator.

It was no fault of the Rolls-Royce motor, which ran absolutely perfect from start to finish, even when all the water had boiled away.

We had no trouble in landing on the sea, where we were picked up by the tramp ship Mary after being in the water for ninety minutes. We leave Thurso at 2 p. m. Monday, arriving in London Tuesday evening.

Chicago Mail Flyer Killed at Cleveland

Cleveland, O., May 25.—Hundreds of persons saw Frank McCusker of New York, pilot of a mail airplane, leap 300 feet to his death from a burning machine here today. Fifteen minutes before he had announced that he would attempt to establish a record on his flight to Chicago.

The cause of the accident is not known. Witnesses saw puffs of black smoke come from the rear of the De Haviland. When the machine was at a height of between 300 and 400 feet McCusker was seen to climb from his seat to the frame. Then the airplane plunged and the pilot was seen to leap. The empty machine flew forward 200 yards before it plunged to the ground.

Alive When Picked Up.

McCusker was alive when picked up. He died in a police patrol while being taken to a hospital. His skull was fractured and his neck broken.

McCusker was formerly in the British naval flying corps, inspector of De Haviland airplanes at Elizabeth, N. J., and instructor at the United States aviation field in Texas.

MAIL ARRIVES ON TIME.

Frank McCusker, the pilot killed at Cleveland yesterday, had been a mail pilot since Dec. 1 last. He had been on the run from Cleveland to Bryan, O., and was starting on his first trip of the through run to Chicago. He had 400 pounds of mail for Chicago when he started on the fatal trip.

Lester Bishop, another pilot, took over the mail at Cleveland and made the run in airplane No. 70, arriving here on schedule despite the delay at Cleveland.

Oliver J. Sproul, superintendent of the service, said last night that the death of McCusker had been the first fatal accident since the aerial mail service was started on April 15, 1918.

Edward C. Radel, chief mechanic of the service, said McCusker was a mechanic at the government station at College Park, Md., before he became a pilot. "McCusker was a good boy," Radel said. "He was well liked. His home was in New York and he was 23 years old and single."

WIFE AND BABY SEE CYCLIST MISS "LEAP FOR LIFE"

New York, May 25.—One of the biggest Sunday crowds Van Cortlandt park has ever known, which included the wife and baby of "Daredevil" Max Schreyer, saw the famous cyclist crash into the side of a huge tank there this afternoon when he missed his wild leap for life down a steeply graded ninety foot incline, fracturing his skull, breaking an arm, and receiving serious internal injuries. His condition is critical.

Starting at the top of his narrow incline, 142 feet above the ground, Schreyer began his plunge at 3:30. The exhibition was being staged for the benefit of the Salvation Army's home service fund campaign.

Schreyer's bicycle darted forward for the leap and dive to the water tank below. The machine behaved beautifully, and the crowd sighed audibly as "it took the air" for the sweep through space to the tank, only to fall short and smash into the near side of it with a sickening thud.

PICKED UP BY STEAMER IN MID-ATLANTIC

Forced Down by Engine Trouble; in Water 90 Minutes.

LONDON, May 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Missing for six days and virtually given up for lost, Harry G. Hawker and his navigator, Lieutenant Commander Mackenzie Grieve, British airmen, who essayed a flight across the Atlantic ocean without protection against disaster save what their frail airplane afforded, are safe tonight aboard a British warship off the Orkneys.

Tomorrow they will reach the mainland and proceed to London, where they will be acclaimed as men returned to life.

800 Miles from Ireland.

Some 1,100 miles out from Newfoundland and 800 from the Irish coast, on Monday, May 19, the aviators, making the best of an engine which was failing to function properly, were forced to alight on the water. The little Danish steamer Mary, bound from New Orleans and Norfolk for Aarhuus, Denmark, picked the wayfarers up and continued on its northward voyage.

Lacking a wireless outfit, the captain of the steamer was obliged to withhold the good tidings of the rescue until he was opposite Butt of Lewis, in the Orkneys, where the information Hawker and Grieve were aboard his ship was signaled by means of flags.

Send Out Destroyer.

Immediately word was flashed to the British admiralty, which sent out destroyers to overtake the Danish vessel and obtain confirmation. This was done and one of the destroyers took the airmen off and later transferred them to the flagship Revenge.

From this safe haven Hawker sent a message tonight that his machine had stopped owing to the blocking of the water circulation system.

Dropped Under-Gearing.

When the airplane sped away from its starting point Pilot Hawker let loose his wheels and undergearing, thereby lightening the weight of the machine by a considerable amount, but making a possible landing on the soil of Ireland a more hazardous venture.

This, however, probably proved of much advantage when it became necessary to alight on the surface of the water. The airplane remained afloat without difficulty during the hour and a half it took the Danish steamer to come up and effect a rescue.

All England Stirred.

All England is stirred by the news of the safety of the two stout hearted aviators, but owing to the difficulties of communication some time must pass before the full details of one of the most remarkable voyages ever undertaken are known.

The one person in England who had always held hope was Mrs. Hawker. She always maintained that Providence would protect her man and, though she received condolences from all classes of people, including the king, she said today that she had never ceased to believe that some time and in some way her husband would come back.

Where They Were Found.

It is officially announced by the admiralty that the aviators were picked up in latitude 50:20, longitude 29:30.

The airplane was not salvaged. When the Mary rounded the Butt of Lewis it sent this wigwag:

"Saved hands of Sopwith airplane."

"Is it Hawker?" was the question sent out by flags from the Butt, which is the most northwesterly point of the Hebrides group off Scotland.

"Yes," laconically replied the Mary, and proceeded on its way.

Send Out Destroyers.

The admiralty immediately dispatched destroyers from northern points to intercept the Mary, and the Daily Mail instructed all signal stations to try to communicate with the captain with the urgent request to land the aviators at some Scottish port. The admiralty quest succeeded, and a wireless message came from the destroyer Woolsun late in the evening that it had overtaken the Mary and had transferred the aviators.

Nothing except some great battle has excited London more than today's unexpected tidings. The public was disposed to question whether the first report could be trusted, and the admiralty statement that it was taking measures to verify the report indicated doubt, which the Woolsun's message dispelled.

Mrs. Hawker Overjoyed.

The modest Hawker home near Surbiton was quickly the center of interest. Crowds of people swarmed there. Mrs. Hawker, who only on Saturday received a telegram of condolence from King George, said:

"I had a presentiment all along that I should see my husband again. I was confident all the time, although every one condoled with me. I am overjoyed and too overcome to talk now."

Mrs. Hawker, who received the news from the Mary early this morning, posted a notice outside her home, reading:

"Mr. Hawker has been found. He is on the boat Mary bound for Denmark."

A crowd of villagers soon gathered and showered Mrs. Hawker with congratulations.

The London Daily Mail, which offered a purse of $50,000 for the first flight by a heavier than air craft across the Atlantic ocean, will give Hawker and Grieve a consolation prize of $25,000.

LEFT ONE WEEK AGO.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., May 25.—[Special.]—It was a week almost to the hour since Hawker and Grieve left here on the trans-Atlantic air journey that the seemingly veracious report of their safety reached those already long mourning them for dead. When a message arrived that Lloyds' signal station at the Butt of Lewis, in the Hebrides, reported both men aboard the freighter Mary, bound for Denmark, the associates here of the Sopwith pilot and navigator were at first skeptical and disinclined to heed the good news. But when the shipping record verified the existence of the steamer and showed that it carried no wireless, and a study of the usual route from southern United States to Denmark showed that the course would take the ship within possibly a hundred miles of the Butt of Lewis signal station, some credence was given the report.

Within an hour after the first receipt, a study of all the circumstances, notably the fact that it originated with Lloyds, and names both the ship and signal station were given, brought belief, and turned the grief of the last few days to rejoicing at the two men's safety.

400 Miles Off Course.

It is only conjecture, but it is believed that since the Mary's charted course from Norfolk would cross the Newfoundland-Ireland course just about midway, it must have been in the neighborhood of the mid-Atlantic that the two men were picked up in the water, doubtless within a few minutes after they abandoned the sinking plane.

Apparently the flyers were at least 400 land miles off their course. All reports indicate the sea was rough that morning and it is doubtful if the tiny lifeboat carried in the Sopwith fuslage could have lived five minutes, while the plane itself with possibly a half load of fuel still remaining probably would have sunk almost as soon as it hit the water.

Whether this supposition is correct or whether, as appears more probable, the Sopwith came gliding down to the side of the first ship sighted, is only a matter of guesswork, but if the latter is the true explanation of what happened then either the Mary rescued them farther along their own course than would appear from a study of the charts or because, getting lost or encountering powerful head winds the biplane had either not made anything like the expected miles per hour or had traveled far off the course.

Freighter Sheds Light.

Some light at least to the extent of permitting intelligent conjecture is thrown upon the voyage of the Sopwith up to the moment her crew was picked up by the Mary, by the wireless log of the Furness freighter Glen Devon, now in port unloading the Vickers-Vimy bomber. Incidentally the failure to receive this information till hours after the Glen Devon dropped anchor is interpreted by Capt. Montague Fenn, manager of the Sopwith expedition, as evidence that news of the plane was not properly broadcasted in accordance with advance Marconi arrangements.

The Glen Devon broadcasted information it received, but somewhere in the Atlantic this information apparently died, at least for days. Taken in conjunction with the British air ministry's poor weather information service during the weeks of preparation for the flight this failure is being contrasted by the Britishers with the United States navy's excellent arrangements for the seaplanes' flight and bringing a more insistent demand that the British government lend to its civilian flyers every possible assistance in all future attempts to fly the Atlantic.

REJOICING AT ST. JOHN'S.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., May 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—Messages from London today announcing the safety of Harry G. Hawker and his navigator, Lieut. Commander MacKenzie Grieve, spread through this city as rapidly as the airmen swept over it a week ago, starting the trans-Atlantic flight attempt which provided a seven day mystery.

Rejoicing was general, but was perhaps greatest among the group of British aviators who had been preparing to follow in the Sopwith plane's uncertain wake.

Capt. Frederick P. Raynham, who was stopped in his attempt to follow Hawker by the collapse of his Martinsyde's undercarriage, had held firmly to the belief that Hawker and Grieve would be found somewhere north of Scotland. The basis of his opinion lay in weather reports upon which he and Hawker jointly decided to start and in subsequent reports of storm areas shown north of the Azores on the last map which Hawker saw before "hopping off."

Storm Like an Egg.

"This storm assumed the form of an egg extending northwest from the Azores," said Raynham. "That meant that Hawker would first encounter northeast winds, then easterly winds, then a strong set of winds from the south, those from the south being continuous and stronger than the others.

"These would have blown him north onto the course which the Mary presumably followed."

Further apparent substantiation of Raynham's theory was found in reports brought here by the British freighter Glen Devon, which arrived last night from London after a stormy passage.

Sight Red Light.

Clifford Nixon, wireless officer of the Glen Devon, said that at 1:30 Monday morning (Greenwich time) he overheard the steamer Sammanger sending to "DKA," the Sopwith's radio designation, her position as 50 degrees 28 minutes north latitude and 30 degrees west longitude. Subsequently the Sammanger informed Nixon that it had sighted the red light of a plane to the north.

A few hours later the Glen Devon was overtaken by a northeast gale, working down from the direction in which the red light, believed to have been that of the Sopwith plane, had disappeared.

This, according to Raynham's theory, was the storm which Hawker passed before being struck by the violent southerly blow.

The Glen Devon sent out repeated calls to other ships, broadcasting the reported positions of the Sopwith and requesting that ships stand by to give aid, but received a response only from the cableship Faraday.

Went Through Gale.

The log of the Glen Devon shows the development of the weather which Hawker went through and which Capt. H. W. Sudderby of the Glen Devon said he stated at the time was "so tempestuous that no plane could live through it."

During the twenty-four hours covering Hawker's flight the weather went from fine, with light westerly winds and a moderate sea, to a full gale with heavy rain, in which the Glen Devon rolled and strained heavily.

Officers said that if Hawker had started a day earlier he would have met ideal conditions.

Unload Vimy Bomber.

Unloading of the parts of the Vimy bomber which is to attempt the trans-Atlantic flight was virtually completed today. Capt. "Jack" Alcock, pilot, said he expected to have his twin-engined plane ready to fly before the Handley-Page, which has been two weeks under assembly at Harbor Grace. The Vimy will be assembled at Quidividi, Raynham having offered the use of his airdrome for that purpose.

Capt. Alcock and Lieut. A. W. Brown began assembling the Vimy this afternoon at Quidividi, and it was expected that within ten days the 700 horse power bomber, built to storm Berlin from the skies, would be ready for its peacetime assignment of crossing the Atlantic. After it has been assembled and thoroughly tested the plane will be flown light to Harbor Grace, where it will take on supplies of 865 gallons of petrol for the long flight.

Picks Take-off Field.

Capt. Alcock went to Harbor Grace this morning and selected a field for the take-off, near the hangar in which the Handley-Page is being assembled. A long runway is required for the machine, which weighs seven tons and has a wing spread of 67 feet and a length of 43 feet.

Capt. Alcock, 26 years of age, brings to his task a knowledge of aviation gained in the Dardanelles campaign, where with scout planes not available he built a high speed fighting plane from his own designs. His is said to have been the only plane built on active service by the British forces during the war.

Wounded in Flight.

Lieut. Brown, his assistant, was a war prisoner, having been taken after he was wounded in an aerial fight over the lines. He says he is to be married and will reclaim his former American citizenship "when I finish this job."

Use of a Raynham hangar for the assembling of the Vimy bomber will not interfere with reconstruction of Raynham's shattered plane, which is under way at a shop in this city. Raynham now plans to make his Martinsyde ready for trial flights with the old engine, replacing it with a new one for the trans-Atlantic attempt.

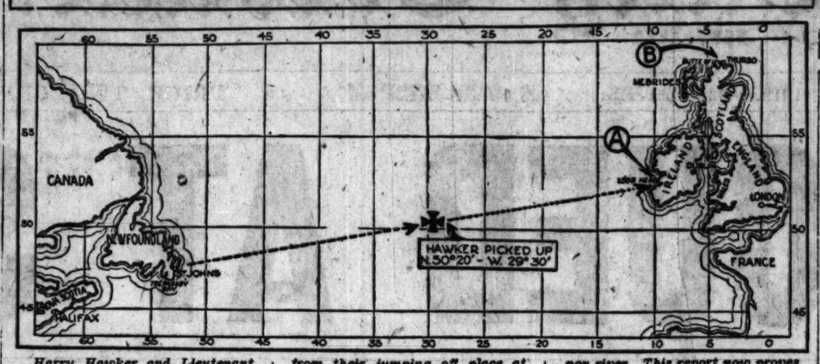

The crew of the Handley-Page today began the third week of assembling their plane with the hope of having it ready for a trial flight early next week.

WHERE HAWKER WAS RESCUED

Harry Hawker and Lieutenant Commander Grieve were picked up almost in mid-Atlantic by the Danish steamer Mary. The point of rescue was 50 degrees 20 minutes north, 29 degrees 30 minutes west approximately 1,100 miles from their jumping off place at St. John's, Newfoundland, and 800 miles from the Irish coast.

A—The west coast of Ireland, where it was first reported Hawker's machine was found sixty miles from the mouth of the Shannon river. This report now proves to have been an error.

B—Thurso, where Hawker and Grieve are to be landed today. A little to the west is the Butt of Lewis, off which the Mary first signaled she had picked up the aviators.

U. S. OFFICERS REJOICE

Washington, D. C., May 25.—News of the rescue of Harry G. Hawker and Lieutenant Commander MacKenzie Grieve, British airmen, was received nowhere with greater rejoicing than in the navy department here. American naval officers from rivals of the intrepid Britishers in the attempt to be the first to cross the Atlantic through the air turned to ardent supporters the moment Hawker and his navigator "jumped off" a week ago in the flight for fame and fortune.

Since the failure of the British airmen to arrive on scheduled time in Ireland greatest anxiety for their safety has been expressed by naval officers here. To some officers the accomplishments of the American seaplanes in the trans-Atlantic attempt gave way to sadness at the believed fate of Hawker and Grieve.

"That is fine," was the general comment of officers at the navy department when told today that Hawker and Grieve had been picked up at sea, and the comment was particularly emphasized by those who had a part in the preparations for the American cross ocean attempt.

Mary Small Vessel.

New York, May 25.—The Danish steamship Mary which picked up Hawker and Grieve is the only freighter of the name in Lloyds register. It was originally the British freighter Grovehall and was built at West Hartlepool eleven years ago.

The Mary is not equipped for rescue work, being just a little single decked ship, traveling in high latitudes to shorten the route and save coal. Its net tonnage is 1,124, and its length is 278 feet, and the name of its skipper as given in Lloyds is Capt. A. Duhn.

It was bound from New Orleans by way of Norfolk, where it stopped for coal, and whence it sailed for Aarhuus, Denmark, May 4. Making eight knots an hour it took it thirty-three days on its last trip to the westward from Shields to New Orleans.

Crew of 42 Men.

New Orleans, La., May 25.—[Special.]—The Danish steamer Mary cleared from New Orleans, April 26, sailing for Horsens, Denmark, via Norfolk, the following day. The vessel arrived here in ballast consigned to George Plant, a local ship broker. It loaded some 21,537 sacks of cottonseed cake for Denmark, the first cargo of this kind to leave port since the war. It was commanded by Capt. Duhn and was manned by a crew of forty-two men.

NEWS ASTOUNDS LONDON

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.
[Copyright: 1919.]

LONDON, May 25.—When the dramatic bulletin of the Hawker-Grieve rescue burst upon astonished London extraordinary scenes took place in the West End and Charing Cross area, crowded with Sunday promenaders.

When the newsboys ran down the streets crying "Hawker saved, special," the papers were simply torn from their hands by excited purchasers.

People riding in buses, not troubling to finish their journey, came tumbling down the gangway and stood in groups excitedly discussing the news and possibilities of the situation. Not since the anxious days of the war has there been such excitement in the streets.

A noticeable feature of the street scenes was the anxiety displayed by the women to get the latest news. Amplifications of the original bulletin were devoured as eagerly as the earlier details, and all through the afternoon near Trafalgar square and Hyde Park the interest of the public showed no sign of abating.

Where public meetings were being held announcements were made from the platform and in some instances striking scenes occurred. At Albert hall, where a Wagner concert was in progress when the news was announced from the platform, the audience stood and cheered for several minutes.

Enterprise was displayed at many cinema theaters in London during the evening, and announcements of the latest news was in every instance the signal for a burst of cheering. Reports from the provinces show that notices were displayed at postoffices, town halls and places of entertainment, and everywhere there were scenes of joyous excitement.

Tom Sopwith, for whose firm the flight was undertaken, said:

"Hawker's flight was a gallant endeavor to united Britain and America by a closer bond than those already existing. International rivalry along the lines of true sportsmanship can do nothing but good, and I hope there will be many more instances. I hope the next competitor, whether he be American or British, will have better luck than Hawker."

FRENCH AIRMAN BETTERS RECORD OF THE NC-4

CASA-BLANCA, MOROCCO, May 25.—Lieut. Roget, a French aviator who left Paris early yesterday morning on the first leg of a trans-Atlantic flight by way of Dakar to Brazil, landed at 6 o'clock last night at Kenitra, thirty kilometers from Rabat. His machine was damaged in landing, and the trans-Atlantic trip will have to be abandoned.

The entire trip was covered without a stop. Lieut. Roget seems to have beaten the record of the American navy seaplane NC-4, which in its recent flight to the Azores covered 1,950 kilometers [1,211 miles], while Roget flew 2,170 kilometers [about 1,348 miles].

NC-4 Still Weatherbound.

PONTA DELGADA, May 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—There is no immediate sign of a let-up in the unfavorable weather over the course of the projected flight of the American navy seaplane NC-4. It is considered impossible to start on this leg of the journey to England before Tuesday.

TOWERS RELATES BATTLE WITH SEA IN STORM ON NC-1

All Hands Glad They Are Alive When They Taxi Into Azores.

"The Tribune" presents herewith the last installment of the account by Commander John H. Towers of the flight of the NC-3.

BY COMMANDER JOHN H. TOWERS.

[Copyright: 1919: by Press Publishing Company, New York World.]

PONTA DELGADA, San Miguel, Azores, May 25.—The three seaplanes took off from Trepassey, Newfoundland, at 10 p. m. [Greenwich time], the NC-3 leading the formation and headed for the Azores. Everything was favorable until heavy clouds were encountered about midnight.

We climbed above the clouds and lost sight of the other two seaplanes. Just about daylight we went down through the clouds. At daylight and shortly afterwards we encountered heavy rain squalls and very rough air. We continued on our course, although we could not see the destroyers.

Lands on Water.

At 1:30, after flying for fifteen and one-half hours, we knew we should be in the vicinity of land, but as the air was so rough I decided to land and get a sextant observation in order to determine our position, as we had only a few hours' gasoline left and the pilots were in bad shape after five hours' flight with squalls. I discovered too late that a heavy sea was running. It strained the seaplane so badly when it hit the water that it was impossible to get off again.

Observation showed our position to be about 60 miles southeast of the patrol ships, which apparently did not hear our radio signals. A heavy gale arose during the evening, and it was a case of fighting into port.

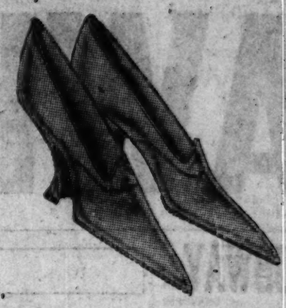

Sight an Island.

At the end of 48 hours of continuous buffeting, during which the seaplane was very badly wrecked by the thirty foot waves, we had worked our way over towards San Miguel, and sighted that island by taking advantage of lulls between heavy seas.

We managed to work our way across the wind. When we sailed down the coast towards Ponta Delgada we were sighted from shore, and a destroyer came out to assist us. Having gone nearly into the harbor on our own resources I decided to make port without assistance and started the engines just outside the harbor and taxied in to our moorings.

The seaplane was damaged beyond repair, and we were very disheartened at the thought of not being able to continue our flight to Lisbon, but this feeling was rather softened by the thought of our luck in having ridden out a gale for nearly sixty hours without even having sighted a ship and lived to look back on it.

Flags

Here in these assortments are flags in a complete variety of sizes, as well as many flag outfits, and all are excellently well made.

Flag Outfits, $1.35 and $2.35

Each outfit consists of a United States flag, made of cotton with printed stars and stripes. Screw joint pole, rope, ball and holder, all compactly packed in a small box.

There are two sizes—the 3x5 ft. flag and 6 ft. pole, $1.35 set; the 4x6 ft. flag and 8 ft. pole, $2.35 set.

Silk Flags 50c and 75c Each

These printed silk flags are mounted on staffs having gilded spear heads. In the 12x18-inch size, 50c each; in the 16x24-inch size, 75c each.

Cotton Flags 10c and 15c Each

These are printed cotton flags, mounted on staffs having gilded spear heads. There are two sizes, 12x18 inches, 10c each; 16x24 inches, 15c each.

Cotton Bunting Flags, $3.50 and $4 Each

These cotton flags are of an excellent quality bunting and in appearance resemble wool very much.

They are made with sewed stars and stripes and come in two sizes—3x5 ft., $3.50 each; 4x6 ft., $4 each.

Featured also in this flag section are broad assortments of service flags and flags of our Allies, made of silk, wool and cotton.

WILSON TOLD SENATE HALTS ON MANDATORY

Given Tip That Opposition to Turkey Is Non-partisan.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—President Wilson's reluctance to give the allied statesmen any assurance that the United States would accept the mandate to govern Constantinople or Armenia, or both, is the result, it was learned today, of advices of the sentiment in congress, cabled to him by an administration leader in the senate.

While predicting the ratification of the peace treaty with the league of nations covenant unchanged, this senator declared it impossible to forecast the action of congress on the acceptance of a mandate to govern any people in the eastern hemisphere.

Party Lines Ignored.

Party lines are shattered when it comes to consideration of this question. There are Republican opponents of the league covenant who hold that if the nation enters the league it should perform its whole duty and not shy at a mandate. There are Democratic advocates of the covenant who are opposed to the country taking on any responsibility of government in Europe or Asia.

Senator Lodge, Republican leader, said today that if any mandate were accepted, that for Constantinople would be the least objectionable and most attractive, as well as eminently dignified and worthy of the position of America in the world.

Not a Financial Burden.

"I certainly should not esteem in the light of a national calamity, as some have suggested," said Senator Walsh of Montana, Democrat.

"It is not true that to assume such a mandate would impose a great burden upon our national finances. It is a rich country. Constantinople is a rich and important metropolis. We would not be required to maintain a great army there, or any army at all save one of American officers in charge of native troops. That is the plan by which the French and English handle their African colonies; the natives make good, loyal soldiers.

"It would make a magnificent school for officers. We would be able to give to those people the benefits of American administration, political methods, ideals which would certainly be a blessing."

Service Should Be Voluntary.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, Republican, said the amendment of the covenant to make acceptance of a mandate optional had removed his objection.

"It should be fundamental that only volunteers should be thus employed and doubtless there would be plenty of them," he said. "The service term should be short, not over three years, and preferably two. Without doubt if it were agreed that we could best perform such duty it would present an opportunity to do a great service for civilization and the world."

"Endless Trouble"—Townsend.

Senator Townsend of Michigan expressed his opposition thus:

"A mandate to administer Constantinople would involve us in responsibility and trouble that I think we are not warranted in assuming. It would require maintaining an American army and would complicate us with all the troubles and conflicting interests of that part of the world. Anyhow, we have not quite settled all the difficulties that confront this country here at home that make demands on us for men and money."

Suffrage by Amendment Within Year Is Predicted

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—The national woman suffrage amendment, which passed the house last week, will be called up and adopted by the senate within a few days, possibly tomorrow, and, suffragists predict it will be ratified in less than a year's time.

GERMANS TO SIGN, BUT INTEND TO IGNORE TREATY

Allies Must Maintain Forceful Collection Agency

BY EDWIN L. JAMES.

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.

[Copyright: 1919.]

FRANKFORT, May 25.—If the Germans sign the peace treaty, they will sign with their fingers crossed. They will sign with mental reservations. They will sign without sincerity. Even now they are figuring on excuses for the nonfulfillment of the allies' terms.

Germany today has no intention to abide by the conditions laid down by the allies, except in so far as she is physically forced to do so. He who calculates that Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau's signature will insure Germany's compliance with the pact stipulations is working on a very large margin of error. Germany does not reckon her debt to the allies as a debt of honor. Germany will cheat them of every mark she can. The allies face the alternative of maintaining a forceful collection money agency or having the debt on their hands.

Scrap of Paper.

The one thought to be found here is this: "We will sign if we have to, but the terms cannot be fulfilled." What these Germans mean is this: "We will sign, if we can't get out of it, but we don't intend to live up to the agreement."

Let it be borne in mind that this is not the attitude of politicians or propagandists or of the present government of Germany. It is the attitude of the German people, those who must pay the war debt to the allies, if it is ever paid. They do not intend to pay it if they can sneak out of doing so.

Patriotism at High Point.

The national spirit of Germany is more united today than at any time for the last two and a half years. In the last two weeks I have tried to get the real German attitude toward the peace terms. I have talked with men and women, young and old, in Cologne, in Coblenz, in Mayence, in Weisbaden, and in Frankfort, as well as those coming eastward.

I heard Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau make his speech at Versailles on May 7. I had heard that same speech from other Germans before Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau spoke it, and I have heard it many times since. He spoke only the sentiment of the German people. There is but one conclusion to come to—Germany has not had enough whipping. It becomes daily more difficult not to agree with those who regret that the war stopped Nov. 11.

The Real Reason.

The main trouble is not with the terms laid down by the allies. Were they 50 per cent as harsh, Germany's squeal would probably sound the same. The trouble lies in the state of mind of the German people. The allies are trying to force terms fitting for a humbled and conquered people upon a people which considers itself neither humbled nor conquered.

The higher class German citizen here and in the occupied area, and, indeed, one may well believe in all Germany, just naturally feels himself cock of the walk, lord of all he surveys, the ablest being ever created, that he owes neither God nor man and that he doesn't have to be the under dog for anybody.

'RED' MEETING IN N. Y. JEERS WILSON'S NAME

New York, May 25.—The names of President Wilson and Premiers Lloyd George of Great Britain and Clemenceau of France were "booed" at a "justice for Russia" massmeeting held under auspices of the People's Council of America in Madison Square Garden tonight. Cries of "shame" and shouts of "murder" interrupted speakers discussing criticism of the Russian revolution and the present soviet government, and in the crowd of approximately 5,000 persons "booing" was general.

Frederick C. Howe, United States commissioner of immigration at this port, presided, and other speakers included Amos Pinchot, Dr. Judah L. Magnes, and the Rev. John Haynes Holmes, pastor of the "Community church of New York."

"Booing" of President Wilson's name came when Dr. Magnes said:

"Prince Leopold and Kolchak, Lloyd George and Clemenceau, Orlando and Wilson—whatever be their names—they are all of one mold, children of a dying generation, men who did their best in accordance with the old way, but were lacking in faith that the new world actually could come."

"Booing" began at mention of Lloyd George, reaching its full volume when reference was made to President Wilson.

Italy Observes Quietly War Entry Anniversary

ROME, May 24.—The fourth anniversary of the entrance of Italy into the war was celebrated today without demonstrations. Public buildings were profusely decorated, but public gatherings and demonstrations were discouraged by the government. Lieut. Col. D'Annunzio was to have delivered an address, but the meeting was not held, by the request of the government, which did not wish a demonstration against the suspended action of the peace conference at Paris regarding Italy's plans.

WASHINGTON NEWS IN BRIEF

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Washington Bureau of The Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 25.

WITH underground petroleum reserves 40 per cent exhausted and consumption increasing more rapidly than domestic production the bureau of mines has asked congress for $50,000 to finance an investigation of means of conserving petroleum and natural gas. Unless production is increased and the waste of the supply stopped the United States, it is predicted, will soon be dependent upon foreign sources of oil supply.

ACCORDING to a member of the Japanese diet who conducted an investigation on the ground the Corean revolt was due to the suppression of free speech and other oppressive measures by the Japanese authorities and the spread of the doctrine of "self-determination" of sovereignty.

HUNDREDS of bills have been introduced in congress at the request of towns and villages from Maine to California for the donation by the secretary of war of captured German cannon and field pieces. So many requests have been made by Ohio, Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Kansas, and Texas, that senators and congressmen are wondering whether the war lasted long enough to result in a supply equal to the demand.

IN a letter congratulating a Republican club on the resolutions it had adopted Senator Borah of Idaho asserted that unless the Republican party takes a definite stand against the league of nations plan it will die as the Whig party died from failure to oppose slavery.

A POLL of congress by THE TRIBUNE today showed sentiment overwhelmingly opposed to repeal of the wartime prohibition act in so far as it relates to wine and beer. In the senate the poll showed 20 for, 24 against, and 31 noncommittal. In the house the result was 110 for, 216 against, 89 noncommittal. The wets' chief hope now is for a moist holiday between the date of the proclamation of peace after the senate ratifies the treaty and Jan. 16 next, when constitutional prohibition goes into effect.

THE national suffrage amendment will be introduced in the senate and passed within the next few days, possibly tomorrow. Suffragists tonight predicted that it would be ratified by three-fourths of the states within a year.

THE need of legislation to provide for medical care and educational and social opportunities for the wives and children of soldiers on the farm projects planned by Secretary Lane was pointed out today by Miss Anne Martin, who was the delegate from Nevada to the Republican conference here last week. Miss Martin said that the party with vision enough to pledge itself to a program recognizing in legislation the special needs of women would have the support of the greater number of the 14,000,000 women who will vote at the next presidential election.

Wealthiest Negress Dies; Fortune of Million

IRVINGTON-ON-HUDSON, N. Y., May 25.—"Madam Walker," reputed to have been the wealthiest negress in the United States, if not the world, and credited with a fortune of more than $1,000,000 through the sale of a "hair restorer," died at her elaborate country home here today.

JAP FINDS JAP ABUSES CAUSED COREAN REVOLT

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—That the Corean revolt was the result of the oppressive measures of government adopted by the Japanese authorities is the charge by Konosuke Moriya, a member of the Japanese diet, who was sent to Corea to investigate. In his report, an account of which reached Washington today, he gives the following five causes of the popular upheaval:

"Discrimination against the natives.

"Extreme red tapism in the civil administration; especially complex system of taxation.

"Excessive oppression on the freedom of speech.

"Compulsory methods of naturalizing the natives.

"A result of propagation of the idea of racial self-determination among the natives."

SWISS TREAT WITH GERMANS.

BERNE, Switzerland, May 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—Switzerland is concluding with Germany a new commercial convention which will grant Switzerland German coal in exchange for Swiss cattle and produce. At the same time negotiations have begun by a Swiss concern to purchase a German colliery near Bochum.

Are your lenses the right distance apart?

Improper frames often spread the lenses too far apart, or bring them too close together. This tends to pull the eye muscles and tire and impair them.

The selection of the right frames in the first place, or a replacement of wrong frames with proper ones, requires the careful, personal attention of experts.

What good does it do you for us to run a corking Sport Shop unless you know about it?

So we are doing things this week to get your special attention.

This is what we are doing:

$6.50 Brassies and Drivers $4.25.

$4.00 Irons and Putters $2.75. All Styles.

These are our regular clubs. We made a special deal with our club makers for an extra lot.

What we don't sell go into stock at the old prices. What we had in stock go into the sale. They're all one.

And we are doing this:

$3.50 Little Jack Marker free with every dozen golf balls.

This is a great Little Jack for marking your golf balls.

It was thought out by the same man in our organization who worked out the three "Bug" Golf Balls.

And this is a great little Sport Shop this Spring, with full new lines of golf suits, odd sport coats, sweaters, outing shirts, knickers, hosiery—everything the golfer needs.

The Tale of the Kangaroo!

FIFTY years ago Edwin Clapp, always keen to sense a possible improvement in shoe materials, pioneered in the use of Australian Kangaroo skins in the making of Men's Superior Grade Shoes.

As Kangaroo leather, ready for the shoe, was not to be had, Mr. Clapp was obliged to import the skins in the fur, direct from Australia; having them tanned and dressed according to his ideals of what the finished product should be.

A firm believer in the superior qualities of this rare skin, he persevered with the result that today the Edwin Clapp Genuine Australian Kangaroo Shoe has a world-wide prestige among men who appreciate Ease and Elegance in their Footwear.

Edwin Clapp Shoes are made in all Leathers.

ENEMY FRAMES PEACE REPLY; FIRM ON SAAR

Will Refuse to Give Up Mines and Also Silesia.

BY GEORGE RENWICK.
Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.
[Copyright: 1919.]

BERLIN, May 25.—It is believed here that the German reply will be handed to the Versailles conference next Tuesday. Friday's conference at Spa managed not without difficulty to straighten out matters which had become somewhat badly tangled by the telegraphic breakdown between Berlin and Versailles, by the loss of a packet of documents on the way to the German delegation, by efforts of the extreme section of the government, and by the verbosity of the delegates which had spun out the original sketch of the reply to great length.

Scheidemann is back in Berlin and is backed by Von Bernstorff and Erzberger, who have had most to do with drawing up the reply and numerous notes, but whose work Brockdorff-Rantzau thought fit to edit and amplify, and, backed mainly by Landsberg in Versailles, certainly acted strongly in bringing about the Spa conference.

Dernburg Given Task.

Dernburg has been given the task of revamping the Germans' counter proposals, stripping them of nonessentials. The reply will be a document equivalent in length to some seventy or eighty foolscap sheets of typewritten matter.

The main concern of the German government will be to convince the allied and associated governments that they are really dealing with a new Germany, inexperienced, burdened, disappointed, and defeated, but still a new Germany which will threaten no one as did the old régime. It will agree to everything that may be calculated to destroy the spirit of revenge.

Emphasize Certain Points.

In this connection the negotiators will emphasize certain points of opinion of the Berlin government. The saltern question looms ominously above all others. Millions of Germans are to be swept without question under another flag unless Germany can eventually buy back the Saar region and can pay a great ransom for her conationals in gold. Then 600,000 Germans become French whether they like it or not. Especially will the negotiators refer to article 241, by which Germany agrees to pass all legislation proposed by the allied and associated governments. That is regarded as unlimited interference.

The negotiations, should they take place, will be used to emphasize the need there is for the allied commissions to come to Germany and see the situation for themselves before financial and economic burdens are finally and definitely placed on the country.

Finally the German negotiators will give the allies to understand that Germany will not sign in case negotiations fail, and this will also be done in case of there being no discussions to oppose any action on the other side.

Resistance Will Be Passive.

Resistance will be purely passive, it is believed. All officials and all machinery of government and local administrations will be withdrawn from the territories into which the allied forces are about to advance.

The government is not blind to the fact that immediately sharpened sufferings caused by a strict renewal of the blockade will fall on the very poorest. Its plans therefore are being made to seize all extra food supplies which enable the well-to-do to live comfortably and laugh at any renewed use of the blockade weapon. So another great act in the world's drama is about to begin.

I think it has the bulk of the people behind it in its decision now not to sign away upper Silesia and the Saare region and not to agree to the immense financial and economic burdens imposed by the treaty, for these it regards the main and vital matters in question.

REJECT GERMANY'S TREATY PLEAS

Washington, D. C., May 25.—The state department tonight made public the text of notes exchanged by Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German peace delegation, and M. Clemenceau, president of the peace conference, relative to final determination of the Saar basin and the disposition of its coal products.

The Saar basin question was first touched in a note by the German delegation on general boundary matters dated May 13, and later was made the subject of a distinct communication under date of May 16. The reply to both notes was handed to the Germans yesterday.

All Points Rejected.

The text of the notes shows that the suggestions of the German delegation that viva voce discussion of questions as to the amount of coal to be supplied France and Belgium and the transportation of such supplies, that the concerns damaged in northern France participate "by shares to an extent agreed upon in such German coal mines as are charged with the delivery of coal to the regions" decided upon, that in lieu of actual control by the associated powers a system of economic guarantees be instituted, all were summarily rejected by the associated nations in their reply.

To the proposal that shares in the Saar mines be issued to damaged French concerns, the reply asserts that such shares, "situated in German territory and subject to German exploitation, would be of doubtful value to French holders and would create a confusion of French and German interests."

Wants Coal Ration.

The most surprising of the propositions put forward by Count Brockdorff-Rantzau in regard to the Saar basin is based on an expressed fear that the surplus coal over and above the home requirements would not suffice for the quantities which the treaty of peace has fixed, and the suggestion is made that the consumption of coal in Germany, France, and Belgium be rationed in due proportion.

M. Clemenceau in reply states "That no arrangement of the kind put forward could give to France the security and certainty which she would receive from the full exploitation and free ownership of the mines of the Saar."

The only real concession made to the Germans is to allay the apprehension expressed by Count Brockdorff-Rantzau as to Germany's ability to effect the payment in gold agreed upon.

Here's the Clause.

The concession as made in the reply of the associated governments is for the substitution of the following for the present clause governing such payments in the treaty:

"The obligation of Germany to make such payment shall be taken into account by the reparation commission, and for the purpose of this payment, Germany may create a prior charge upon her assets or revenues upon such detailed terms as shall be agreed to by the reparation commission.

"If, nevertheless, Germany after a period of one year from the date of which the payment becomes due shall not have effected the said payment, the reparation commission shall do so in accordance with such instructions as may be given by the league of nations, and, if necessary, by liquidating that portion of the mines which is in question."

Must Pay France.

Count Brockdorff-Rantzau, referring in his earlier note to the Saar basin, said:

"In the public opinion of the hostile countries the cession of the Saar basin is represented as being just compensation for the devastation of mines in northern France. The German delegation acknowledges that France must be compensated for these damages. They also admit that compensation in money alone would not meet the present impaired economic position of France. The claim to compensation in kind being thus acknowledged as justified, such compensation in kind should and can be effected in another way than by submitting a territory to a foreign rule which, notwithstanding the most humane intentions of those in power, always remains odious."

Offers Ruhr Coal.

The German delegation, however, uses this admission for the basis of a proposal that France and Belgium be compensated with coal not alone from the Saar basin but also from the Ruhr district.

M. Clemenceau, in reply, asserts that coal from any other territory than the Saar basin cannot be accepted, as the associated governments chose "this particular form of reparation because it was felt that the destruction of the mines in the north of France was an act of such nature that a definite and exemplary retribution should be exacted." This object, he said, "would not be attained by the mere supply of a specified or unspecified amount of coal."

Not Bartered About.

Declaration by Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau that it was "inadmissible that German populations should be bartered about from sovereignty to sovereignty as if they were mere chattels and pawns in a game" has been met by Premier Clemenceau, speaking for the associated powers, with the statement that in no case would self-determination of peoples be denied under the peace treaty.

The declaration of the head of the German delegation was embodied in a note addressed to the associated governments as represented at the Versailles conference on May 13, and made public tonight at the state department along with the reply of the latter under the signature of M. Clemenceau.

Calls Allies Inconsistent.

The German delegates in their note objected specifically to the surrender of territory under the peace treaty in Silesia, Posnia, West and East Prussia, and also the Saar basin, the demand for all of which, the German note asserts, is "obviously inconsistent" with the "principles upon which the armistice and the negotiations for peace were proposed because of the German population of the districts."

Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau further charges the associated governments with the "bartering of territories for the purpose of giving guarantee for financial or economic claims of the adversaries of Germany."

Denial by Premier.

In replying to the German note, M. Clemenceau said;

"I must emphatically deny on behalf of the allied and associated governments the suggestion contained in it [the German note] that German territories are by the treaty of peace made the subject of bargains between one sovereignty and another as though they were chattels and pawns in a game.

"In fact, the wishes of the population of all the territories in question will be consulted and the procedure followed, if such consultation has been carefully settled, with special regard to local conditions."

Omitting to take up the question of the restitution of Alsace-Lorraine and the occupation of Kiel, Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau said he would discuss these provisions of the treaty in a subsequent note.

Self-Determination.

With respect to some of the territory which Germany is required to cede, including a part of that given to Poland and also Schleswig, Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau admitted that the "principle of national self-determination may indeed be assured."

Premier Clemenceau's reply dealt specifically with provisions which have been drawn up for the administration of the Saar basin under the league of nations as affecting the political rights of its population. These provisions, he said, secure the rights and welfare of the population, assure the "maintenance of all their present liberties," and in addition "guarantee to them in financial and social matters a number of special advantages."

Hold a Plebiscite.

The provision for a plebiscite at the end of fifteen years, he said, will enable this population to determine the final form of government of the territory in which it lives "in full freedom and not necessarily to the advantage either of France or Germany."

Replying to an objection in the German note against the disposition of Schleswig in the peace treaty because of Denmark's neutrality, Premier Clemenceau informed the German delegation that this provision was inserted in the treaty at the request of the Danish government and the population of Schleswig.

big powers refuse to enter the controversy, because Holland is not an enemy power.

Chinese Give Warning.

The Chinese peace delegation has served warning upon the principal allied and the associated powers that she will not sign the German peace treaty without making a reservation upon clauses giving the old German concessions of Shantung to Japan.

A bitter struggle is going on with France championing Japan and attempting to intimidate China into signing without reservation.

The American peace commission, however, has promised to support the Chinese and insists China has a right to sign the treaty with a reservation, if she wishes. Great Britain has not yet disclosed its hand, it being understood that Clemenceau is acting for Lloyd George, however, as England cannot abandon her Japanese ally at this stage of the game.

Italy Is Noncommittal.

Italy is noncommittal upon the subject, refusing to take sides either way, but holding to neutrality as a future trading point.

Should France insist upon bluffing China into signing without a reservation, China will not sign at all, but it is believed with powerfull American influences behind her China will be allowed to sign with a reservation.

The reservation will state that China refuses to recognize the justice of transferring German concessions and holdings to Japan and that the Chinese reserves the right to reopen the question in the future under the league of nations.

DENY RESPONSIBILITY.

PARIS, May 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau's thirteenth note to the allied council was delivered this morning. It is a rejoinder to the council's reply to the German note regarding responsibilities.

Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau insists that Germany's only responsibility is for the violation of Belgian neutrality, which it is ready to make reparation for, and declares that all the powers were responsible for the war and that the material damage done was the work of the allied armies, as well as the Germans.

Chao Ming-Wang and three other representatives of the Chinese government at Canton, who are now in Paris, have cabled to the United States congress an appeal for assistance against the transfer of Germany's interests in China to Japan.

"This means," says the appeal, "that while Prussianism has been destroyed in every other region of the world, America and her allies have decided to perpetuate it in China in the interest of Japan. If the tragic settlement stands unaltered, either China's man power and resources must pass under Japanese dominion or China must forthwith abandon the pursuits of peace and arm herself."

Go to Berlin.

VERSAILLES, May 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—Gen. Count Max Montgelas and Prof. Weber, members of the German peace delegation, left for Berlin tonight.

FIGHTING MEN, WOMEN WHO AID, MAKE UP PARADE

Fighting men of the past, the present and the future are mustering in legion for Chicago's greatest Memorial day parade.

Expression of two national spirits—tribute to the dead and thanksgiving for victory—is governing parade arrangements and will be carried through the entire program, according to Gen. Le Roy T. Steward, grand marshal of the day.

"Participation in the parade will be limited to four distinct classes, representing the acme of patriotism in Chicago," said the marshal yesterday. "The veterans, fighting men of the past, will have their place of honor. Then will come heroes of the present, fighting men who made winning of the world war possible; and then the soldiers of the future, represented in the ranks of cadets and junior military organizations. Men and women who served the soldier will have their place in the ranks of Red Cross, Salvation Army, and other organizations that have stood shoulder to shoulder in the fighting."

Lieut. Col. T. S. Hammond has been named marshal of the world war veterans' division and expects more than 2,000 marchers to report at the Eighth street rendezvous at 2:15 p. m. on the day of the parade.

Chief of Police John J. Garrity announced yesterday that the second division will comprise the United Spanish War Veterans, Veterans of the Philippines, Cuban, Porto Rican, and Boxer campaigns; Santiago society and Gen. Lloyd Wheaton post 74, Army of Foreign Wars. Lieut. Col. James Hamilton Lewis has been named chief of staff of the division.

A trail of blood left in the wake of the fleeing mountain men indicated that one or more of them had been wounded.

MOTHER, ILL, CALLS FOR DIXIE.

Word was received at the detective bureau last night that the mother of Dixie Waldeck, 91 Grand River street, Detroit, who disappeared from her home several weeks ago, is ill and not expected to live. The message asked that the girl be found. A. G. Wood, a salesman, ran away with the girl, according to information at the bureau.

ALIEN MONOPOLY OF OIL FIELDS THREATENS U. S.

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—What is regarded as a serious situation in connection with the supply of petroleum is disclosed in a report of the bureau of mines which has just been transmitted to the house committee on appropriations by Secretary of the Treasury Glass. The bureau asks for an appropriation of $50,000 at once, to be used in an investigation looking to the conservation of petroleum and natural gas.

The disclosures in this report, in conjunction with information in possession of the government that British and other foreign countries, but chiefly British interests, are laying the groundwork for a monopoly of the Mexican petroleum supply, through investments and otherwise, may lead congress to take up the matter and enact legislation to meet a situation which, department officials say, may become acute in the near future.

33D MEN RACE HERE; MAY WIN NIGHT AT HOME

Gen. Bell Arrives to Aid Welcome Plans; Likes Job Organization.

Miss Margaret Reilly and Mrs. Charles E. Frankenthal, leaders of the flower committee of 1,000 women.

"Enough flowers for every soldier's rifle, every wounded man and the entire line of march have been obtained through hearty coöperation of Chicago people," she said last night.

All decorations along Michigan avenue have been renewed for the Prairie receptions, and the loop blossomed yesterday in its new coat of gold and black, the divisional colors.

Fly Your Flags.

"Decorate more," the committee urged yesterday. "Every American flag in Chicago, every ounce of gold and black that can be crowded on and every service flag must fly through all the Prairie homecoming period and until the last man is home.

Seized by Detectives as He Is Robbing Citizen

VOLIVA TO SUE LAWMAKERS FOR A MILLION PLUS

The telephone.

"This is the Zion City reporter. Voliva got back today and tells me he's going to have a busy day tomorrow. Says he's going to get up at sunrise and start suit against the Illinois legislature for $1,000,000 for libel. And then he's going to sue every member of the committee investigating Zion City for $150,000.

"He'll be rich if he wins, won't he? Goo'bye."

Meanwhile, the legislative investigating committee, headed by Representative William Dietrich, will resume its hearing at the Hotel Morrison this morning. The attendance of Voliva and I. J. Thurston, his educational chief, are looked forward to with some delight by the investigators, for Voliva has indicated he is willing to appear and show the earth is not round. The representatives are willing to be shown.

The hearing is to end tomorrow, the committee making its reports and recommendations by Saturday.

Plenty of Entertainment.

The volunteer army of entertainers, recruited through the Woman's Stage War Relief association, will be ready to start their entertainments as soon as the boys are seated at banquet boards. Mrs. E. R. Fifield reported her program complete last night. The best talent of the professional stage in Chicago will combine to help welcome the fighting men.

Here's the "chow" for homecoming day:

Chicken soup. Beef a la mode.
Peas, carrots, spinach.
Potatoes. Sliced tomatoes.
Pie a la mode.
Coffee. Cigars, cigarets, candy.

"There'll be plenty of second helpings, too," said L. E. Myers, chief of the hotel committee.

Flowers for Every Rifle.

Chicago's flower market has been drained to supply the bed of posies the division will march over, according to final finishing touches on the homecoming program.

"We're ready with the place for the reception," announced Walter H. Wilson, chairman of the state executive committee. "We're ready for the banquet in the hotels, the greatest parade in Chicago's history, and it's up to the city to furnish the enthusiasm and the noise."

Col. W. N. Pelouze, chairman of the city committee, and other members of the welcoming executive board, voiced the same satisfaction with the preparations. Col. E. H. Humphrey, chief of staff to Gen. Wood, announced that all military details are complete, and that blue prints governing the day will be in the hands of unit commanders the moment Prairie trains arrive.

Casuals Join in Celebration.

Orders were issued from central department headquarters yesterday authorizing every soldier of the 33d division who has come home ahead of his unit to march with his old outfit. Casuals will report to their old unit commanders in Grant park and will be assigned to places as file closers in the parade. They will banquet with their "buddies" and join in all other features of the celebration, as will wounded men of the division.

There will be no demonstrations at the stations when the troops arrive. As soon as the troops detrain, they will be formed and march to Grant park. They will breakfast on their trains.

Corps of Red Cross canteen workers, however, will be on hand with great supplies of coffee and sandwiches to see that any returning hero who still has an appetite is satisfied. The canteen will also furnish cigarets and candy for the park reception and hotel banquets.

MAYOR WELCOMES THE 33D

A "WELCOME HOME" proclamation, in honor of the return of the Prairie division, was issued yesterday by Mayor Thompson. It follows:

PROCLAMATION.

"To the men of the Prairie division and other Illinois units of the national army who are now returning to their homes after many months of heroic service in camp and trench and on the battlefield overseas, Chicago extends a heartfelt welcome.

"Our sons are coming back with the consciousness they have responded to the call of duty, and that every sacrifice demanded of them by their government has been made in a spirit of utter loyalty and devotion to the flag.

"As mayor of Chicago, it was my honor and privilege to bid these courageous soldiers Godspeed upon their departure from our midst. In my proclamation, issued Sept. 19, 1917, I called upon the citizens of Chicago 'to show to our soldiers and sailors who are leaving for the front that our hearts, our hopes, our prayers go with them, and will abide with them in the camps, on the fields, and on the sea, where their deeds shall shed further luster on the flag of freedom.'

"In the same spirit in which she bade her sons adieu nearly two years ago, Chicago now welcomes them home. Having gloriously completed their service with the colors, they will take their places again in the ranks of our great army of industry, where they will help to achieve for Chicago the victories of peace which are no less glorious than those of war.

"Yet, in our rejoicing, let us not be unmindful of those who have sealed their patriotic devotion with the supreme sacrifice of life itself, and who never can return to their homes and loved ones. To the afflicted parents and kindred of these fallen heroes our hearts go out in sympathy, as sharers of their sorrow.

"Chicago is justly proud of all her sons who answered the call to the colors; and with her 'cheers for the living,' mingling with her 'tears for the dead,' she will gratefully receive them into her midst again.

"WILLIAM HALE THOMPSON,
"Mayor."

FOUND DEAD FROM GAS.

Joseph Michilsich, 45 years old, was found asphyxiated in his room at 716 West North avenue, early yesterday morning by his landlady, Mrs. Clara Schultz. A hose was attached to an open gas jet and inserted in his mouth.

FOUND DEAD IN NEW BUILDING.

Frank Hening, 45 years old, 1145 West Adams street, until recently an inmate of the Oak Forest infirmary, was found dead in a building being erected at 762 West Van Buren street, early yesterday morning by a night watchman. He is believed to have died of heart disease.

122D AUXILIARY ASKS FOR MORE FETE TICKETS

A committee named yesterday by the 122d field artillery auxiliary will visit the governor's welcome home committee today with a request that more than two Prairie reception tickets be issued to each family of returning soldiers.

The auxiliary points out that with the ticket distribution limited to two, many blood relatives will be kept away from the Grant park receptions. Some families in the 122d auxiliary, they declare, have as high as nine or ten members.

The limited ticket distribution was planned by the general committee in order to prevent overcrowding when the troops come in, but it is understood that the limit will be raised for ticket applicants who prove relationship with the men.

"Every relative will gain admission to Grant park. We will see to that," declared a member of the executive committee last night.

VISITOR ON WAY TO NATIVE LAND HELD UP FOR $2,089

Unless another miracle like the Hawker rescue happens, James Kogsimus will have to defer his journey to his native land of Greece.

Kogsimus, Lieut. Cotter and a squad of police from the Maxwell street station spent the greater part of the night searching for three holdup men who at 3 o'clock last evening held Kogsimus up and robbed him of his savings of $2,089.

No trace of the robbers was found. Kogsimus is a visitor to the city. For the last two years he has been peddling lace about the country. He decided to go back home and several days ago came to Chicago on his way east and stopped at the Harrison hotel, 772 Harrison street. After supper last night he went for a stroll.

As the shades of night were falling he reached the vicinity of Desplaines and Sebor streets. Out of the shadows of an alley three men rushed and stuck guns to his head. While two of them held him hors du combat the third deftly went through is clothes. They left his handkerchief.

LARGE ARRAY OF COPS STUMBLE OVER A HOT TIP

Chief of Detectives Mooney got a hot tip yesterday and sent Lieut. Michael Hughes, Sergeant McNurney, Kilgore, and Russell and two motorcycle sleuths out on it. They came back empty handed. Marvelous!

The dope was that at Bass Lake, Ind., there was a rendezvous of bank bandits, auto thieves and safeblowers. The imposing array of law guardians traveled to the spot, which is eight miles southeast of Knox, Ind., and searched two resorts, but nothing came of it.

One of the places they visited was the resort of a south side physician who was once arrested on a charge of being a fence for auto thieves.

CHICAGO TROOPS SPEEDING HOME; HERE TOMORROW

132d and 130th Infantry Leave Eastern Camp; Ready to Parade.

BY RICHARD C. BURRITT.

ON THE WAY HOME WITH THE 132D INFANTRY, Sayre, Pa., May 25.—[Special.]—The 132d infantry, commanded by Col. Abel Davis, with the 130th infantry, Col. John Clinnin, in pursuit on other roads, is advancing on Chicago with all the haste that troop transportation permits. With no opposition from the railroads, the first contingents of the more than 6,000 troops leaving Camp Mills this morning should attain their objective late tomorrow night on schedule time.

To Chicagoans the doughboys of the 132d, formerly the 2d Illinois infantry, are coming home as conquerors. They are—of the boche—but they are also conquered, tied, gagged, strung up by the happy anticipation of seeing the city and her people, who have known them only by their deeds of heroism in over a year.

Leave Camp in Darkness.

The first section to entrain at Garden City, L. I., on the outskirts of Camp Mills, moved out at 5:30 a. m., in command of Col. Abel Davis. Reveille was at 2 o'clock, breakfast at 3 a. m., and the bucks had to roll packs and leave camp in darkness.

By the Long Island railroad and by ferry the 132d was routed to Hoboken and there left at 10 o'clock for Buffalo on the Lehigh Valley. From Buffalo the schedule calls for a shift to the Grand Trunk, thence to Chicago.

No troops will detrain in Chicago until Tuesday morning, the day of the parade, as now planned.

Col. Davis has already decreed what the uniform of his men will be when they step it off on the Boul Mich. The men will wear their tin lids, gas masks at the alert, light packs, and will carry their rifles with bayonets fixed.

Has Medals to Spare.

Back in New York the Gothamites have been lionizing Sergt. York of the 82d division. His feat is hailed by reporters whose knowledge of the A. E. F. is largely confined to conversations at club dinners as the greatest of the war. Perhaps it is, but it is in association with these doughboys who wear the gold cross that one can learn tales of heroism without number.

Take the case of Private Harry Shelley of 338 North Menard avenue. Shelley is so modest that little if anything has been said of the D. C. M. with which he was decorated by King George, the D. S. C. pinned on his tunic in Luxemburg last month by Gen. Pershing, and the medal militaire and croix de guerre with palm conferred with the customary kiss by a French admiral at Brest.

Modest About His Heroism.

Shelley used to work for the Milwaukee railroad and has been with the 132nd over two years. He has never worn his medals because too many people ask about them when he does and he's too modest to recount why he was so often cited for gallantry.

In drawing him out today—no easy task—I learned another deeper reason.

"They gave me this distinguished cross medal for a little stunt up at Hamel last July 4 on the Somme," he said. "My buddy, Tommy Hughes of 2900 Walnut street, was killed in that scrap. He and Tim McDonald, who was killed later on, and I used to pal around a lot out on the west side. Tommy and I grew up together. They're back in France, while here I am going home with some decorations. You know how it is, Jack. If I were to wear these medals back home it might make their folks feel bad. I sure felt bad enough as it was when they were killed."

Kills Ten Germans Alone.

In a matter of fact tone common to most soldiers who have gone through the mill, Shelley said that he "merely" crawled out into No Man's Land in broad daylight on July 4 at Hamel woods, crept frof shell hole to shell hole until he got on the flank of a crew of snipers who were wreaking casualties on the 132nd, and disposed of ten boches with hand grenades.

GOV. LOWDEN CALLS ON ILLINOIS TO WELCOME HOME HER BRAVE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 25.—A proclamation by Gov. Lowden, calling upon the people of the state of Illinois to unite in extending a welcome to the first contingent of the Prairie division, which is expected to arrive in the state on Tuesday morning, was issued here tonight at the office of the governor.

The governor appealed to the people to cooperate in welcoming the returning soldiers, who "have won imperishable renown on a score of bloody battlefields," and asked that "Illinois show them that she knows how to welcome home her brave."

The Proclamation.

The proclamation follows:

"Illinois was one of the three states of the union which furnished the government an entire national guard division. That division officially designated as the 33d is popularly known as the Prairie division.

"The Prairie division sailed for European battlefields in May of last year. Almost at once it went into the battle line, and until the armistice was signed it saw the hardest and most dangerous service to be found. It won imperishable renown on a score of bloody battlefields. It never lost a battle. It never was assigned an objective which it did not reach at the appointed time.

Brings Spotless Record.

"England, France, and Belgium vied with one another to do honor to this division. It returns with a spotless record, bringing new fame to Illinois. And yet it does not all return. More than a thousand of its members sleep on foreign soil.

"The first detachment of those who survive is expected to reach Illinois on Tuesday, May 27. As these heroic men return to our state, let Illinois show them that she knows how to welcome home her brave. Let the flag under which they fought and which their sacrifices have been sanctified float everywhere. Let service flags be displayed in every home from which a soldier went.

Reverence to Those Left Behind.

"Let us, with special tenderness do reverence to those service flags whose stars have turned from blue to gold. As the different parts of this great division enters our state, let it be the principal business of Illinois to show her superb sons that Illinois is on tiptoe to receive them back to her arms with love and pride and gratitude.

"The soldiers of the Prairie division are typical of the more than 350,000 men which Illinois sent to the front during the great war. This great host was scattered through many different commands. Illinois soldiers and sailors were to be found upon every battle front, and in every branch of the service. They, too, are entitled to the honor and gratitude of Illinois. In honoring the Prairie division, we hon or all these brave men."

EAGER TO GET HOME

BY EDWARD J. DOHERTY.

STEALING HOME WITH THE 33D DIVISION, May 25.—[Special.]—It's been one of the best wars we've ever had, but everybody on board this troop train, and the dozen others following it back to Chicago, is glad it's finished. And this is the best part of it.

"Nothing like the cattle trains we rode on in France," they say about this string of Pullmans with its observation car and its comfortable seats, and its smoking rooms, and its lavatories, and porters, and candy butchers, and cigar venders.

"Boy, I dreamed about trains like this many's the night back there in this La Belle France; '40 hommes: 8 chevaux' marked on the sides of our cars. No ruins, no manure piles to gaze on, American scenery, American billboards, Americans waving at us all along the way, and at the end of the line there are real American girls and maybe jobs. Yes, it's been a great war, but the next time I leave my happy home to go with the soldiers it will be to some old soldiers' home right here in the states."

Good-by, Camp Mills.

The trains began pulling out of Camp Mills a little after 6 o'clock this morning and the last of them got away at noon. They will arrive in Chicago between 10 o'clock tomorrow evening and 9 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Lieut. Col. Oliver J. Troester, assistant to the chief of staff of the Prairie division, is in command of the troops on board this train, which carries 200 officers and 459 men. The detachment of the 130th infantry in this section is No. 19.

Sergt. Frank Corhoran of headquarters troop, a Chicago boy, had to be taken from the train for an operation. Corhoran is suffering from an abscess. Col. Harry Orr, divisional surgeon, found it advisable to have him taken to a hospital in Harrisburg.

Philadelphia was reached shortly after 12 o'clock and there was a stop of fifteen minutes while Red Cross canteen workers distributed apples and cigarets. It was the intention of Lieut. Thomas J. Cochrane of headquarters troop, the train quartermaster, to serve luncheon at 1 o'clock. Nice hot coffee, sandwiches and pies were to be given the conquering heroes. But the conductor said the train couldn't stop until it reached Harrisburg, and no stop, no grub. That's why the fellows were saying "When do we eat?" all afternoon. However, a fine fed was furnished at Harrisburg.

Lieut. Cochrane, by the way, had quite a little to do with the success of the "Liberty Belles," the famous aggregation of soldier actors who toured France and are on board this section. He won the leading lady of the show, Miss Paula Temple. They would have married in Luxembourg or France, but marriage there is a thing that requires time and red tape. They came over on the Mount Vernon together, and will marry in Chicago. Cochrane is a former employé of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

HERE'S PROGRAM FOR WELCOME OF 33D MEN WHO ARRIVE TOMORROW

THE official program for the Prairie division celebration tomorrow, subject only to changes which may arise out of military emergencies, follows:

7 a. m. to 9 a. m.—Arrival of troops on thirteen special trains at following depots:

La Salle Street....5 Grand Central.....3
Union depot .....5 Polk street 2

Immediately upon arrival troops will be marched as units to Grant park.

9:30 a. m.—If all troops are in position as expected, Grant park will be thrown open for the reception of the heroes by their relatives. Admission will be by ticket, and only relatives of units arriving in the first detachment will be admitted, in order to avoid confusion and insure relatives seeing their soldiers. The general public will not be admitted.

11 a. m.—Parade will start, passing reviewing stand at 11:10 a. m.

12 to 12:30—Banquet in loop hotels. Following the banquet the soldiers will be free to visit with relatives and intermingle with the crowd.

3 p. m.—Entrainment for Camp Grant.

THE PARADE.

The line of march for the parade follows:

Column leaves Grant park at 11 a. m. over Eighth street viaduct, marching south along Illinois Central tracks to Twelfth street, the parade officially starting from that point, and following the line of march here indicated:

From Twelfth street north in Michigan avenue to Randolph street, Randolph street west to State street, south in State street to Adams street, west in Adams street to Clark street, north in Clark street to Randolph street, west in Randolph street to La Salle street, south in La Salle street to Jackson boulevard, east in Jackson boulevard to State street, south in State street to Harrison street, and east in Harrison street to Michigan avenue.

At Clark and Madison streets the column will commence to break up. The tail end units will enter the Morrison hotel for the noon banquet.

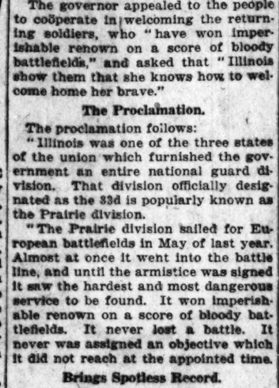

At Clark and Randolph streets another tail end unit will break off and enter the Hotel Sherman.

At La Salle and Madison streets the remaining tail end unit will drop off and enter the Hotel La Salle.

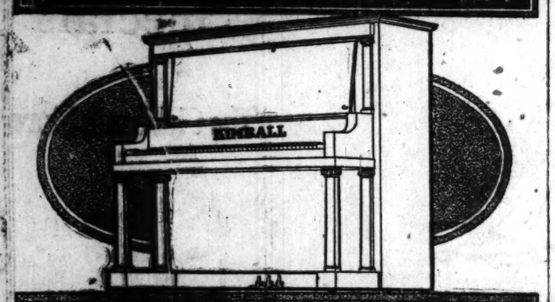

The remaining portion of the parade will march to Harrison street and Michigan avenue, where it will break up and enter the Congress, Auditorium, Stratford and Blackstone hotels for dinner.

REMOVES REVOLVER; IS BEATEN.

William Silberstein, a tailor, 3759 Cottage Grove avenue, was sitting in his shop working yesterday afternoon when a colored man entered, drew a revolver, and ordered Silberstein to hold up his hands. The tailor refused and grabbed the man by the wrist. The intruder, fearing other persons might hear the tailor's cries, beat him into insensibility with the butt of his revolver and escaped. An X-ray examination will be necessary to determine the extent of the tailor's injuries.

GLITTERING EYE, SWAT THE FLY, SHOCKS GERMANS

Yank Accuracy at Spittoon Shots Marvel to Rhine Villages.

BY RICHARD HENRY LITTLE.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[By Special Cable.]

[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

BERLIN, May 23, via Paris, May 25. Nothing could be quieter, at least on the surface, than Berlin, and from what I hear all Germany is quiet at present. I have asked many people, who assured me if the peace terms were harsh Germany would hurl itself into the arms of Russian bolshevism, when the hurling would begin, but they only shake their heads and say:

"Just wait."

They say the soviets are biding their time, waiting for the government to reject the peace terms. Then the storm will break.

Ready to Start Something.

A good many say the storm will break no matter what the government does, as there are a large number of people who are ready to start something anyhow. The majority of the proletariat seems to want the peace signed, and they want it signed quickly. There is a question as to how long they are willing to wait for the government to get action.

If the government does sign there is, no doubt, a large, healthy majority who will start on the warpath, and the government is in a fine dilemma. Meanwhile, everybody is waiting to see which way the cat is going to jump.

The Yankee Atrocities.

Some of the German newspapers lately have published stories claiming American soldiers in occupied territory along the Rhine are guilty of all sorts of atrocious crimes.

A German who had been traveling in the American zone around Cologne told me today that, of course, there was no foundation for these silly yarns, and the majority of Germans paid no attention to them. He said he was looking up real estate boundaries in the occupied zone, and as the hotels are all full of American officers, he lived mostly with peasant families, with whom he had talked regarding the Americans. He said the German farmer folk never complained to him that American soldiers had committed outrages, but they had several minor grievances. He said the German peasant regarded Americans as very kindhearted, agreeable, millionaire lunatics.

That Hard Glitter.

"The peasants told me," said the returned traveler, "you might never know an American was mad unless a fly came into the room. When the American sees a fly a strange, ard glitter comes into his eyes. Then you see he is crazy. His mania makes him want to hit the fly. He folds up newspapers and tiptoes over behind the fly and strikes at it with great viciousness. If it does not die, he pursues it, calls in more soldiers, and strikes at the fly."

The traveler said some German farmers who had observed this strange action on the part of American soldiers were willing to make allowances. They said probably in America flies were large and that their bite caused instant death. Therefore Americans had formed the habit of killing all flies they saw.

Romance of the Spittoon.

Good German housewives also complained because the doughboys billeted in their homes had the terrible habit of eating tobacco and spitting on the nice clean floor. The traveler told one farmer's wife to get a small box with sawdust in it and place it in the center of the room. He said the Americans who ate tobacco could not resist the impulse to spit at a sawdust box, and they could hit it with great accuracy from across the street.

"But the spittoon marksmanship of your Americans is greatly overestimated," declared the traveler.

"In a house where we tried the spittoon experiment I kept tally and found only 40 per cent of the shots hit the bullseye."

Deadly Night Air.

The traveler said another proof the farmer in the occupied zone had that Americans were stark, raving mad was because they made them open their windows at night and let in the deadly night air, which every German peasant knows is most poisonous.

The German farmer likes to close all windows at night and plug up every keyhole to keep out the deadly night air, but, if the Americans catch them with the windows closed, they haul them into court and fine them.

The peasants say the American soldiers told them it was one of President Wilson's fourteen points that all Germans should have their windows open at night, which is proof to some that Americans want to kill the Germans off with consumption, while others say it shows Wilson is as mad as the rest of the Americans.

AMERICANS ROUT BOLSHEVIKI IN SIBERIAN FIGHT

Three Yanks Wounded in Pursuing Reds Who Attacked Train.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, May 25.—By a surprise attack on Friday night Esthonian forces broke through the bolshevik positions along the whole Pskov front, captured Izborsk, and advanced to within six miles of Pskov, capturing 1,000 prisoners and many cannon and machine guns, according to an official statement issued at Esthonian staff headquarters.

VLADIVOSTOK, May 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—The first casualties in the American expeditionary force in Siberia were experienced May 21, when three Americans were slightly wounded. They were pursuing through the hills bolsheviki who had attacked a running train guarded by Americans forty miles northeast of Vladivostok, near Shkotova, at the head of Usuri bay, in the maritime province, which is seething with disorder and revolt against the authority of Kolchak.

The attack occurred on the route to the Suchan mines, on the section of the railroad under American protection, as a result of the interallied agreements. When the train was fired on the Americans gave three hours' chase, firing whenever they saw the fleeing bolsheviki.

Additional American troops have been dispatched to the Suchan district. It is not expected that they will have difficulty in handling the situation, despite reports from Kolchak government sources that the organized bands of bolsheviki number 10,000.

Maj. Gen. William S. Graves, commander of the American expeditionary force, returned to Vladivostok May 22, after an inspection of the Suchan district. The attack on the train is considered an overt act, in view of the proclamation of Gen. Graves that no faction should interfere with the operation of the railroad. The bolsheviki are believed to have been testing the attitude of the Americans.

Trains guarded by Japanese in the adjoining sector of the Ussuri line also are reported to have been attacked.

Letts Ask Government Aid.

LIBAU, May 23, via Berlin.—The Lett government has requested the German government to permit German troops to remain in Letvia, as the Lett landwehr is unable to hold the front alone against the bolsheviki.

The main portions of Riga were captured after fierce fighting, but the struggle is still proceeding in the eastern part of the city. Many bolshevist commissaries fell into the hands of the Lett landwehr. All political prisoners were released.

The German troops maintained contact with the landwehr throughout the heavy fighting. The fighting front now runs from Riga to Bausk and across the Eckau-Mitau railway.

The American food commission has sent 400 tons of flour to Riga, and itself is proceeding to Riga today.

MODEL TOWN BUILT BY U. S. IS OPENED

Portsmouth, Va., May 25.—A model town, constructed by the government exclusively for colored persons, was formerly opened with ceremonies today and Truxtun, Va., as the new town is known, took its place on the map as a suburb of this city.

Built primarily for war purposes to house employés at the great Hampton Roads naval base, the 224 buildings in the little town will not be sold immediately by the government but will be rented at from $16 to $19 monthly.

The town is one of the twenty-four housing projects the United States Housing corporation is rapidly completing throughout the country for the government. All of these projects represent a returnable value of more than $25,000,000 and consist of a total of 6,000 houses and 64 apartments, which, by the end of June, will be returning $2,500,000 per year in rentals to the government.

Final disposition of the property rests with congress.

1—South shore—south park plan.
2—Modernize Chicago water department.
3—Extend the Chicago plan—completion of the Twelfth street project and Michigan avenue link—development of Ogden avenue extension, etc.
4—Complete railroad terminals under way and develop other new terminals.
5—Build boulevards along the drainage canals and connect them with the park system.
6—Lessen the Smoke Horror.
7—A modern traction system.

GIVE CHICAGO A CHANCE.

Chicago used to be noted for its push and determination, for its initiative and energy. A city which could make an entire river run backward, to name only one of its achievements, deserved that reputation.

Visitors to neighboring cities—Cleveland, Detroit, Kansas City, and St. Louis, among others—have come back with the word that Chicago is in danger of losing its leadership, if it has not already done so. While we talk about a city plan, as we have done for years, these cities are actually putting their projects into effect.

The commercial value of a city plan is incontestable, as our own Chicago plan commission has demonstrated, and our neighboring cities do not propose to overlook any opportunity of getting the business that would otherwise come to Chicago. We think this friendly rivalry is wholesome, but is there any citizen who would willingly see Chicago fall behind?

Our most immediate need, if we do not want to stagnate, is to obtain the passage of the bills increasing Chicago's bonding power. As they now stand they will permit us to issue additional bonds to the extent of $27,500,000, an insignificant amount compared to what some other cities are spending. But the point is that unless the legislature acts favorably we shall get nothing. Our program of public improvements is practically at a standstill for lack of funds. Is it possible that the people of Chicago by their apathy or the members of the legislature by their indifference will permit this city to sink to the civic level of a watertank town on an abandoned railroad?

We think it is perfectly true that if Chicago does not get relief at this session of the legislature it will suffer a setback from which it may not recover for many years. If there were no other reason, the period of reconstruction would make it urgent for us to carry out a program of public improvements. But the need for the improvements themselves is even more urgent. Take South Water street, our produce market, as an example. It is insanitary and uneconomical. Due to the congestion and the ramshackle buildings which line the street, it constitutes a grave fire menace to the city. Government experts estimate that this antiquated market costs the city in avoidable waste $6,000,000 a year, or about the amount necessary to put in a modern market and a double deck street.

Yet we can do nothing because of the limitation on our bonding power.

We think a referendum vote would show an overwhelming majority in favor of the proposed legislation. The people of Chicago are heartily tired of the everlasting delay which seems to attend every proposal for public improvement.

These bills have had the strongest indorsement both from men of affairs and from civic organizations. We think the objections are, for the most part, perfunctory, and designed, perhaps, to hide motives that have not appeared on the surface.

The time is short and we must look especially to Chicago legislators to present Chicago's case. Let them appeal to the legislature, for this once at least, to do something constructive for Chicago.

THE DAY OF THE G. A. R.

If there is anything in Memorial day it lies in preserving the traditions of a mighty host in blue that marched away to do the work of the nation.

If there is anything in loyalty, in patriotism, in hope of the future, it lies in assuring every man, woman, and child of the gratitude of the republic.

We hope that the revered and thinning ranks of the Grand Army of the Republic will be such a spectacle in the Memorial day parade, will so generally center the admiration of the people, that there will be no doubt of the durability of our memories.

We commend the enthusiasm of Gen. Leroy T. Steward in arousing the spirit of the city for a huge pageant brilliant in military display. The courage and loyalty of the nation can be no better exemplified than in the march of heroes, fathers and sons, each generation proud in its achievement.

But the Grand Army is passing. Soon we shall no longer have their living example before us. They are no longer in the vigor of their youth. The ills of age creep upon them and we cannot expect them to march rigidly in line with the old snap and vim.

But the snap and vim of the Grand Army we understand. We do not need to be reminded of that actual physical performance. We want most of all to look upon them, to rend the air with applause for them, to see them tenderly carried at the head of the procession in token of the gratitude of the nation, and to show the younger heroes in their wake that as men grow old in their service of the country their deeds are not forgotten.

We urge Gen. Steward to have verve and deportment in the Memorial day parade; but we remind him that this is Memorial day, the day of the Grand Army, and that our veterans are among our chief traditions.

Put the veterans in automobiles. Let them ride at the head of the procession as an inspiration to the younger men, who, most of all, will be eager to do them homage. The glory of the khaki will not be dimmed by the passing tint of blue. The khaki is today; the blue is soon gone, only memories presently.

It is well enough to talk of the "old boys" marching with the young. But requiring this performance is very irreverence itself. A few years and the Grand Army of the Republic departs forever; let these years be theirs. Let processions be magnificent and the fading blue their chief adornment.

THE SENATE AND THE TREATY.

Senator Hitchcock says "it is preposterous for the senate to interfere with the negotiations and demand the right to publish a document to which the other party has not agreed."

We do not wonder Senator Johnson called that tommyrot. The answer to it is simple enough. The senators who demand to see the full text of the treaty are not interfering with the negotiations. The negotiations, such as they are, are going on. But it has been made clear by the conference that they are not to affect substantially the terms of the treaty. No material changes will be conceded. The treaty goes practically as it lays.

Why, then, should not the coördinate branch of the government, or the American people, for that matter, have the full text for the earliest study?

The obstruction to this demand is not in the interest of the nation. The American people are asked to take in this treaty the greatest step in their history. Is there anything preposterous in that the senate, knowing the pressure of time, should demand the earliest opportunity to study such a document? Is there anything preposterous in demanding that the American people should know at the earliest possible moment what they are to be asked to approve and support, if need be, with their blood?

It is Senator Hitchcock's position that is preposterous, and he and his colleagues would do well to make up their minds that the treaty of Versailles is not going to be jammed down the throat of this nation. We all know enough now of the Paris conference to understand that it was not an inspired tribunal, governed by an infallible intelligence. Senator Hitchcock may want the senate and the country to shut our eyes before the blinding glory of the achievement, but, if so, he has taken leave of his wits. The treaty of Versailles is going to be examined thoroughly and from the standpoint of the safety and welfare of our own country. And inasmuch as the earliest possible peace is urgently sought by all the world, the quicker the senate and the public begin the examination the better.

That is common sense, which the people will approve, and we advise Senator Hitchcock to accept it.

TRACTION BOGGED AGAIN?

An observer of the situation at Springfield remarks of the traction bills: "There seems to be no motive power behind them. Nobody seems to be doing anything for them. My judgment is that nothing can budge them."

So traction improvement remains like a good car without gasoline. Gas we have had, but only in the air; gas to fuddle the public, but no gas to get us out of our troubles.

"There is no motive power back of the traction bills," so the straphanger will go on hanging. The years will go by, and the people of Chicago will pay each day the price of inadequate transportation in unnecessary fatigue, discomfort, delay, ill health. The years go by, and Chicago will pay each day for the inadequacy of its transportation service; its growth will be checked, its development will be distorted, and instead of broadening out through rapid transit it will be more restricted and unwholesome and unbalanced.

Poor transportation benefits no one, except, perhaps, the politicians who want to keep a traction issue to juggle with. Poor transportation is a burden to every man and woman in the city. Poor transportation is a disease of the city, affecting its prosperity and weakening it for competition with better equipped rivals.

There is no argument on all that. Everybody knows it is true. Yet there is no motive force behind the traction bills. What is the matter with Chicago at Springfield?

WOMAN VERSUS MAN.

Mary Macarthur, the woman's trade unionist of England, is apparently of the opinion that American women interested in the labor movement do not appreciate how much they are entitled to demand in competition with men. American women, she thinks, have an old fashioned point of view.

"Equal pay for equal work," she told members of the Woman's Trade Union league, "is entirely out of date. We now say: 'The same rate for the same job regardless of sex.'"

A reflection of the same attitude is indicated by the reports from Zurich, where the international woman's congress is being held. This conference is being held under the chairmanship of Miss Jane Addams, and among the speakers are a number of women who have been prominent in the feminist movement.

THE TRIBUNE'S correspondent, Miss Constance Drexel, says "the speakers declared in unmistakable terms that men seemed to have made such a grand mess of things that the women of the day had better get in and see what they could do, as they certainly could not make matters worse."

From the feminist point of view it may be indisputable that men have made a grand mess of things. We assume that reference is made partly to economic and industrial conditions but chiefly to the great war. Every one knows that millions of women have felt that the war with Germany was not merely a man-made affair and that it involved issues more immediately momentous than those of sex. The war imposed great hardships on the women of all countries, but it was not fought because men are fond of using the bayonet.

There is a certain degree of irony in the fact that while some women insist that men have made a grand mess of things and, by implication, that they are an inferior sex other women pride themselves on what they have done to assist the country in the war; we are even told that the women have been chiefly responsible for our success.

No one would wish to detract from the credit which the majority of American women deserve for their sacrifices in bringing about victory. No one would wish to say that we could have won the war without their aid. But we think distinctions and discriminations of the kind popular with professional feminists are not likely to serve any good purpose.

Editorial of the Day

IS IT PEACE?

[The New Republic.]

Looked at from the purely American point of view, on a cold calculation of probabilities, we do not see how this treaty is anything but the prelude to quarrels in a deeply divided and a hideously embittered Europe. The immediate task for Americans is to decide coolly just how they will limit their obligations under the covenant to guarantee this settlement and the stability of Europe, Africa, and Asia. That they must be limited seems to us an inescapable conclusion.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO.

"Fay ce que vouldras."

TO ONESELF ON ONE'S FIFTIETH BIRTHDAY.

I'm looking at you in this glass. There, so!
Now turn the other way . . . Well, yes, it sags
A bit in spots, and has a grayish tinge
Despite those tiny venous traceries
That mark the well fed jowl . . . And how about
The eye? A trifle fishy is it? No?
(Oh, put your pince nez on and look yourself.)
Why, not so bad; they're faded some, perhaps—
Late blooming harebells on the dunes, nor young Nor old . . . That wavy thatch—by Jove, it still Holds out upon the crown! It used to be,
You know, old man, like one of those brand new,
Corn husk doormats, that mother had upon
The porch; but time and frost have done their work
You've seen husks that have wintered in the field
Upon the stalk? That's it—that weathered gray . . .
No, mother would not know you now, but yet
I do believe you'd pass for younger, boy.
Why, only yesterday with two young biades,
One critic, t'other poet, you discussed
A genial cup of sack, and bookish things,
The Peace (alleged), and chanced to say your lad
Had just put off his shoulder straps. "What, you?"
They said in unison, and looked at you
With estimating eyes. Then you: "I seem
Unable to account for twenty years;
I am quite sure I've had them, but so merged
They are with only thirty which I feel
That memory does not disentangle them."
And they, the twain, being still young, could not Know what you meant . . . The Fates have not been all
Unkind to you; give them their meed of thanks;
But hold yourself, old boy, in readiness;
Your gauntlet-running course is shorter now
Than heretofore, but inescapable.
And grinning slapstick imps more numerous
Await your feebler flight betwixt their ranks.
But bold, impassive be and unafraid,
Nor give Emotion undisputed sway;
Still childlike be in wonder and in joy;
The apple bloom, the trillium, are far
More glorious than when you were a lad;
Old memories need not o'erpower you,
And love's fair mantle neither frays nor fades!

Out of the Ordinary.

[From the Stockton, Calif., Independent.]

Mr. I. Brown, senior member of the firm of I. Brown & Sons, clothing merchants, was so pleased by the return of his son, Sydney Brown, from the French front that he decided that the firm should celebrate the auspicious event by holding a great victory sale. Mr. Brown states that he simply had to do something out of the ordinary and he thought that giving the people an opportunity to buy for less was about as good as anything else that he could think of.

F. S. M.

NEITHER cheek to cheek, nor jaw to jaw will be tolerated at the South Shore Country club on "Decoration day eve." Not even jowl to jowl, nor ear to ear, nor any other poetic combination.

The Doctor Is an Able Freudian.

Sir: I am so glad Dr. Criticus Flub-Dubbe is back. Please convey to him the assurances of my distinguished consideration. I used to enjoy his music dicta so much. I did not know, and do not now know, what a diminished fifth was or is, if it hasn't become something else on account of the high cost of everything, but I used to come away from his Programme Study Class so inspired and uplifted! Can't you induce the Doctor to lecture to us on the Freudian Theory? I meet it so unexpected like on occasions, and I feel so helpless in its presence. If the Doctor will do this I will help him with The Lost Art of Conversation by giving him in detail the brilliant lines that are carried by several cigar girls I know of in various hotel lobbies.

HOW ONE TOWN GOT SAFE MILK.

TARBORO is a small North Carolina town. I presume it is small since the total amount of milk sold per day is only 175 quarts. Last year they decided that the children in small towns were entitled to good milk. At that time the market was supplied by nineteen dairymen, each with a few cows and each selling a few quarts of surplus milk. Needless to say the product was not always safe and much of it was spoiled.

They investigated certified milk and found it too costly, too troublesome and too risky. They then investigated pasteurised milk. They learned that it was safe and comparatively inexpensive, but that it was not commercially practicable for a place of that size. They decided to have the city put in a pasteurizing plant in one corner of the water works and next to the ice factory. They installed an equipment which cost the town $1,267. This paid for delivery equipment as well as pasteurising and bottling machinery.

The farmer delivers milk to the plant at 13 cents a quart. They bottle it, pasteurize it and deliver it at 17 cents a quart. In neighboring towns consumers are paying 18 and 20 cents for the ordinary garden variety of small town milk, garnished with dirt in the old style.

Waste, cold water and brine from the ice factory are used. Ice and steam are cheap and convenient.

The milk is sold on the milk ticket plan. All milk is bottled and pasteurized in the bottle. A milk ordinance requires pasteurizing of milk, yearly license of milk dealers, immediate cooling of all milk on the farm unless it is delivered to the plant within two hours. The city council is given the right to fix the price of milk. Standards of sanitation on the farms and in the pasteurising plant are fixed. Consumers must wash and return milk bottles within forty-eight hours.

Other towns will watch with interest this experiment of Tarboro.

The United States department of agriculture is distributing Farmers' Bulletin No. 748 in which is described a method of sterilising farm dairy utensils. The complete apparatus should not cost more than $10. Some of it is part of the equipment of the ordinary dairy farm. A farmer with a little inventiveness could make a simple pasteurizing outfit by adding a little home made sterilizing layout.

USE COLD SALT WATER.

An old subscriber writes: "Being a man of 81, I have what is, as I suppose, gout, a swelling of the feet, shiny skin, red calves of the legs, and they feel tight. I live a temperate life, drinking a cup of coffee at morning and noon. I use about a teacup full of bran a day, to keep my bowels regular. Is there any help for my tender feet? Are massage and bathing in salt water [cold] beneficial?"

REPLY.

Bathe your feet and legs in salt water. Grease well and then massage.

"SPARE THE ROD AND—"

New Madrid writes: "1. Is whipping with a rubber hose likely to injure a child, especially if severe enough to leave bruises on fleshy parts of body? 2. [a] What do you think of punishing a child in school by making him stand on tiptoe for a great length of time? [b] One one foot? [c] Or making him look crosseyed as punishment?"

REPLY.

1—I presume you mean physically, no.
2—(a) Should not be done. (b) Same answer. (c) Worst of the three by odds.

The method employed for disciplining children must vary according to circumstances. The principal variant is the child itself. Some children should be whipped in the old fashioned way. Some would be harmed by such treatment. Some can best be punished by deprivations. Some must be handled by rewards rather than punishments. I think we have lost materially by discarding punishments or by tempering them too much. We are much in need of discipline. But forcing children to stand on tiptoe and to look crosseyed is going to the other extreme.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE DIET.

Mrs. L. H. W. writes: "Will you kindly give me a list of foods— meats, fruits, vegetables—considered proper for a person suffering from high blood pressure in a very aggravated degree? Also what would be the proper drink?"

REPLY.

Begin with a diet of fruit, vegetable soups, bread, sugar and fats. Later vegetables and cereals can be added to the list. Still later milk and cheese. If any meat is eaten at any time it should be boiled meat. Avoid eggs, meat soups, beef tea, coffee, tea, alcohol and tobacco. Juicy meats are worse than those from which the flavor has been lost by soaking in hot or cold water.

BLUE OIL PAINT.

Recently a gentleman from South Carolina asked for the composition of blue oil paint, mentioned in correspondence between Thomas Carlyle and his wife. It was used as a gargle. A correspondent informs us that blue oil paint is a one-half to 1 per cent solution of permanganate of potassium in sweet oil. He tells us that it was very much used in treating sore throats fifty or a hundred years ago. It was especially esteemed by the Scotch people.

TOO MUCH PEANUTS.

F. J. K. writes: "What effect would it have if a person should eat four to five ounces of salted peanuts each day?"

REPLY.

Indigestion could be anticipated. Peanuts is a wholesome, nutritious but rich food. But five ounces a day would be an overdose. It would represent an excess of salt and fat. Peanuts should be eaten with other foods such as bread and salads.

PASTEUR TEMPERATURE.

Mrs. J. F. A. writes: "Kindly tell me at what average degree milk has to be heated in order to be Pasteurized?"

REPLY.

One hundred and forty to 150 degrees Fahrenheit. This temperature should be held for 20 to 30 minutes.

THE FRIEND OF THE SOLDIER.

The Friend of the Soldier will coöperate with the war risk insurance bureau of the treasury department, 1307 Stock Exchange building, Chicago, and with the committee of the Chicago Bar association on legal assistance to soldiers and sailors, 105 West Monroe street.

Address inquiries to Friend of the Soldier, "Chicago Tribune." Answers to as many as possible will be published in this department. To insure a personal reply an addressed and stamped envelope should be inclosed.

No attention will be paid to anonymous letters.

TRAVELING EXPENSES.

Chicago, May 23.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I was recently discharged from service in Panama, and owing to the fact that I was needed at home immediately I booked my own passage from Panama to New Orleans, as transport service down there is very poor and a person usually has to wait over a month after discharge before being shipped to the United States.

I was allowed travel expenses of 5 cents a mile from New Orleans to Chicago. Can I collect travel money at so much a mile from Panama to New Orleans?

F. M. W.

It is doubtful if you can collect travel pay for the trip from Panama to New Orleans, since you did not wait for government transportation. We suggest, however, that you file a claim for it with the auditor for the war department, Washington, D. C., and if it is possible for you to collect this money it will be refunded to you.

ANSWERS.

B. A. Brown, Great Lakes, Ill.—The 122d machine gun battalion landed May 17 on the transport Mount Vernon.

Mrs. E. B. Weidder—The 4th battalion of the 21st engineers has not been cited for return.

D. E. K., Valparaiso, Ind.—A. P. O. E. 710 is located with the 2d division in Germany and A. P. O. 741 is in Mohun, France.

Mike T.—We do not have the passenger lists of the troop ships coming in. You may inquire about the soldier by writing to the information office, Identification Building, Pier 8, Port of Embarkation, Hoboken, N. J.

M. D., Peoria, Ill.—Bakery Company 336 is stationed in Le Havre, France, engaged in the service of supplies and not designated for return.

C. Murphy—We do not have information on the return of replacement depots or any other temporary organizations.

B. Wellis, Paducah, Ky.—No information on supply train 100. The supply trains are numbered from 1 to 20 and 101 to 324 inclusive.

C. E. Hummel—The terms you wish explained refer to organizations of the army. There are the 1st, 2d, and 3d armies, which are divided into corps. These corps are subdivided into divisions, which are composed alike of the units of the various branches of service. The 3d brigade belongs to a division, but one should designate whether it was an infantry or artillery brigade. As you mention the 3d brigade of the 3d division you must refer to the artillery brigade by that number, as the 3d infantry brigade belongs to the 2d division. The 3d army is the army of occupation.

E. L. Bates—The 12th company of the 2d air service mechanics regiment is in St. Nazaire, but has not had orders to sail.

Mrs. A. T. Carrington, Georgetown, Ill.—The 106th ammunition train has not left Langres, France, let. The horse battalion of that unit has been demobilized, but the rest of the unit remains unassigned to convoy.

E. M. B., Oak Park, Ill.—Yes, you are entitled to the bonus. Three months is an unusually long time to wait for your bonus. As you have written a complaint to the bureau in Washington they are probably investigating your case now. If you do not receive the money soon we suggest that you have the bonus section at 120 West Adams street start an investigation for you.

Alexander Webb—The 803d pioneer infantry has been designated for early home coming.

Mrs. Popp, Buda, Ill.—The present address of the 116th sanitary train is Camp Dix, New Jersey.

M. Sanders—The 7th ammunition train is part of the 7th division and may be home next month.

Mrs. Siebert, Ottumwa, Ia.—Yes, the Tolca arrived May 14 at Boston and carried the 121st machine gun battalion.

S. B. W., Aurora, Ill.—The 836th motor transport company is stationed in Paris, and as it is in the serice of supplies it is not expected home very soon.

A. W. Burns—The 4th corps artillery park is with the 3d army in Germany and has not had mention of early return.

Mrs. F. D. Post, Sturgis, Mich.—Motor transport company 308 is in Nevers, France, and is not listed with the early returning units.

W. O. Miller, Paris, Ill.—The sailing date of base hospital 64 has not been set, but the unit has been mentioned for early return.

M. Whitcomb—The 9th corps is not part of the 7th division. It is composed of the 7th and 88th divisions, both released for return.

R. Nyman, Avery, Ia.—Motor transport repair unit 306 is still in France in the service of supplies and has not been assigned convoy.

G. Moller, Wyoming, Ill.—The 139th infantry landed May 23 on the Leviathan.

J. L. Engan—The 5th division has recently been released for return.

Mrs. C. H. Fyarta, Horicon, Wis.—Aero squadron has been assigned early convoy, but has not left France yet.

M. R. P.—The 417th telegraph battalion of the signal corps is with the 3d army and is not mentioned with the units released for return.

Mrs. Corey—The 3d pioneer infantry has not left France yet. No mention has been made as to the probable time of their return.

William Wright, Paris, Ill.—The 310th field signal battalion has not left France. It is attached to the 4th army and not in the army of occupation. The time of their return is not known at present.

Mrs. A. Koenig—No information available on depot service company 45 of the army service corps.

Mrs. J. A. Fagan—Machine gun troop, 3d cavalry, is in the service of supplies and is stationed in Bourbonne-les-Baines.

Miss Emma Maksted, Ames, Ia.—The 146th field artillery was originally part of the 41st division, but is now attached to the 3d corps and is on duty with the occupation army forces.

Hannah Falls—Military police company 336 is stationed in La Rochelle. It has not been designated for return.

MAKE ANOTHER APPLICATION FOR ENTRY.

Chicago, May 19.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I have recently come from New York City with my daughter, aged 7. I made application to have my daughter attend the Rogers public school on the west side and the principal would not admit her. I have not obtained her birth certificate yet. What should I do?

H. B.

It is not absolutely necessary that your child should have a birth certificate in order to enter the public schools. It is very desirable to have such a certificate and provision has been made on our blanks for recording same, so that when a child later applies for a work certificate we may have accurate data on which to base his right to be excused and begin work. If you will apply to the school again I think the child will be admitted without any further trouble. I will drop a line to the principal of the school so you may have the child entered at once.

PAVING SOUTH HOYNE AVENUE.

Chicago, May 18.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Will you kindly inform me when the work of paving South Hoyne avenue from One Hundred and Seventh street to One Hundred and Eleventh street will commence?

A. G. M.

The system of streets, including Hoyne avenue, between One Hundred and Seventh and One Hundred and Eleventh streets, will be paved during the summer. We will soon advertise for bids on the work.

EDWARD J. GLACKIN,
Secretary Board of Local Improvements.

HOLE IN STREET FILLED IN.

Chicago, May 18.—[To the Friend of the People.]—There is a large hole on Harding avenue between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets. It is filled with water and many autos and trucks are constantly being stuck. Could you have some one fill it up with stones, so there won't be any accident?

E. G.

The necessary repair has been made at this location.

WOULD NOT NECESSARILY SHARE IN ESTATE.

Chicago, May 19.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—My father died over a year ago and, while living was to receive an equal share of his mother's property, she being a widow. A few weeks ago a new will was made, and we found that neither mother nor myself was mentioned in this will, that my father's share was divided for the remaining persons mentioned. Isn't mother or myself entitled to father's share? I am my father's only child.

L. H. R.

Your grandmother could dispose of her property in the way you state.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ADMINISTRATOR MUST SHOW DISPOSITION OF ESTATE.

Kankakee, Ill., May 18.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—One year and a half ago my father died, leaving a widow and six children, all married, except one son and one daughter, who are living with the widow on the homestead. The married brother was appointed administrator. During the last year he has made many improvements on the farm where he lives, such as building new fences, a corncrib, set out an orchard, and several other improvements. What we want to know is whether he has any right to do this and charge it up to the estate, as he has done. He expects to ask for this farm as his share. At the time of settlement what will the heirs do about this. Does he have the right to take the tools, pieces of good lumber, etc., from the homestead to his home for his own use and refuse to return them? These things are needed by the son living at home. When asked for them he became angry. Is a lease valid without the signature of all the heirs?

R. R. G.

An administrator has to make an inventory of the entire estate in his charge, and when he files his final account he has to show the disposition he made of estate so inventoried. At that time you can appear in court and object to the account if it shows anything irregular. He would not have the right to do what you state in just the way you state it. He has the same right to property on the home place that the son there has to it.

The lease would be valid as far as it goes. If one did not join his interest would not be leased and he would have the right to make such disposition of his joint interest as he could. The interest being undivided could not be used in conflict with the other undivided interests without a partition proceeding. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

As but limited space can be given letters in this department writers must confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Unless they give us their full names and addresses their letters will not be considered. No manuscript will be returned unless the writer sends postage for that purpose.

CONSUMERS' DEMANDS.

Chicago, May 24.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In all the talk about the expense of food and handling of same between producer and consumer we never hear much about the demands which are made upon the retailer by his customer.

In the first place, the average buyer will have nothing in vegetables but the very best, and mostly out of season, and of meats the best cuts, of which in a dressed carcass there are comparatively few pounds, and when we consider that live cattle and hogs are worth above $20 per cwt. the conclusion is that selected cuts must be high.

In package foods, only those in costly containers are much sought, the expense of which must be borne by the purchaser.

As to bread, when a baker turns 196 pounds of flour into bread and the same has been retailed at present prices, he has converted about $13 or less of material into about $30 worth of bread; so much for the staff of life.

The delivery question, which during the war was in a fair way of settlement, is again becoming an expensive proposition on account of demands by purchasers for this service, amounting in many cases to personal service, which the dealer fears to refuse. If the retail dealer ever becomes a big enough business man to run his own affairs and to consider that his competitor's interests are his, then the delivery part of retailing, which amounts in some cases to 8 or 10 per cent gross sales, will dwindle to 3 or 4 per cent.

Milk is being handled, as regards delivery, on the same plan as that of twenty-five years ago, which is comment enough.

When the nonproducers of food realise that it is up to them to help themselves, then the H. C. L. will be reduced in the same proportion as their efforts in that direction increase. My idea is, however, that it a few years present prices will seem reasonable.

REGISTER AUTOMOBILES.

Chicago, May 23.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I heartily agree with you in regard to having all automobiles registered like property, as I was recently the victim of an automobile theft.

THE SOURCE OF A QUOTATION.

Clinton, Ia., May 22.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—As there appears to be considerable speculation as to where the German premier found the passage which he quoted from President Wilson and attributed to the message of Dec. 4, 1917, may I suggest that it seems to be a retranslation into English of a paragraph in the president's speech at Baltimore on April 6, 1918? The paragraph is as follows, in the original:

"To propose anything but justice, even handed and dispassionate justice, to Germany at any time, whatever the outcome of the war, would be to renounce and dishonor our own cause. For we ask nothing that we are not willing to accord."

Scheidemann rendered it:

"We would dishonor our own cause if we treated Germany in any other than justly and in a nonpartisan manner and did not insist on justice to all, no matter how the war ended. We demand nothing that we are ourselves not ready to admit."

MAX.

FREE TUITION FOR SOLDIERS.

Chicago, May 24.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I have at hand a letter from the University of Minnesota which states that had I been fortunate enough to have been a resident of that state at the outbreak of the war I would be entitled to tuition in the sum of $200. It seems that Illinois might do as much for her returned soldiers.

The two years I spent in the service interfered with my working my way through school; otherwise, I should have finished. Under existing conditions the self-help method is rather difficult. I would appreciate very much the same opportunity offered the Minnesota boys, and I am sure there are others for whom this would open the university's doors.

STUDENT.

FOR CHEAPER MILK.

Chicago, May 20.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Referring to your suggestion of establishing milk distributing stations convenient to all sections of the city, you have certainly sounded the keynote to every consumer's desire. The idea is a decidedly wise and practical one and I hope you will vigorously agitate the carrying out of such a plan.

25,225 Citizens of Chicago Have a Secret

SEE THAT MAN COMING DOWN MICHIGAN AVENUE—that fine-looking man who walks with a quick, confident step? Take a good look at him as he passes.

You're right; he does look like somebody of importance—he is. I'll tell you the reason for that keen, alert expression, that appearance of live interest and mastery. He has made a discovery. He has gained possession of a secret that is making him a leader among the people of Chicago. He is one of the 25,225 men and women to whom the city looks for guidance in every business and social movement, upon whom it depends for every possible service and in every important crisis. They are gaining profit and distinction for themselves, and they are making this city a tremendous factor in the business and political supremacy of the Nation.

Yes, I'll tell you what it is: They have discovered the way to see into the heart of the world.

They've found out how to know the thoughts of men and understand their acts. They can see what the world is doing in every great city, and council chamber, on every highway, farm, and battle-field under the sun. They know what men and women of clear vision and good judgment are saying about the new social, educational, religious, political, and industrial problems and the changing business and economic conditions of today, as well as the serious national, international, and racial problems that are crowding on us for settlement.

They have found the magic "receiver" with which they can "listen in" on every live wire of news, and wherever opinions are expressed, or controversy rages hot. And so they possess themselves of the inside facts on all sides, and the rock-bottom truth of every vital subject, and it gives them freedom and authority.

But that isn't all. They have found the point of connection with the sources of power, and have joined themselves with the great forces that are remaking the affairs of this city and Nation and changing the destinies of all mankind.

You have seen how great nations have been swayed with passion, how men have spoken to the world like flaming prophets, how soldiers have hurled themselves into the fiery gulf of war, how women have endured privation, and toil, and deadly peril to minister with gentleness and healing to the world's sufferers. You have seen miracles of labor and of heroism, you have seen marvels in business and professional achievement, you have seen wonders in the individual mastery of men and of circumstances, and you have known that behind, and beneath, and above, and within all these things is POWER—the operation of invincible forces that conquer all hindrance and laugh at the impossible.

That man who just went by, with the firm stride of a master of men and of things, has found a way to touch that Power—to throw on the switch and let the eternal forces flow into his soul. He has learned the secret of opening his mind and his heart to the KNOWING and the FEELING of the great life and thought of the busy, throbbing world, as they come to him, full and true, at the end of each week, from thousands of cities and towns in every land, through his "master receiver," THE LITERARY DIGEST.

"Listen in" for a moment!

THE LITERARY DIGEST has asked 2,500 daily newspapers throughout the United States their opinion of the League of Nations. Their replies come to you over "The Digest" live wire. They bring you more than information. "Running through the great mass of replies, you have the sensation of touching something hot." You KNOW and you FEEL the mind and heart of America on this thrilling question of world welfare.

THE LITERARY DIGEST gathers from many eye-witnesses the lurid picture of the Russian Bolshevik "heaven on earth," where "maniacs stalk raving through the streets," and "human flesh is sold as food." You KNOW and you FEEL the ghastly facts, and love of America burns more fiercely as you vow protection for your homeland.

A wonder-story comes to you through THE LITERARY DIGEST of modern safety devices and methods in American factories which already are saving the lives of 13,000 American workers every year and causing a better understanding between employer and employee. Instantly, you feel a warmer glow of brotherhood and co-operation in our busy life together.

Listen again! THE LITERARY DIGEST is asking a searching question of 190,000 ministers and 42,000,000 church members of all denominations in the United States. "What is going to happen to a divided Church in the face of the present great crisis of need and opportunity? Is the Church immune to the lessons of the War?" KNOWLEDGE of the startling facts THE DIGEST is giving rouses a new thrill of responsibility and purpose.

Now—catch some of these great business bulletins coming over THE DIGEST wire: A ten thousand mile new railway route from the busiest centers of the United States straight into the heart of South American markets! Unexpected tips on merchandising and profit-taking revealed by Government weather maps! How American furnaces can stop the waste of millions of tons of coal every year. Such KNOWLEDGE is money to those who have THE DIGEST "receiver" at their ears.

Hold the wire! You don't want to miss these stirring "Lessons in Patriotism" and stories of "Nations in Rebirth" coming over with every week's issue. Here is a story of the "Poles in the United States"—really a complete condensed history of this great people and their ancient nation now being reborn into liberty. Here is the story of Greece; and now comes the tragic tale of Armenia escaping from the barbarous thralldom of the Ottoman Empire. "The Case of Schleswig" craving to be reunited with Denmark; the "Lithuanians in the United States"; and so on—little histories big with meaning, thrilling with interest to Americans who must live and work side by side with these peoples and help them on and up into a larger Americanism here, or a larger, freer national existence in their native lands.

No man or woman can be in close touch with all these big, live things of the world without growing bigger of mind and heart, and gaining a richer, more keenly sensitive life. And their reaction upon every business, social, and personal interest he may have is of the greatest benefit to him. It makes him quick to understand and appreciate real values, quick to see and use passing opportunities, strong in his influence upon his friends and fellow-workers, valuable as a citizen, successful in his individual affairs. How unfair it would be if such advantages were exclusive,—obtainable only by a few! How fortunate that any ambitious, purposeful man or woman may get possession of the same secret of personal power, and larger life. It is possible for you to have this "magic receiver," THE LITERARY DIGEST, in your own home, and to to KNOW and FEEL the great heart of the world as its pulse-beats reach you through the crowded pages of THE DIGEST every Saturday night. Then, in a new and larger sense, you will share the exultation of Monte Cristo as he stood up and cried, "THE WORLD IS MINE!"

NORTH CLARK STREET MAY GET FIRST SUBWAY

Property Owners Turn to Faherty's Plan of Assessments.

can have twenty-eight and one-half miles of subway at a cost of $57,000,000, of which sum $27,000,000 is already in hand.

Faherty Backs Plan.

Michael Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, says "it can be done," and Michael Faherty rebuilt the south side of Twelfth street for nearly a mile and a half in nine months without the loss of a life. Incidental to that colossal job he moved the big brick German Catholic church of St. Francis forty-two feet without breaking a pane of glass in it.

In the course of the weary legal preliminaries required by Twelfth street widening and rebuilding, Michael Faherty made a twenty minute heart to heart speech to 312 Jewish property owners, who had been blocking him at every turn of the road. At the close of that meeting, eighty-seven of the 312 went downtown and discharged their lawyers. Then Michael Faherty got to work and in nine months he was through.

Today the chiefs of the West Side Trust and Savings bank, at Twelfth and Halsted streets, say that what Michael Faherty drove them to do early in 1917 has meant to them an increase of $2,000,000 in business within two years.

Widened Michigan Avenue.

Michael Faherty pushed Michigan avenue improvement to a start in the face of 8,753 law suits filed by owners whose holdings extended all the way from Thirty first street to North avenue. Christmas will see that improvement nearly finished. The town had been dreaming about it for thirty years. Michael Faherty has been a little over four years in office.

It is for these reasons, among others, that, when Michael Faherty says "it can be done," THE TRIBUNE is willing to take a serious interest.

Faherty is expensive, but he gets things done.

Devises Assessment Plan.

In the matter of subway construction no man has given more earnest thought to the multitude of problems hooked up with it than Faherty has. He considers it in its practical aspects. The idea of the special assessment spread over twenty years, for the benefit of the small property owner, is his.

He likewise considers the psychology of the proposition, which is even more intricate than its practical aspects are. The street railway companies, he knows, are the biggest factor, both practical and psychological, in this big problem, and he knows there is no good building a rapid transit subway unless you can get a tenant for it. He also knows that, unless you have your tenant bound by a hard and fast agreement before subway work is launched, the time will come when your prospective tenant will screw you down pitilessly in the matter of the rentals he is to pay you.

Favors a Compromise.

Hence, Michael Faherty is for a policy of conference and compromise between the community and the companies. Faherty knows the companies from the inside and the out, and is not blind to anything that the city can do to them or they to the city.

"They are here, the companies," says Faherty, "and their franchises have got eight more years to run. Unless we get to a basis with them nothing can be done promptly or effectively. They can wear you out. They can block you until you're out of office or your heart's broken.

"Approach the traction situation from almost any point and you find a bad mess and the best you can do is to make the best of it. It's difficult.

"The 5 cent fare presents one of the most difficult phases, though it's a phase that's settled. The companies can't have any better than that. The 5 cent fare is bred in the bone of Chicago. It's a platform ready made for any politician that wants one, and on it he can defeat anybody who dares to come out for a 6 cent fare. So, that being a closed issue—and rightly so—we must find other grounds for fair, just, and constructive coöperation between the city and the companies. It's the only way we can get our start toward the boon of subways."

Is Universally Trusted.

If Faherty were not a man universally trusted he could not afford to talk that way. He would try demagoguery, but demagoguery builds no subways, and Faherty is a builder. His position is simple. He wants to start building and he wants a tenant for what, we believe, he can and will build. So he is willing to dicker with the prospective tenant on the plain basis of "Don't you try robbing me and I'll deal fairly, even handsomely, by you."

Some of the biggest things Faherty has done and is doing were done and are being done today on that rational basis. In 1917 the companies tore up and relaid tracks on Twelfth street for a mile and a half and did it with feverish haste because Faherty argued—and finally enthused them into it. The work cost them $580,000, and it was done not only without a hint of suits for damages, but with good will.

Relay Grand Avenue Tracks.

Today the same thing is happening. For block after block in East Grand avenue the companies are tearing out concrete roadbeds that would have lasted a quarter of a century, and shifting and relaying tracks day and night in order to carry their cars under the new upper level Michigan avenue that Faherty is building. There are no damage suits and no delays. The reason is this: The companies know that when Faherty believes it is right and fair to build a new sewer on the side of a street instead of in the middle he will have it so built, and thus save the companies the trouble and expense of having to rip out tracks they may have laid down in the middle of the street.

It is the Faherty way, and it works.

ECHOES

THE TRIBUNE has received the following from Mildred Jacobs of Jerseyville, Ill.:

"Can any one reading this inquiry tell me of the last days of Corporal Theodore B. Hill, 75th company, 6th regiment, United States marines, A. E. F., who died in France of wounds? For his bereaved mother's sake, I pray that some one who knew him may read this message."

Soldier sons of members of the Chicago Historical society are notified that an American Legion post of all service men in the world war is organizing and are requested to apply at once, giving name, rank, and address, to Col. FIFTH ARTICLE.

HELSINGFORS, May 18, via Paris, May 25.—The bolsheviki, while masters at destruction, have been able so far really to construct only two great things—a fighting red army and a comprehensive educational program for Russia's millions. Today the red army is fighting on a 4,500 mile front, while they are in regard to education for the first time in the history of the country all children between the ages of 8 and 16 are compelled to go to school.

Soviet officials are prouder of their educational and cultural program than of anything else. It has been a pet part of their idea of the advancement of the masses, and there really have been remarkable strides in leading Russia's uneducated millions along educational lines. All factories have their schools for both young people and adults, and there are countless lectures and cultural entertainments for workmen.

Based on U. S. System.

The whole school program is based on the general scheme of the American public school and state university system. Briefly, it is one of compulsory education, with universities for all men who show special ability or desire. Books are to be furnished free, and every child is given free noon lunches.

All private schools are abolished, and every child up to 16 years is given exactly equal educational opportunities. In the days of the czar only children of the better classes had really good opportunities to study, but with the revolution the great cry for education was the first one answered.

It is hard for an American to realize how great was this yearning for education among the poorest, most ignorant peasants and workmen. Instinctively they knew that without education their lot could not be greatly improved, and during the years of the czar's régime they could only dream when a real chance for education would come to all. The bolsheviki are really bringing this.

700,000,000 for Schools.

"Our appropriation for education for the year is 7,000,000,000 roubles, or 700,000,000," Lounacharski, commissaire for public education, told me with pride in a recent interview. "During the last year we have established 7,000 new village schools of the lower grades. We have opened 3,000 schools of the second degree and twelve schools of higher education, including five new universities and a number of workers' universities. To do all this and to keep all our other schools running we have had to overcome many obstacles. We have been terribly short of fuel; we have had a hard time furnishing the holiday lunches that we plan to give now to all children, and temporarily we have been unable to carry out the plan to give all children free clothing as well.

"Vocational phases are being worked out as rapidly as possible. Things are going ahead, but many of our finest ideas cannot be realized until normal life is resumed. Lack of shoes and clothing, for instance, have in some country districts kept 60 per cent of the children at home.

"We have lacked paper to print our books on, and have had to get along the best way we could in a score of lines. But we are bringing education to the masses—that is the big thing."

Some weeks ago I attended the opening of the Moscow workers' university. There was something really fine and pathetic about the audience gathered. For the most part they were working men and women and soldiers of the Red guard who saw now their dream of educational opportunity coming true. At the speakers' table were four men—three ostensibly workingmen and the fourth a white-collared intellectual. It was a drama they were playing, a drama new to Russia but old to America. They were bringing the schools to the common people.

This workers' university is to have different colleges and departments and on general lines is to follow ordinary universities. Most courses, however, are to be practical, and the whole study course is to fit a student for practical life. Students are to be sent from different districts of soviet Russia, being chosen by the local district authorities, and all expenses while attending college are paid.

Imperial University to Go On.

In no way is the school to interfere with the old Moscow imperial university, meaning that the old intellectual life is to go on, but, in addition, that higher educational opportunities are to be opened to workers who previously were denied college chances.

There is little to quarrel with in the whole Russian attempt at cultural developments. Theaters have been assigned to the working people, new art galleries opened, and every issue of the government and party papers carries a list of free lectures and entertainments for workers.

I have visited a number of these soviet theaters, and have been interested to find with what proprietorial sense the working people attended these theaters. The real working people come here with their families, and, if they choose, they sit through the performances with their hats on—partly due to the cold theater. Ten other theaters are open where the old and new bourgeoisie might go.

Each great trade union of factories takes a block of seats at the soviet theaters, and either gives them out or sells them at a low price to workmen. In all there are seven of these soviet theaters in Moscow, and they have become a sort of new social club of the masses. The men who formerly used to spend their wages and evening drinking vodka now go to the theater and hear a very decent production of the old operas and standard Russian plays.

No Vodka in Russia.

Vodka drinking, by the way, is a lost art in Russia. The country is actually absolutely dry. In Petrograd I was confidentially informed that one might possibly round up a bottle of cognac for $60, but in Moscow the cheapest grade was $90, while it is said a short quart of vodka is $30.

There are no two sides to the wet or dry question in Russia. Stamping out vodka at the start of the war was probably one of the really great things the czar did, and the bolsheviki have seen the wisdom of keeping the country dry.

The rotten court, the parasitic upper class, and vodka kept Russia's millions under the iron heel. When the czar took away vodka he gave the moujik nothing in its place.

The soviets are trying to do this through soviet theaters, concerts, lectures, and entertainments. They have opened much that is fine and artistic to the workmen. He is appreciating all this, but he wants the comforts of life and real liberties as well. He wants food, clothing, shoes, and more freedom of expression and life. He is never going to be satisfied until he gets all these.

HENRY W. MAHAN, SOUTH SIDE BANK PRESIDENT, DIES

HENRY W. MAHAN

Henry Weston Mahan, president of the Washington Park National and South Side State banks, died suddenly yesterday morning at his residence, 5001 Drexel boulevard. He was 64 years old.

Mr. Mahan was well known in city financial circles. He was born in Weathersfield, Ill., Dec. 2, 1854. He came to Chicago in 1890 after being graduated from the University of Illinois in 1876. His first position in Chicago was as cashier of the Oakland National bank. In 1901 he became the first cashier of the Stockyards Savings bank.

He organized and headed the Drexel State bank in 1903 and in 1909 started the South Side State bank, in which he retained active interest until his death. The Washington Park National bank came under his leadership in 1913.

His close insight into south side real estate and financial conditions and the affairs attendant upon his position brought him in close contact with thousands of Chicagoans and his policies won him many friends.

His widow, Mrs. Adele Mahan, five children, and a sister survive. They are Mrs. J. Garland Stahl, wife of the vice president of the Washington Park National bank and former well known major league ball player; Mrs. Philip Seymour of Detroit; Mrs. Marshall Wright of Portland, Ore.; Henry Mahan of Los Angeles, and Mark C. Mahan of Chicago. His sister is Mrs. Jean Mahan Plank.

Mr. Mahan was a member of the Mystic Shrine and the University club. Funeral service, with Masonic rites, will be held at the Hyde Park Baptist church, Fifty-sixth street and Woodlawn avenue, Wednesday, at 3:30 p. m.

How Are You Thinking Today ? ? ? ?

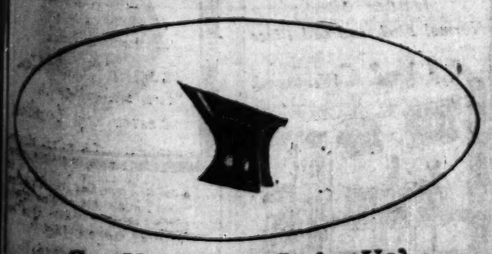

We are going to ask you to suggest an appropriate designation for a CUTLER feature, entirely new, which will appear on several modish fall boots, now being completed by our experts on women's footwear.

The Cutler Oval—a Symbol of Service and Satisfaction.

This new feature is a DIFFERENT HEEL, designed to associate permanently exquisite gracefulness of delicately curved lines and welcome restfulness of VERY MEDIUM HEIGHT.

We want you to suggest a name which will distinguish this origination always. Such a name should in some way give an idea of the exclusive combination of qualities the new heel represents—qualities which are clearly brought out by a study of the illustration below.

We will be pleased to present to the originator of the name we finally adopt, a pair of CUTLER shoes, of any style and price selected. Please communicate verbally or by letter to the PUBLICITY MANAGER

Can You Name It for Us?

CANADA TO OUST UNION STRIKERS WHO HOLD OUT

Winnipeg, Man., May 25.—Rapid action dealing with broad and vital phases of the general strike of Winnipeg labor unions is officially promised for tomorrow. With union leaders, employers' representatives, and conciliatory forces tonight unable to agree on important details of the two big issues affecting settlement, announcements came from three prominent sources that the next twenty-four hours may make history for Winnipeg and possibly for the entire Dominion.

Senator Gideon Robertson, federal minister of labor, and Arthur Meighen, minister of the interior and justice, have formally announced that unless the members of the Winnipeg postal workers' union return to work by noon tomorrow, they will be dismissed from the federal service. Volunteer workers have been sorting great masses of mail which have been piling up in Winnipeg since the general strike began on May 15.

Bringing opportunity that will allow expenditures to go much farther than under ordinary circumstances.

Tricolette and Tricotine Together in

The Newest Separate Skirts

With the modes of this new season as they are presented here, it becomes more and more evident that the separate skirt is certain to have an unprecedented vogue this summer.

For it is suited to so many such varied occasions. Certain delightful modes with a fanciful blouse are appropriate for dress wear, such as

This Is the Separate Skirt, Sketched, $27.50

The cuff at the hem and the pocket pipings are of navy blue tricotine, the skirt itself of gray, beige, navy blue or white tricolette.

Taffetas Make General Purpose Skirts for Summer

Their cool, crisp look makes them especially suited to accompany sheer fine blouses. Here in plain colors, or in plaids and stripes as colorful as one wishes—$16.75 to $27.50.

Fourth Floor, North.

Delightful New Silks
Featured Here at Interesting Prices

Coming just when one is seeking silks for summer suits and frocks, this selling will be particularly welcome. It brings attractive assortments of the favored fabrics of the season, in the fashionable colors, and at very favorable pricings.

Satin de Luxe at $2.50 Yard

This fabric, in great favor for fashioning frocks, is shown here in a wide range of summer colors. In the 36-inch width.

Crepe de Chine of Excellent Quality at $3 Yard

A beautiful soft finish distinguishes this material and makes it much to be desired. The assortment of colors is widely varied. In the 40-inch width.

Two Desired Black Silks Are $3 and $4.50 Yard

Black satin mousseline of a beautiful rich quality, in the 40-inch width, $4.50 yard.

All-silk crepe meteor, with a fine soft finish, in the 40-inch width, $3 yard.

Fine silk-and-wool poplins may be chosen in the 40-inch width at $2.50 yard.

Second Floor, North.

Not Many More Days Now of the

May Sale of Infants' Wear

But each day to the very last of the sale will be a day of signal buying opportunities.

That's how this sale was planned and how it has progressed. Nothing perhaps better illustrates this than the groups pictured here.

Wee Girls' Fresh Summer Frocks, $2.95 and Smart Little Suits for Laddies, $2.50

Sturdy, serviceable little outfits for all their daintiness. Fashioned of chambrays whose firm quality assures shapeliness to the little garments even after frequent launderings.

The frock (sketched at the left) may be had in green, pink, buff and blue, with smocking in white. $2.95.

The suit (sketched at the right) has the trousers in pink, blue, or green—the blouse of white linene. $2.50.

Third Floor, North.

Frocks for Summer Afternoons
Displays Announced in the Women's Sections

They bring a vision of cool country club verandas, of afternoon teas under huge and picturesque lawn umbrellas.

And because Memorial Day sees the launching of the summer season at so many country clubs, this is a most timely presentation.

Tricolette and Crepe de Chine Combine in the Pictured Frock, $47.50

The skirt is white crepe de Chine, the embroidered Russian blouse of tricolette in navy blue, Egyptian brown or flesh color.

Flowered Georgette crepe frocks for summer's informal dancing parties, in exquisite colorings, $32.50.

And at $27.50 one may choose delightful organdie frocks, fresh-looking and lovely with soft lace frillings.

Fourth Floor, North.

Crepe de Chine Undergarments
Values Unusual Even for a May Sale

These are of the type women call "tailored," which means exquisite simplicity of style with little in the way of decorative touches, but those highly effective. First—

Three Styles in Envelope Chemises to Choose at $3.95

One (sketched here) has tucks and cross-tucks at the yoke and tiny tinted silken flowers. The second, bandings of Georgette crepe put together with hemstitching. The third, embroidered band and ribbon bows.

Night-Dresses of Crepe de Chine, $5

"Tailored," too, and of excellent crepe de Chine. The sort of night-dress practical for the summer traveler, as it packs into a small space, and may be laundered by hand.

Bodices of crepe de Chine at $1.95 and bloomers at $2.95 are specially priced.

Third Floor, North.

Certain May Sale Corsets
Are Now Reduced to $5

This may be termed a sale within a sale. For the corsets involved were notable values specially planned for the May Sale.

But the very active selling during the month has left some groups of these excellent corsets depleted in assortment. New groupings have been made and

This Substantially Lowered Pricing Placed on "Orchid" and "Valois" Corsets Models Exclusively Ours

The range of models is all-inclusive. All sizes are represented, of course, but not in every type of corset. Note the new price, $5.

Mme. Irene Corsets Now $10

These are fashioned of exquisite imported fabrics, the sort one finds only in the higher-priced corsets, and which cannot now be obtained. $10.

FORD EMPLOYES ON STAND TODAY IN LIBEL CASE

Likely to Occupy Most of Court Week in Their Evidence.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Mount Clemens, Mich., May 25.—[Special.]—Employes of the Ford Motor company will take the stand in Judge Tucker's court tomorrow as the first witnesses in the $1,000,000 libel suit which the multi-millionaire manufacturer has brought against THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE because he was referred to editorially as an "anarchist" nearly three years ago.

It appears probable that the entire court week, from Monday morning until Thursday afternoon, will be given up to the testimony of the Ford witnesses. The purpose of this testimony will be to show the policy of the Ford Motor company toward its employes who were called as members of the national guard to the Mexican border in 1916.

Judge Tucker is studying cited libel cases in preparation for the rules which he will give for the admission of evidence. He may indicate to the attorneys tomorrow what his policy will be and he may wait until specific evidence is offered by the defense before he announces his decision over the question of the limitation of evidence.

Definition of Anarchist Involved.

The arguments before the court have been in a large measure jury arguments and the question of the meaning of the word anarchist has already been given a great deal of attention by the court. Attorneys for Mr. Ford insist that this word must be taken in a sense which includes the idea of violence. THE TRIBUNE attorneys have attempted to show the necessity of giving other interpretations to the word.

THE TRIBUNE attorneys have attempted to show that nothing is better settled in the law of libel than the proposition that the words complained of are to be construed in the light of their context and in the light of all the circumstances bearing upon their construction.

Holding, then, that under the special circumstances of 1916 the word "anarchist" was applied to Mr. Ford in a sense that was justifiable, the attorneys for THE TRIBUNE set up next the defense of fair comment.

Right of Comment.

They claim that the whole situation regarding the call of troops to the border and the action of large employers such as the Ford Motor company was of great public interest, and that such matters of public interest become matters upon which newspapers may comment. They cited authority for the claim that when the plaintiff thus issues public appeals he cannot claim that the appeals and his acts in connection therewith were not matters of great public interest. In times of public danger it is held that all persons whose acts or utterances affect the situation are lawful subjects of comment.

WHERE RETURNING SOLDIERS WILL SEEK OLD JOBS

BELOW will be found a continuation of the list started in "The Sunday Tribune" showing the names of returning soldiers and the employers for whom they worked before joining the colors. The lists were gathered by the Paris edition of "The Tribune," where a register was opened to allow soldiers to communicate with their former employers to whom they wished to return when mustered out of the service. In all cases, where "The Tribune" has been able to communicate directly with the employer, assurance that the job is open to the returning soldier was given. In the lists the name of the employer is given first, the name of the soldier second.

SIX MEN, JAILED, ADMIT STEALING HUNDRED AUTOS

Confessions Reveal New "Loop to Farmers" Theft Ring.

Six men are under arrest and nine-teen stolen automobiles have been re-covered as the result of confessions obtained by Capt. John L. Hogan of the Grand Crossing station. The men have confessed to stealing more than 100 cars within the last year.

Those under arrest are:

Daniel Rohman, 3133 South Union avenue.

Fred Miller, 3038 South Canal street.

William Kubes, 5217 South Washte-naw avenue.

Harry Kimmich, 1433 East Sixty-sev-enth place.

Walter Farrel, 3115 South Halsted street.

Peter Stirtz, Romeo, Ill.

Detectives Peter Kane and J. F. Gallagher arrested Kimmich and Far-rel Friday evening in an alley between Sixty-ninth and Seventieth streets off Cottage Grove avenue. The men at first refused to halt, but surrendered after the detectives showed their re-volvers.

The pair, questioned by Captain Ho-gan, implicated four other men, who were arrested Saturday night. They said they had shipped machines to Stirtz in Romeo and he had disposed of them to farmers.

They also told the captain three stolen automobiles were in the Serve-All garage at 7235 South Chicago ave-nue. Policemen recovered them.

In their confession the men men-tioned several garages and barns where they stored the automobiles. They also gave a list of about thirty persons to whom they had sold the machines. Captain Hogan said he ex-pected to recover many more automo-biles within the next few days and called the arrest of the six the great-est catch of thieves in a long time by the Chicago police.

HOUGH REVEALS VITAL WORK OF A. P. L. IN THE WAR

New Book, 'The Web,' Holds Startling Com-ment for Chicago.

"Signed!"

The one word, spoken by a young officer of the United States army, a strip of paper in his hand, confirmed to his associates the greatest news the world has ever known. It was the cor-rected foreword of peace. The armi-stice had validly been signed by Ger-many.

Thus begins the preface of a book dedicated "To the unknown Americans —unnamed, unhonored, unrewarded— who made this history possible." It re-counts the exploits of the American Protective league during the war. The author is Emerson Hough. The title of the book is "The Web."

And what did the A. P. L. do? The author answers:

"It fought battles, saved lives, saved cities, saved treasures, defended the flag, apprehended countless traitors. . . . It saved America. . . ."

10,000 Chicago Members.

Among the many achievements of the league is that in connection with the big slacker drive in Chicago the summer of 1918. Orders had been is-sued by the department of justice for the roundup and "more than 10,000 Chicago members of the league were enlisted in the search. They interro-gated more than 150,000 suspects and seized more than 20,000."

After recounting that the league had its genesis here and the "astounding utterance of a sitting mayor to the effect that Chicago is 'the sixth great-est German city on the earth,'" the author asserts that there are perhaps in Chicago "more troublemakers than in any other city in America."

Concerning "Work Haters."

Work haters from every race in the world are here, he points out, and:

"Chicago has them and has them still because she has invited them, ac-cepted them and made them free of the place. Cheap politicians have done the rest; mayors who care nothing for the American vote . . . Under-neath this smug oath of faith to America, all too often the Teuton and his kin, the kaiser's friend and sympa-thizer, still hid unchanged. Today as thousands of them read these lines, they know that this is the truth.

"When we went to war, the mili-tant Chicago Germans did not change —they simply submerged, German fashion; that was all. Then Chicago dropped her paravanes—spread down her WEB—to guard against under sur-face attacks."

Altogether during the war, A. P. L. operatives in the Chicago division in-vestigated 99,175 cases. Two hundred thousand men were temporarily de-tained for examination of registration cards; 44,167 slackers were rounded up; 18,000 alien enemies were investi-gated.

Humorous Angles.

The work had its humorous angles. In hundreds of cases it was found that "an alien suspect's sudden and mysterious shifts and changes, his suspicious and watchful conduct, all had to do with nothing more than the fact that the man had a mistress or so in another part of the city."

As a result "there are hundreds, perhaps thousands, of men in America whose private lives are known to the league and not known in their own families. There is yet to be known the first case where any advantage was taken of the intended victim caught in the general meshes of the net."

Summing up the lessons of the war, Mr. Hough finds that:

"Germany is not dead or defeated in America. She will raise her head again. Again we shall hear the stir-ring of the leaves and see arise once more the fanged front which has so long menaced the world. The time to scotch that snake is now—today.

"This is no time, when our maimed men are coming home, when our young boys are growing up, to be faithless to those men who—their eyes still on us as they fling to us the torch of civ-ilization—lie not yet content nor quiet in Flanders fields."

And in conclusion he finds that "something is wrong." The American born regions on the census maps are steadily shrinking areas. The foreign born predominate.

"The census map shows that it is time to put up the bars at Ellis island."

Natural Selection

The publisher of a dog paper exerts every effort to make his publication of interest to dog fanciers.

A pharmaceutical journal works for years to earn a great following among druggists. There are spe-cial periodicals for threshermen, for undertakers and for theatrical folk.

There are "slick paper" magazines for the socially elect and "news print" papers for the farmers.

In every trade, profession, cult or social stratum, there are periodicals seeking to attract unto them-selves a following of readers.

The process eventually becomes one of natural selection.

"Birds of a feather flock together."

If you want to sell sulphuric acid, advertise in a publication bought by fertilizer manufacturers. If you want to sell sheets or soap, food or children's books, to reach the housewife advertise in a woman's magazine.

Advertising should parallel natural selection.

They Can't Stop Him!

In spite of high cost conditions and acute shortages of labor and material everywhere, The Royal Tiger is bringing unparalleled values to Chicago men

MEN, have you looked into the windows of the big clothing stores downtown these past three weeks? The messages they tell are not very pleasant news to your pocket-book.

Ready-made suits—the sort you bought three years ago for $20—are priced this season at $35, $40 and $45. And very few are shown even at these prices. Most of the stores prefer not to quote prices in their win-dows. They want a chance to explain to you, inside the store, why they can't offer reliable suits at less than $35 to $60.

If you haven't fully appreci-ated the remarkable values we are giving to Chicago men, in making high-grade, custom-tailored suits to order at $30, just let the downtown clothing win-dows tell you the story.

The reason we can build clothes to order and to measure for less than the prices asked by downtown stores for ready-mades, is simply due to our great wholesale buying power—and our complete freedom from downtown store overhead in our retail department.

Featuring Suits and Overcoats at $30 Made to your special order

With 1500 combinations in fashions & fabrics for your selection

The high prices of woolens and labor haven't stopped the Royal Tiger—because we bought most of our goods two and three years ago. And we are giving home-town trade the benefit of our great and far-sighted purchases.

When you order your Royal suit direct of us, you are taking a short-cut to Tailoring Head-quarters, cutting out all middle-men and eliminating the high cost of doing business downtown.

We can't expect to picture the big service we offer you in a printed advertisement. Our best advertisement is at our whole-sale plant—in the rich and ex-haustive stock of woolens we have ready for you at before-the-war prices.

In justice to yourself—investi-gate. A three blocks walk down here will show you why the Royal Tiger is leaping ahead, in spite of all market obstacles, to the greatest tai-loring business Chicago has ever known.

It's just three blocks walk—from the Loop to Tailoring Headquarters

DOUGHBOYS GIVE FRANC APIECE TO FLOWER GRAVES

Belleau Wood Violets Inspire Paris Civilians to Action, Too.

BY SPEARMAN LEWIS.
[By Special Cable.]

[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

PARIS, May 25.—"The violets that bloom in Belleau wood" will carpet the graves of 70,000 American dead in France on Decoration day.

All the violets will not be from Belleau wood, perhaps, but that is the inspiration a little story of the Paris edition of THE TRIBUNE cabled to the United States gave to Americans in France.

It mentioned the incident in which a casual group of sailor boys and a few civilians at Belleau wood were practically the only decorators of American graves on Easter day. The story brought home as nothing else the tremendous task of organizing civilian A. E. F. coöperation on Memorial day to the end that every located A. E. F. grave in France shall have its posy on May 30.

When it became apparent that funds for purchase of the flowers were absolutely necessary, the Paris edition of THE TRIBUNE opened its columns with an appeal to the A. E. F.

That was last Monday. Today more than 1,000 francs have been received with a basket of mail yet unopened. The contributors range from four military prisoners in a distant stockade to Hotel Crillon peace commissioners.

"Don't forget a violet for my buddy who fell in the Argonne," is an example of the sentiment expressed in the letters.

Ambassador Wallace is honorary chairman and Cleveland Cox secretary of the civilian committee of Paris.

WOMEN WHO LOST SONS ARE HOSTS TO THE WOUNDED

Thirty wounded soldiers from general hospital No. 32, Drexel boulevard and Forty-seventh street, will be the guests of the Gold Star Mothers' bazaar today at the coliseum.

Sixteen of the soldiers will be placed in wheel chairs and pushed about the Coliseum by Gold Star Sisters. The rest are able to walk. All will be given refreshments and smokes.

A feature of the bazaar which is attracting crowds is the show given by Great Lakes sailors. They have arranged a skit entitled "Overseas," showing the way a sailor spends his leisure hours on board a battleship.

Bryan Boosts Olivet's $600,000 Fund Drive

William Jennings Bryan while in Chicago yesterday gave a boost to Olivet institute, which begins today an intensive drive of a week for $600,000 for the purpose of erecting a plant wherein to conduct a work of Americanization, relief, and religious instruction. The director of the institute is the Rev. Norman B. Barr, who formerly was a fellow townsman of Mr. Bryan and a member of the same Presbyterian church in Lincoln, Neb.

"I am proud of the record of Olivet," Mr. Bryan said, "and I believe it ought to reach its goal of a new building and an endowment."

Dr. John Timothy Stone and Dr. C. F. Wishart were among the Presbyterian pastors who spoke yesterday in behalf of the campaign.

$15 Installs a RUUD Automatic Water Heater

Balance on Convenient Terms

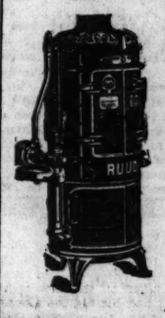

A turn of the faucet day or night, and steaming hot water, fresh and clean, pours out in unlimited quantities. No waiting. Nothing to do but turn the hot-water faucet. That's what a Ruud Water Heater does for you. That's up-to-date convenience and economy.

To have hot water any time and in any amount the moment you wish sounds extravagant. But it is not. This modern water heater doesn't run up a bill any bigger than your daily cigars or your movies.

With the exception of a tiny pilot-light, the gas burns only when you are actually drawing water. You heat only what you use. The faucet itself turns the gas on and off. That's modern efficiency.

Uncle Sam Swamped by Income Tax Returns

Buried under the mountainous mass, he fights his way out with the Elliott-Fisher System

Human hands and minds could not work fast and accurately enough. Machine speed, ease and accuracy were needed. The Internal Revenue Department selected the best there is—The Elliott-Fisher Flat Bed System of Accounting, Bookkeeping, Billing and Recording

Practically every man and woman in the United States whose income exceeded $1,000, filed a tax return on March 15th. The colossal labor of posting and checking the overwhelming mass of returns was beyond human capacity. The work absolutely had to be done by machines. The only question was which machines to use.

The U. S. Bureau of Efficiency tested several makes of bookkeeping and accounting machines under the most exacting conditions. The Elliott-Fisher Flat Bed System won out on all counts—accuracy, flexibility, speed and endurance—against all comers. One hundred Elliott-Fisher Machines were purchased and put immediately to work.

This was to be expected. For the Flat Writing Surface is the supremely convenient and adaptable way to handle one or many records at a time. And Elliott-Fisher Accounting, Bookkeeping, Billing and Recording Machines are the only System which features the Flat Bed exclusively.

What is the main business of your bookkeeping department? Is it billing or recording? Is it bookkeeping with sewed-volume journals and ledgers, or with the now quite universal loose-leaf system? Is it complex accounting or keen sales analysis work?

No matter what it is. There is an Elliott-Fisher Machine with a flat bed and attachments which will precisely fit your requirements in all work which has to do with the addition, subtraction, posting, checking, balancing or analysis of figures.

For Elliott-Fisher is not one machine, but a system which is scientifically installed and made to fit and key up to the requirements of every kind of modern bookkeeping departments, large or small, simple or complex.

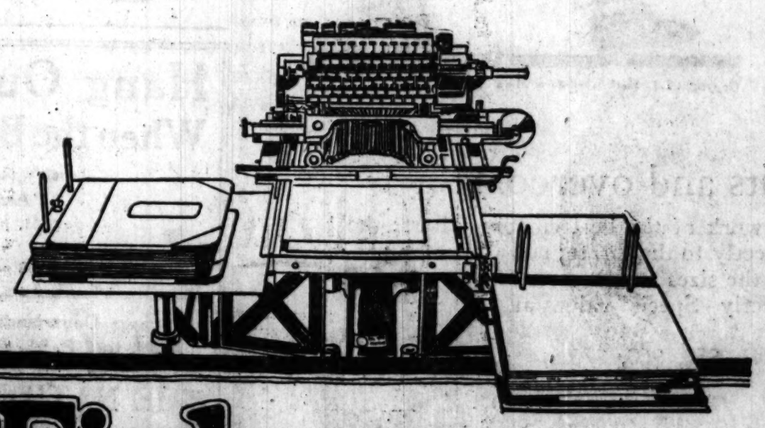

The Flat Bed System allows the forms to lie flat in a natural, spread-out position. It permits them to remain still, securely clamped in place, and ensures perfect registration of different shapes and sizes of papers up to fourteen carbons. The machine moves over the work just as the hand does when writing; it moves easily and locks safely when in place.

There is not today a single office in the United States where it would not be profitable and economical to install the Elliott-Fisher System.

Thousands of manufacturers, insurance companies, banks, railroads, wholesalers and retailers already use it and would not part with it for anything.

Phone or write today for an expert who will show you convincingly that the Elliott-Fisher System will save you time, labor and money.

WIZARD BANDITS ROB NINE UNDER NOSE OF CALIPH

Garrity in Haroun Act Takes Look About; Finds All Calm.

PREFACE.

In presenting this the Sixth Night of the revised version of the Thousand and One, the author takes this opportunity of tendering his thanks to Haroun al Raschid and his Grand Vizier. The action transpires in the immoral hours of Saturday, May 24, 1919, and is in nine episodes, with a prologue and epilogue.

The Cast of Characters.

Haroun al Raschid—John J. Garrity, chief of police.

His Grand Vizier—John H. Alcock, first deputy.

Two bandits in an automobile.

The Prologue.

MR. GARRITY, in his office, to Mr. Alcock—John, I've been hearing of a lot of holdups in the Hyde Park district of late. I fear there's laxity. Let's go out hoog tonight, make a few arrests, and show the coppers up by cleaning up the district.

MR. ALCOCK—Great idea, chief. We'll give 'em an idea of how a real policeman performs.

Episode One.

Mssrs. Garrity and Alcock motoring about Hyde Park. (Around the corner from Hopkins of 1413 East Thirty-seventh street is held up by two men in an automobile and robbed of $10 and a watch.)

Episode Two.

MR. GARRITY—A bit quiet, John.

MR. ALCOCK—Aye, aye, chief.

They pass the vicinage of Fifty-sixth and Kenwood, where Edward Donahue of 1317 University avenue and Barrett P. Spach of 1428 East Fifty-seventh street had just been relieved of their home change by the two auto gents.

Episodes 3 to 9, Inclusive.

Harry A. Colvin, 5925 Blackstone avenue, $8; E. J. Horick, of Divinity hall, University of Chicago, $6; Gregory Dillon, 5047 Grand boulevard, $; A. J. Rodgers, 975 East Sixtieth street, $; E. E. Granquist and his brother, R. A. Granquist of Hitchcock hall, University of Chicago, $11 and $6, respectively.

Epilogue.

MR. GARRITY, as their automobile nears Hyde Park for downtown—Well, John, I guess we either picked a bad night or else somebody tipped the bulls off we would be out, eh?

MR. ALCOCK—Aye, chief.

The bandits rejoiced over hanging up a new record of five holdups in eighteen minutes in the district.

SLAIN

Murdered Wife, and Husband Who Killed Her and Himself.

MRS. ELIZABETH MOSKO.
MARTIN MOSKO.
(Sanders & Gross photo.)

Five year old Milo and 2 year old Anna Mosko were orphaned yesterday when their father, Martin, killed his wife, Elizabeth, with a double barreled shotgun in their home at 5015 Kimberley avenue and then shot himself. He died two hours later.

The tragedy occurred in the living room and was witnessed by the two children. On the front porch was Paul Rizek of 4937 Elston avenue, Mrs. Mosko's brother. At the first report he ran into the house. Mrs. Mosko, shot through the head, was lying on the floor.

Mosko had taken off the shoe of his right foot and had his big toe against the trigger, with the muzzle held against his chin, when Rizek entered. The children had thrown themselves upon their mother's body and were crying.

"Good-by," said Mosko and pressed the trigger. The charge penetrated his brain.

Mosko left no note and the supposition is that he was deranged. His domestic life was happy.

CALL UPON CITY TO TAKE WALLOP AT LIVING COSTS

Robertson and Ald. Lyle Unite in Demanding Food Bureau.

Dr. John Dill Robertson, commissioner of health, and Ald. John H. Lyle of the Thirty-second ward united yesterday following a conference in issuing a signed statement demanding that Chicago take a vigorous official wallop at the high costs of living.

The specific step they urge is passage of the ordinance to create a city department of foods, markets, and farm products. To accomplish this purpose they avowedly "sink their minor differences."

They also outline changes in the pending ordinance designed to make the new department independent of action.

Show Family Budget.

The complete statement is as follows:

"The average family budget of expenditures in New York City and Chicago," the statement reads, "is made up as follows:

	Per cent.
Rent, light, and fuel	23.4
Clothing	14.6
Carfare and health	4.8
Household supplies, insurance, and sundries	8.8
Food (including ice)	48.4
	100.00

"From these statistics it is easy to see the high cost of living is largely a food problem.

"Since the average family spends annually 48.4 per cent of its income for food, and since that expenditure in Chicago this year will total more than $340,000,000, any department the city council may create which can work out measures whereby food can be had in adequate quantities at lower prices will prove a boon to the 3,000,000 citizens of Chicago. It will help lift the heavy burden placed upon the citizens by the increased cost of living.

How the Prices Climbed.

"The steady increase in prices is illustrated by the following comparisons on the same dates of the respective years:

	1913.	1914.	1916.	1917.	1918.	1919.
Sirloin steak	24.7c	26.3c	29.7c	37.6c	37.3c	40c
Round steak	21.4c	23.4c	26.5c	34.3c	34.1c	40c
Eggs, per dozen	39.8c	35.8c	49.6c	55.9c	67.7c	72c
Lard, per pound	15c	15.1c	30.9c	33.2c	32.7c	42c
Milk, per quart	8c	8c	11.9c	12.9c	14c	15c
Sugar, per pound	5.1c	5.7c	8.5c	10c	10.6c	11c
Flour, per pound	2.9c	3.4c	6.4c	6.4c	6.3c	9c

"Fruits and vegetables in some instances have doubled in price. Fluctuations make comparisons almost impossible.

"In the last five months, when poultry has been reported scarce and hens were bringing 48c a pound retail, tons of poultry have been held in cold storage.

Urge Food Bureau.

"Establishment of a department of foods, markets, and farm products is the most important thing pending before the city council.

"The United States department of markets on June 5, 1916, in its survey of marketing activities reported Illinois as one of the eleven states, including Utah, Nevada, New Mexico, South Dakota, and Florida, which had not established a regulatory or investigatorial work in marketing of foods and farm products. Since then, although some of the other states have done so, Illinois has passed no law of this nature.

"Chicago, larger in population than any one of thirty-seven states we might name, has nothing more formidable than a market master on West Randolph street, whose duty it is to see teams are properly parked and to collect 10 cents a wagon as a parking charge.

Of Vital Importance.

"We believe the passage of this foods, markets, and farm products ordinance is of vital importance.

"Laying aside our difference of opinion in minor matters, we will unite our efforts to pass the ordinance with the following substantial change:

"The commissioner of foods, markets, and farm products should be a well paid expert, experienced in production, transportation, and marketing of food supplies, selected by a special civil service examination, and should be a deputy commissioner of health. Although a part of the health department, the commissioner should have a separate departmental staff and employes selected in accordance with the civil service law.

They Will Join Hands.

"These amendments will be presented at the next meeting of the health committee and we will join hands in our efforts to obtain a recommendation of this needed legislation.

"Owing to public interest in the reduction of the high cost of foods and reformation in the systems of marketing—particularly milk—a mass meeting, to give information about these matters and conditions, will be held in a downtown theater, date and place to be announced later."

FALLS DOWN STAIRS, DIES.

Matthais Schlick, 68, died yesterday of a skull fracture sustained in the morning when he fell down a flight of stairs in his home at 541 Garfield avenue. He was alone in the house and was discovered lying unconscious by his daughter Alice when she returned from a party.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

Cool Awnings, Cheery Cretonnes, Bright China

EVEN the veranda where the west sun comes can be made a cool, green bower with Vudor porch shades, and gay green-and-white awnings. A table of fiber or reed, a Porto Rican Tea cloth, a gingham-covered, reed-framed tray, colored glass sandwich plates, tumblers of cooling drinks—and what man or woman could fail to find the comfort and happiness that Summer should bring? The suggestions which follow do not begin to picture the charm of the displays.

Awnings to Order—Porch Shades Awnings must fit and serve well—you cannot afford to have any but experienced people take the measures and make them. We shall be pleased to send a man at your request. Vudor Porch Shades are here in charming colors and transform the city porch into a cool, outdoor pavilion, or an ideal living or sleeping room. Fifth Floor

"Who Does Not Learn His A B C— forever must a blockhead be" is one of three quaint inscriptions in the Child's Room of the Summer Home Furnishing Suite on the Eighth Floor. It is a cool, sweet room with pink hangings and diminutive furniture—Mothers visit it every day. Eighth Floor

Old Gardens and Sun Dials "Some starlit garden gray with dew" could be enjoyed right in the city's environs, when one has made acquaintance with—and selection from—the Garden Furniture offered here: cool gray cement Benches, Bird-baths, Sun Dials on cement or polychrome bases, as well as lovely cream-glazed Rose Bowls, so like Wedgwood, attractively priced at $2.25. Second Floor

Iced Tea Sets Colored Glass The tinkle of chopped ice against the sides of any of these Glass Sets will prove as inviting a sound on a hot day as the Sets themselves will prove decorative and useful. There is a great variety of designs and shapes, the "crackled ice" effect being especially good. Priced at $5 for the Set of Glass Pitcher and Six Tumblers. Second Floor

Color-tipped Glass Spoons Almost surprising that so little a thing as a glass-stemmed Spoon, with colored bowl and wee colored knob, can change the drabness of every-day service into a gala tea! Here are Spoons for iced drinks and deserts, with colored trimmings of red, orange, lemon yellow or blue, priced at 25c and 30c! Second Floor

I-gu-sa Rush Rugs Quite reminiscent of quaint oval and round braided Rugs of our grandmothers' time, these natural color rush Rugs are ideal for city and country porches, and living rooms and halls in country cottages. Size 4.6x4.6, special, $2.75; size 6x6, special, $5; oval 9x12, $15. These are values we could not duplicate if we had to buy them now. Third Floor

"The young corn is green, . . .
Where the rabbits run,
It's blue sky, and white clouds,
And warm rain and sun."

Here Are Hot Weather Aids to a Cool Hostess

NONE of the joys of entertaining need be sacrified if a woman recognizes what science has done to lighten housework and cooking in Summer. Family and friends can be served with toast and even broiled chops or a small steak, eggs can be poached, water for tea boiled, all on one Electric Grill, priced at $9.50! Almost every floor of this Store has some hot weather comfort for your consideration.

Puffy Cretonne Pillows—$1.50 Imagine finding a well-filled Pillow attractively covered with bright cretonnes, at $1.50! Or—at the same price—modern decorative patterns and colorings in silk-and-cotton covered Pillows. These are charming for use in breakfast rooms, verandas and hammocks. Little wood Sticks topped with queer little birds' heads and felt wings are designed to train the feeble first shoots of the Spring vegetable garden in the right direction. These are 40c. Third Floor

Lightweight Dimity Bed Sets, $3.50 Don't you recall the cool charm of certain guest rooms with their beds covered with such simple white Spreads? The best part of these is their simplicity, but very close to this is their easy-to-launder quality, which makes no trouble of the frequent tubbings so necessary in Summer cottages. With Bolster Covers to match, with both Spread and Cover edged with scallops, these come: 72x90, $3.50; 80x90, $4; 90x100, $4.50. Second Floor

"Victory" Sets for Breakfast Rooms—$3.50 You will find these Sets exclusively with this Store. They are decorated very smartly on "sanitos" washable cloth, and one has choice of four styles. Each Set contains five pieces. Baskets of great beauty—flat sandwich styles, deep rounded shapes—a great variety—are painted effectively and have handles ornamented with luscious-looking fruits or charming flowers. $5.75 and up. See the painted Waste Baskets, too. Fancy Goods, Third Floor

A Khaki House for $99! Imagine a little one-room house, with a peaked roof, four walls, a raised, board floor, open on all sides, provided with netting, all ready to set up somewhere on the lake shore, for $99! You will see the style by a visit to the Eighth Floor Furniture Section. Duplicate orders require about ten days' time. Eighth Floor

Practical Linens

Summer Home, Vacation and Country Life Comforts

HAVE you ever wished for a change of scene? ever become a bit tired of the solidity of town furnishings and wished for the sun-bathed, breeze-tossed expanses of your friends' country estates? Do you really have to live with thick rugs and heavy hangings, velvet-covered chairs and dark woodwork, or have you simply forgotten that cretonne and awnings, gay pillows and bright dishes can do a powerful lot toward bringing the country into town?

This Store cannot let you forget. It knows how good for work- and socially-wearied people a garden is, with a white arbor and a brilliant green and red parrakeet to swing in the breezes. It knows that iced cocoa served from a crackled glass pitcher in tall tumblers, against which brilliant-topped glass spoons tinkle, is a cure for most of a business day's ills.

Just the Things You Need for Motor Picnics, Vacation Jaunts and Full Enjoyment of Summer Life

This Store's purpose is to enable you to get the most out of life. For $99 you can have a khaki house to set up in the country or at the Dunes; for $5 you can have a 6x6 rush grass rug, cooling to see, sturdy and thick and charming for veranda, sun room or country hall. But there are so many other delightful aids to pleasant living that—when you have seen them in the special displays arranged throughout the Store this week—you will wonder how you ever got along without the most of them.

A Whole World of New Clothes

The Summer world, that is, with its totally different demands upon the wardrobe. Bathing days and riding trips, lazy canoeing hours and smart tea-times sweep in with the near approach of June. White shoes for the tennis courts, sweaters for those exhilarating afternoons at sailing when the great white sheet spread against a blue sky challenges every woman to don a brilliant costume and look her best.

White Suits · Tubable Frocks · Sweaters · Riding Clothes
Bathing Costumes and Accessories · Gay Parasols · Millinery · White Shoes
Linen Suits · Motor and Dust Coats · Middies and Smocks
White Skirts · Sheer Blouses · Garden Outfits

These are to be found for women and misses on the Sixth Floor, and in equally interesting assortment—for children—on the Fourth Floor.

Gay Painted Furniture, Lawn Canopies, Beach Chairs

NEARLY everybody—whether he stays in town or goes to the country—has a stretch of green grass or a veranda which can be transformed for Summer living into a pleasanter place, by a very small investment. Here are wood Benches, Swings, Rockers, lovely white painted Arbors, all ready to set out into your garden. You will find it very pleasant to spend a few hours viewing the new Reed, Fiber and Willow Furniture, and the great varieties of Swings, too.

Reclining Chairs—Metal Tea Tables Even a small lawn could gain in charm by one of these fresh, green-painted metal Tea Tables, from the center of which a generous-sized canvas sunshade extends. The Tables are $20, the Canopies, $15.75. Reclining Chairs, of rattan, with broad, restful arms, ideal to set up on the beach if you live nearby—bring lots of comfort at modest cost. Eighth Floor

A Country House on One Floor Properly arranged with all the charming comforts which have been evolved to help people live happy lives, this attracts visitors daily to the Eighth Floor. Here the bright painted Breakfast Room Furniture, the luxuriously appointed new versions of Reed Furniture, gilded or painted, original devices in charming lighting effects, wise selections of bright bits of Chinese glaze to lend color accent to the rooms, are their own best testimonials of the charm they bring you. Eighth Floor

A Brown Reed Muffin Stand, $9—Swings To serve on veranda, in living room, or at the lawn tea, this little convenience recommends itself. Swings in great assortment—canvas, fiber, rattan—on standards or to suspend from chains, are other ways to enjoy Summer and vacation days, no matter where one spends them. Eighth Floor

Gaily Painted Breakfast Furniture The quaintest little corner cupboards—which seem to have been descended from several generations ago—charming, drop-leaf tables and chairs are here in cool grays and white, in dark blue, soft green and cream color, painted gaily with fruits, or with contrasting borders. These are perfectly delightful for city apartment use in sun rooms, for breakfast rooms in country houses and for cottage dining rooms. Eighth Floor

A Glorified Palm Leaf Fan This is the most sophisticated of Palm Leaf Fans. It is painted a glossy and beautiful green—or you may choose it in yellow—and is bound about with ribbon of rose color. Its stem is wound with the ribbon and a cluster of ribbon-made fruits or flowers adds further enhancement. In the Fan Section. First Floor

Tea Tables Dot the Second Floor Wicker Tables, handsome and practical linens, bright china, colored glassware—you have only to wander through the Second Floor Sections to have presented to you a host of ideas for the introduction of additional charm in Summer living. The colored glass Dessert or Salad Plates can be chosen from $7.50 to $45 a dozen; at $18 a Set of Six Glasses, Pitcher and Cake Plate is offered, most charming with its pink, bead-like, and ring decorations. Second Floor

"It's song to a man's soul, . . .
Fire to a man's brain,
To hear the wild bees
And see the merry spring again."

Comforts to Accompany Motor Tourists

SOON the long roadways will be calling to all lovers of the country to follow them far and away. But the Motor Utilities Section in The Store for Men should be visited first. It offers in a few minutes' inspection ideas for the touring comfort of the entire family; a score of aids to gypsying joys.

"Dinner Ready" when you arrive" is the cheering message the Fireless Cookers bring. Imagine the long drive, the exhilarating appetite—creating atmosphere, and then, at the moment you make camp, delectable foods all ready to serve! Baskets of wood and rattan, with linings of zinc and interlinings of felt, keep sandwiches and other packed lunches from drying on long journeys. Price, $8.75. The Store for Men

Specialty Clothes—Fishing Days Reels, Rods, Flies and Bait Boxes beckon the fisherman to the fascinating arrays spread out for his attention now on the Fifth Floor of The Store for Men. Sweaters, light flannel Trousers, white Shoes, Golf Clothes, things to wear and things to make the Summer more enjoyable—are ready for your visit on practically every floor of The Store for Men.

Luncheon Sets at $12 Spoons, forks, knives, cups, plates, napkins, two thermos bottles, even at this lowest price all these necessary articles are included. As prices increase, the equipment becomes more extensive and luxurious. Other Sets, all packed in suitable boxes for carrying on running boards, are here offered, up to $70. The Store for Men

A Motor Crib for Baby Just one of the helps you will see, made of khaki cloth, to swing from the robe rail of the tonneau. It is readily attached; collapsible. Refrigerators to carry on the running board, gasoline stoves for the wayside camp, folding iron chairs, either with or without backs, are other aids to motor and touring comfort. The Store for Men

5,000 PROTEST WILSON PLAN TO SAVE WINE, BEER

Cheer W. J. Bryan as He Scores President for Liquor Plea.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

Every one of the 5,000 persons present yesterday afternoon in the Medinah temple stood when William Jennings Bryan put the question to them whether they would authorize sending a protest to Washington against lifting the ban on wine and beer in opposition to President Wilson's request to congress.

After an appeal to every one who was in favor of congress passing efficient legislation for enforcing the prohibition amendment, to hold up his right hand, brought a unanimous vote. Mr. Bryan's outspoken criticism of President Wilson was greeted with an outburst of yells and prolonged applause. At one time a man called out "That's the stuff."

Wilson Cannot Change It.

"I haven't any idea the war prohibition measure is going to be repealed," Mr. Bryan said. "I am sorry the president recommended to congress the repeal, but this will not change the situation.

"When we elect a president he is the servant of the people, and when he tells us to do anything which we do not approve it is our privilege to differ with him.

"The president doesn't know any more about the question of the saloon than other people do. On diplomatic matters we may assume the president knows more than ordinary persons, but on the question of the saloon a mother with a drunken son knows more than he does.

Law Does Not Sober Men.

"Let a Republican congress repeal the law if it dares. I don't believe it will. A Republican congress passed the Webb-Kenyon anti-liquor law over the veto of a Republican president, and it is not likely a Republican congress will repeal an anti-liquor law at the request of a Democratic president.

"The distinction between wine and beer on one side and whisky on the other side is not new or sound. When the matter was put up to congress it will have nothing to do with it. There is not a state which has voted in favor of wine and beer when a separate vote has been asked. It is an old question and can be considered a settled issue.

"Amendments do not enforce laws; it takes additional law. Rhode Island is in favor of a law defining beer containing 4 per cent of alcohol as nonintoxicating. Intoxication is not a matter of law but of fact. If a man gets drunk he can't get sober by reading the law.

Want 'Real Enforcement Law.'

"Our chief difficulty in fighting liquor up to the present has been that we have been fighting great combinations of capital. Now we will have only individuals to fight. We can't have a national association of bootleggers. They will be on the run so fast they won't have a chance to coöperate.

"We want men to enforce the law who believe in the law and not men who have been elected by the violators of the law. We are going to have a real enforcement law."

It was at this point Mr. Bryan called for a show of hands on the part of those who believed in having "a dry law and a right law." The unanimous vote called out the statement: "If Chicago votes this way who else will the liquor men look to for support?"

DAMPER ON WETS.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—A poll of congress made by THE TRIBUNE today indicates overwhelming sentiment against repealing the war time prohibition act insofar as it relates to wine and beer, as recommended by the president.

It, therefore, appears certain that the country will become dry July 1, and will remain so until the "conclusion of the war" and the "termination of demobilization."

The results of THE TRIBUNE's poll follow:

SENATE: For repeal, 20; against repeal, 34; noncommittal, 31.

HOUSE: For repeal, 110; against repeal, 216; noncommittal, 89.

Views of Midwest Men.

To the question, "Do you favor repeal of the war time prohibition act insofar as it relates to wine and beer?" midwestern senators and Illinois representatives answered as follows:

SENATORS: No, Cummins, Iowa; Newberry and Townsend, Michigan; Sherman, Illinois; Weston, Indiana. Noncommittal: Nelson, Minnesota; McCormick, Illinois.

REPRESENTATIVES: Illinois—Yes: John W. Rainey, Adolph J. Sabath, James McAndrews, Thomas Gallagher, Democrats; Fred A. Britten, William J. Rodenberg, Republicans. No: Richard Yates, Edward J. King, William B. McKinley, John C. McKenzie, Thomas S. Williams, Republicans; Henry T. Rainey, Democrat. Noncommittal: Niels Juul, Carl R. Chindblom, E. B. Brooks, Ira C. Copley, Charles E. Fuller, Clifford Ireland, Joseph G. Cannon, Loren E. Wheeler, William E. Mason, Republicans.

Morals Chiefs Have Busy Week-End of Raiding

Idleness breeds mischief. Consequently on Saturday night and Sunday, when the boys and girls are recreating, Morals Inspector Richard Jackson and Lieut. William Baldwin go to work. They raided seven flats charged with being disorderly, five saloons found violating the Sunday closing law.

"SUNSHINE"

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

AMONG other refreshing properties of "Sunshine" is the absence from its cast of the monotonous parade of the changeless celebrities of musical comedy.

The players in the new opera at the Princess are nearly all agreeable obscurities, competent at song and dance, but as yet unblemished by too much reputation. To those who like a furlough now and then from the tedious personnel of comedy with music, "Sunshine" will be a pleasant goal.

For example, you may be unaware of Miss Jane Richardson, the youthful prima donna of the entertainment. Yet she is modest, unaffected, birdlike as to larynx, a capable actress, and not too pretty. She would shine as a good deed in many a naughtier and more pretentious extravaganza. To the accompaniment of quite the best band that has been heard in a theater this season, she sings the mannerly ballads of the score, which, by the way, are far above the standard, both in verse and melody.

But, though the company in "Sunshine" is novel, the play itself has its old fashioned qualities. Spain is its habitat, the red and yellow Spain of the scene painter; and it contains all the routine of Spanish romance from smugglers to bull fighters, save castanets. Miss Richardson is a juvenile evader of the customs, employed by her grandfather, an ancient culprit, and David Quixano in the black velvet and red sash of the matador is her sweetheart. When exposure threatens, David takes the blame for the contraband tobaccos and cigars, and the police bear him off at the end of the first act in one of those old time "Sieze Him" finales. The tale, while thus prescribed and regular, is never irksome, and even if it were, it would be saved by good music, good clothes, an excellent chorus, and the alert manner of its presentation.

As in "Fiddlers Three," a similar output of "Sunshine's" authors, Messrs. Duncan and Johnstone, a windy American tourist is present—a life insurance agent in this case—played by Harry Short, another of the unidentified. Mr. Short does very well with the gusty lingo of a rôle which yearns for Richard Carle. He and Miss Gertrude Alexander, a good looking young woman with a passion for the letter "r," have a long scene in the second act, which might be made merrier though briefer. There is also comic dancing by the Murdocks, Paul and Lew, and Edgar Norton, the one familiar figure, plays his familiar role.

A superior chorus of graceful and well behaved young women dances frequently in "Sunshine," and dances better than any chorus I have seen this year, either here or in foreign parts. It not only dances well, but its director, Robert Marks, another unknown, has provided it with new, harmonious, and easy movements. A dozen of the twenty songs in the piece are popular, the favorite of them being "Love Is Like this Little Wheel of Mine," sung by Miss Richardson in a pair of daringly torn pantaloons in the first act.

"IT DOESN'T PAY," SAYS WIFE; GOES BACK TO HUSBAND

Mrs. Ernest Burman's triangle has dissolved. Last night the police arrested Samuel Galiotto and today she will go with her husband to a cemetery to bury their 4 year old son, Robert, who died Saturday.

Five weeks ago Mrs. Burman left her husband's home at 902 South Lincoln street, taking her two children and most of the furniture. With Galiotto, whom she met in a west side dance hall, she opened a new home at 916 Townsend street and tried to forget her husband.

Burman searched the neighborhood for his wife and children, and failing to find them went to live at 1016 South Lincoln street. Yesterday morning there was a tap at his door. He opened it and found his wife.

"Robert's dead. I've come back to ask you to help me bury him," she said.

Burman went with his wife to her new home. In one room was Galiotto. In another lay the body of Burman's child. Burman walked from the house, summoned Detective Sergeants Quinn and Baynes, and had Galiotto arrested.

Today they will bury Robert. Tonight Ernest and his wife are going to take up their home life at the old address.

"It doesn't pay," Mrs. Burman told the detectives. "A wife doesn't realize the worth of her husband until she needs a real friend."

SEE FOURTH RACE FOR BRYAN; DUE TO WAR ON BEER

Looms as Snag in Plans of Democrats to Win Back the West.

Homer S. Cummings, new chairman of the Democratic national committee, and his press bureau will arrive in Chicago tomorrow to set in motion a campaign to win back to the Democratic party the midwest and the states on the other side of the Rocky mountains.

HOMER S. CUMMINGS

While the ostensible purpose of the national chairman's first official visit to Chicago is to attend the two day conference of the national committee and the women's auxiliary, it became known yesterday that it is only the ice breaker in an elaborate program that opens the Democratic presidential campaign for 1920.

Following the Chicago conferences this week the flower of the Democratic committee's press bureau personnel will accompany Chairman Cummings on a swing across the prairie states and up and down the Pacific coast.

Find West "in a Bad Way."

They plan to light the Democratic fires all over the western section of the country and to inaugurate a nation-wide publicity movement intended to acquaint the country with the "achievements" of the Wilson administration.

It is the notion of the Cummings entourage that things are in a bad way out here in the west. Opposition to the leage of nations covenant as drawn and the inability of the country in the prairie and mountain districts to get the real news of what is being done at the peace conference have resulted, according to their reports, in a widespread criticism of the administration.

Liquor Issue a Snag.

An unforseen snag in the roadway, which has developed since the conferences were first arranged, is the row started by President Wilson's pro-wine and pro-light beer recommendation to the new congress.

An augury of what is in store for the president's supporters on the wine and beer pronouncement w as evi- and been pronouncement was evi- at Medinah temple where William Jennings Bryan was the principal speaker.

Some significance, in this connection, was attached to Mr. Bryan's criticism of President Wilson. Some professed to see in his statements that the president should be the servant of the people the possible launching of a nation-wide prohibition movement to make Bryan the Democratic nominee for president on a platform of bone-dryness and the explicit pledge to use the full power of the government to enforce the prohibition amendment to the constitution.

Scouts just in from Washington reported yesterday that the understanding there was that President Wilson would not seek a third term, and that the Democrats' field was wide open.

Cabinet Members to Speak.

Up to the time that President Wilson sent his message to congress the scouts report, Bryan was little thought of as a possible starter next year. But since the reaction to the wine and beer recommendation has irrupted violently in nearly all the dry states and Bryan has been shoved out in front as the main spokesman for the protest the prognosticators appear to think it not improbable that the Nebraskan may yet take his fourth fling at the presidency.

However, Chairman Cummings and his well equipped publicity bureau will be here tomorrow and will go ahead with the general program. To give the opening of the campaign national significance and approval direct from Washington, Secretary of the Treasury Glass and Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer will be the star orators at the big banquet Thursday night at the Congress hotel.

I. W. A. C. WILL HAVE OWN BANK IN CLUBHOUSE

Woman's muscles and money, the things physical and fiscal as it were, are to be developed to bulging proportions in the new home of the Illinois Women's Athletic club according to an announcement made yesterday by Mrs. William Severin, the president. A $100,000 site at the north end of the boulevard link has been purchased for a $600,000 clubhouse, according to Mrs. Severin.

But while the dear things are wearing away their rolls of avoirdupois in the gym upstairs, their bank rolls will be growing on the first floor, a condition that never spoiled a woman's peace of mind, for a loan and savings bank handling real estate, insurance and a general brokerage business is to be a part of the clubhouse scheme. So handy 'neverything, you know!

The location picked for the new home, according to Mrs. Severin, is at Tower court, Pearson and Rush streets. There will be a 60 foot front on Tower, 224 feet on Rush, and 80 on Pearson. The structure will cost, says Mrs. Severin, at least $600,000. Of course, with burglar proof vaults, it may come to more than that.

Olsen to Take Old Job in Shermerville Bank

Gustave A. Olsen, cashier of the Shermerville, Ill., State bank, who accidentally shot himself last Thursday while examiners were going over the books of the bank, will be given his position back when he is able to leave Evanston hospital, according to Fred Thies, a director of the bank.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

THE TRIBUNE of yesterday said city detectives had failed to arrest Roland M. Yost, forger, who was sentenced to Leavenworth on Saturday by Judge Landis. The fact is, Detective Sergeants Joseph P. Cahill and Thomas Lynch of the Warren avenue station arrested Yost last Friday night, questioned him, learned he was wanted by the federal authorities, and turned him over to the postal inspectors.

Widow's Suitor Seized for Robbing Her Home

Frank McKenna courted the Widow Benson. A week ago the widow, Anna, departed for Woodstock to visit relatives. On Wednesday Frank, who lives at 2519 North Halsted street, was arrested, and in his pockets were found four diamond rings. Yesterday the Widow Benson, 545 Vedder street, reported to the police her home had been robbed and four rings stolen.

They showed her Frank and the rings. She identified both.

Carl Moretti, 1104 Sedgwick street, arrested with McKenna, had a $100 watch in his possession. Jacob Bauman, 1352 Bissell street, identified it as one taken from him by holdup men last September.

Dill Pickles Asked to Ante for Pinched Poet

Ben Reitman returned to the Dill Pickle club in Tooker court last night long enough to ask for subscriptions to get Bert Weber, Dill Pickle poet, out of the bridewell.

RUSSIAN SOVIET AGENTS ARGUE THE CAUSE HERE

Representatives of the Russian soviet government brought their message to Chicago yesterday in a luncheon meeting at the Morrison hotel. L. M. Martens, representing the Lenine-Trotzky administration, and S. Norteva of the Russian information bureau, were the speakers. Mrs. William Bross Lloyd presided.

Mingling with representatives of firms which the soviet envoys hope to interest in trade with the Russian government were co-ed and male "radicals" of the University of Chicago, representatives of labor organizations, and Socialistic groups.

Martens, speaking but little English, was aided by Norteva, who stuck to general statements, with the exception of the allegation that more than 10,000 Socialists had been killed by the Mannerheim government of Finland following the internal disorder.

He declared that the league of nations is outlined for the specific purpose of overthrowing the Russian government.

Lieut. Willard Malone and twenty-five detective sergeants and patrolmen were rushed to the Old Style Inn hall at West Division street and North California avenune late last night when notified that 4,000 persons were trying to crowd into the hall where a meeting of Russians was being held. They found the meeting in fairly good order, however, with the exception that twice as many persons were trying to get in the hall as it would hold. The extra enthusiasts were ejected and the meeting continued quietly.

ONLY 22 COUNCIL VOTES CERTAIN FOR "SOLID SIX"

Mayor's Friends May Postpone Action on Trustees.

Political seers predicted last night that there is some hard sledding for Mayor Thompson's eleven school board appointments, including the "solid six," when the slate is submitted to the council today. Only twenty-two votes were assured for the mayor's slate. Thirty-six votes are needed.

In the face of the claims of the mayor's sleuths of forty pledged votes, a canvass of the council showed one of the votes claimed as openly determined to vote against confirmation of the mayor's appointments and seven undecided—officially—but intimating plainly their intention to vote against the "solid six." Even John P. Garner, one of the mayor's "own," listed himself as undecided.

One of the aldermen claimed by the mayor's forces, but listing himself as undecided, declared:

"I do not think it will come to vote tomorrow. I have an idea the mayor's crowd will get cold feet and pass it over for a week."

O'Toole Expects Delay.

Ald. O'Toole, while admitting he would vote for the "six" if it came to a vote, declared he expected a vote would be deferred for a week at least.

Meanwhile pressure was being brought to bear from various quarters to "line up" the council for the "solid six."

A delegation of stationary engineers, headed by an engineer employed in the Moras school, made the rounds, urging aldermen to support the mayor's appointments. Delegations of teachers also visited aldermen believed to be wavering.

There were numerous powwows throughout the day—some lasting late into the night.

Sullivan Denies Taking a Hand.

Rumors that the Sullivan Democrats would refuse to "go along with" the mayor's appointments persisted.

"Mr. Sullivan has no interest in the fight beyond that of a citizen working for the best interests of the city," a leader of the Sullivan adherents declared. This man said he would vote against the "solid six."

Roger C. Sullivan said he had "taken no interest in the contest, other than that of a public spirited citizen," and did not wish to be quoted.

A checkup revealed the following states of aldermanic mind concerning the mayor's appointments:

REPUBLICANS—For, 4; against 10; undecided, 14.

DEMOCRATS—For, 18; against, 9; undecided, 14.

This would give the mayor's appointments an initial support of twenty-two, with avowed opposition of 19 and 15 doubtful votes, a majority of which, however, have expressed disapproval of the appointments. Here's the way the lineup looked:

Drama Venture Rumors Denied by Levy Mayer

From New York comes Levy Mayer's denial of the report there that J. Ogden Armour, Julius Rosenwald, and himself are contemplating a theatrical venture.

Persistent rumors the three would buy Marc Klaw's interests in Klaw & Erlanger brought Mr. Mayer's retort, "It is a tissue of falsehoods."

Denial just as stout was given out by Mr. Armour and Mr. Rosenwald.

JAM IN SCHOOLS LAID TO NEGLECT OF THE "SOLID 6"

Failed to Make Any Levy, Cut Building Fund to Cover Error.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

The "solid six" board failed to levy any taxes for the support of the school system.

The present board made a levy. To get it through it was compelled to cut $2,100,000 out of the building fund.

When the "solid six" opened the schools in September, 1917, there were 415 pupils more than seats. When the schools opened a year later the pupils exceeded the seats by 24,391, including everything in publicly owned, rented, and movable buildings.

"This condition is making lunch room cooks out of the mothers in my ward," said Ald. John Toman yesterday. "We have 5,000 more pupils than seats, and in most of the schools the youngsters are divided into shifts. A mother who has a child in each shift is cooking breakfast, lunch, and extra lunch from 7:30 o'clock in the morning until 5 in the afternoon. She hasn't time for anything else."

He's Not for the Six.

"Are you going to vote for the six tomorrow?" was asked.

"Vote for that bunch? Not I. They are as bad on providing seats as the traction magnates. It is all guff to say they couldn't build last year because of the war. Maybe they couldn't, but you can't make me believe they could not have constructed some movable buildings or rented buildings.

"If they didn't know enough to levy taxes to operate the schools and erect needed buildings they are not fit to be school trustees. I won't vote for a bunch which didn't provide adequate facilities for the education of the children in my ward. Nothing doing—not in a year of Sundays.

"What were you asking that fool question for? I took you around to the schools in my ward two weeks ago and showed you the conditions. Why don't you tell what you saw?"

It takes a huge sum to meet the needs of the school board. The tax levy this year, passed as amended a week ago, calls for more than $25,000,000. The first, if not the most important, duty of the school board is to take the necessary action to get the taxes collected.

The new school law was passed and became effective April 20, 1917. Shortly afterward the mayor appointed the "solid six." They took possession of school affairs June 19 following and remained in control until Oct. 26, 1918, when they were ousted by the state supreme court.

Board Action Lags.

In that period it was their duty to demand of the city council the passage of the annual school tax levy ordinance. The record shows that H. H. Brackett, school auditor, sent a letter to Edwin S. Davis Dec. 5, 1917, telling him of the financial requirements of schools. It was referred to the board and no action taken. Action by the board was required to make a valid levy, the law on the point asserting that the council shall "upon the demand and under the directions of the board of education" levy the school taxes.

Instead Davis sent a letter over to the city hall requesting the council to make the levy, which was the procedure under the old school law, and the council passed a tax levy.

Then last summer the Committee of One Hundred got busy. Its purpose is to keep taxes down. The members looked up the alleged school levy and found it was illegal. They then knew they need not pay any school taxes.

Cut Out $2,100,000.

To avoid the disastrous consequences the reinstated school trustees earnestly pleaded the need of money for the children. The Committee of One Hundred insisted upon eliminating $2,100,000 from the levy for school building purposes. So the board Dec. 6, 1918, passed the formal demand for a tax levy. A friend of the administration objected to permitting it to go through the council.

"If you don't, we'll expose the incompetency of your 'solid six,'" was replied. "You have issued illegal tax anticipation warrants on your phoney tax levy. This demand of ours looks all right on its face. It saves your face. It recites we can get along with $2,100,000 less in the building fund because war prevented school building this year. It looks like an amendment to the tax levy.

"Holler if You Like."

"Holler if you want to, and then the taxdodgers will be informed. They will let the poor people pay their taxes. The big fellows won't pay. They will get an order of court preventing collection of their taxes, because the levy is illegal. But holler, if you want to."

There was no noise. The legal tax levy went through quietly and the taxes on it have been collected this year.

The mayor, in his message recommending the approval of the "solid six" at the council meeting today, says the phrase is a "title of honor" because they "stood solidly for the interests of the people aganist the sinister interests which would exploit and plunder the people."

Fine Chance to Dodge.

Their failure to pass a valid tax levy, however, gave "the sinister interests" an excellent chance to dodge taxes.

Another part of the mayor's message says in his reflection "the people by their votes approved of those ['solid six'] members of the board."

Evidently some of his subordinates put one over on "his honor," because the mayor has made too many speeches against taxdodgers to laud any one who opens the door to those who would sidestep taxes.

JACK DEMPSEY FEELS NATURE BUILT HIM TO BE CHAMPION

SAYS HE ALWAYS WANTED TO FIGHT, AND HE DID FIGHT

Likes Glory That the Title Carries, but He Likes the Money Better.

BY RAY PEARSON.

Toledo, O., May 25.—[Special.]—This big, heavily but evenly muscled boy with swarthy countenance, who on July 4 may give the world a new heavyweight champion, always was a fighter. When the Jack Dempsey of today came into existence his parents named him William Harrison Dempsey. Fighting as William Harrison Dempsey did not appeal to the man who is to face Jess Willard in a battle for the title. That's why he annexed the Jack to take the place of his own first and middle names.

A quiet little chat with Dempsey this afternoon in a corner of his clubhouse revealed much that is interesting. For instance, Jack, in telling that he always was a fighter, offered proof in the form of a declaration by his parents that he was the scrappiest baby they ever had in the family.

Likes Game and the Money.

"My father and mother often told me I always wanted to fight, so I guess starting out that way determined the career that I was to follow," Jack said.

"I'm fighting today for two reasons. The principal reason is that I like to fight; it seems to be inborn. Another reason is that I'm just about like all other folks, I like the money, and the boxing game has opened the way for me to gain wealth.

"Of course, there is that thing they call glory. To be a champion, of course, is a mighty nice thing. People will look up to a man and say as he passes down the street: 'There goes So-and-So, the world's heavyweight champion.'

"But what is a champion, any way? He's just a human being, like any other fellow. Perhaps he has been gifted with a physique that gives him an advantage over most other men. Perhaps this man may have been gifted, too, with a quick thinking and reliable brain, to help use his superior physique."

Jack Surely Is Confident.

But let it be understood that Jack Dempsey is not considering as paramount the glory that goes with winning the greatest honor in pugilism. "Of course, I would be proud to hold the championship, and please don't hold me boastful when I tell you that I expect to accomplish that achievement on July 4."

"Why should I be so confident? Well, haven't I told you some men are gifted with the stuff that gives them an advantage over others? Then figure out for yourself why I am in the position I am in today in pugilism.

"As for the glory end of it, you can put me down as a human being, with much to gain in a financial way, as well as the honor that is bestowed on a champion. As a champion I feel sure I won't feel any less human than I do today, and I'm sure I won't act otherwise."

Boxed With Brother First.

Going back to the early days of Dempsey's fighting life presents an interesting little story. Jack attended a grammar school in Colorado at the same time he took a grammar school course in boxing. His older brother, who had some of the fighting instinct, also was a boxer, and the two Dempsey kids used to don the mitts and wallop away at each other in long sessions after school was out.

But Jack's brother, whose name was Don Bernard Dempsey, strangely enough annexed Jack for a fighting name to take the place of Don Bernard. They had read of the notable bouts of the Jack Dempsey of many years ago, "The Nonpareil." And so that name proved acceptable.

Gets Plenty of Fighting.

Jack wasn't any more than 7 or 8 years old when he put on the gloves to spar with his brother, an age at which few kids know there is such a game as boxing. But Dempsey had plenty of fighting after that. It was the kind for which there is no gate, no purse, the only reward being a possible bloody nose.

But after grammar school there was work to be done, and so Kid Dempsey started to work in the mines of Colorado. He likes to tell about the mines. Some of them were gold mines, some silver, and others coal. The returns were not gold mine returns, but what Jack earned went home to his mother. And today Jack doesn't forget that same mother, with greater returns from his fighting.

Miners Knew Him as Fighter.

A couple of years later the Dempseys moved to West Virginia, and there he continued his mining work as well as his fighting. The underground work had given him a rugged frame and powerful fighting ability. Jack says he thinks some of the miners he knew in those days will testify that, then he grins knowingly.

Dempsey might have been the youngest professional boxer in the game if he could have had his own way. But he couldn't make any money for home consumption by fighting, and so he stuck at the job of mining.

"Well, Jack, how did you happen to engage in your fight for the money?" was asked.

"O, that makes a long story," was the answer. "Come around tomorrow and I'll tell you when we have more time."

Dempsey had two spring chickens for dinner today. They weren't large, and Jack split 'em with his training pals.

The training retinue now consists of Chief Trainer Jimmy De Forest and Sparring Partners Bill Tate, Terry Kellar, and William Doyle.

JESS WILLARD AT COAST CAMP

Champion Snapped While Waiting to Take His Place Before the Camera for Scene in Movie Production.

JESS READY AT LAST TO LEAVE COAST FOR TOLEDO CAMP

Los Angeles, Cal., May 25.—[Special.]—Jess Willard plans to leave here tomorrow for Toledo, unless there is another delay in his motion picture work. He was held up four days at Riverside waiting for the sun, and did not return to Los Angeles until last night.

Willard spent today at the studio, and efforts were made to rush through all the scenes in which he will appear.

The champion's trip to Riverside enabled him to do considerable hiking. He did light work today in the gymnasium at the Brunton studio with Jack Hemple. The preliminary work has put him in shape to start vigorous training as soon as he reaches Toledo.

DEMPSEY'S TRAINERS AND FISTIC SCRIBES STAGE A FUNNY GAME

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Toledo, O., May 25.—[Special.]—On an improvised diamond, muddy and deep with ruts, the only athletic activity of the day was staged at Jack Dempsey's Maumee Bay training camp this afternoon, although the man who expects to be labeled "Jack the Giant Killer" after July 4 did shadow box and punch the bag for a brief spell to entertain some 300 fans, who made the trip by motor car. About 100 cars were parked at the camp, and more women than men made the trip.

Spectators Not Taxed.

The visitors were permitted to watch the ball game and the stunts put on by Dempsey without charge, because the canvas curtain ordered to shut off the view of people who decline to cough up an admittance fee failed to be delivered.

The ball game was between the training camp crew and the newspaper scribes who are on the job here. The result—well, there's going to be one huge argument about that for a long time to come.

Scribes Win, of Course.

The trainers declare they won by something like 30 to 6, while the scribes state the score was 9 to 8 in their favor. No two scorekeepers could show the same score, in fact, they were a bit weak in the mathematical end of the game. But here's the score turned in by one:

Trainers	6	0	0	0	0	1	1	1—8	18	9
Scribes	2	3	0	0	2	0	2	2—9	19	0

ALAS AND ALACK! NOW THEY'D KILL 'LOVE' IN TENNIS

It's to Be Just "Nothing" or "Naught," if Move Here Succeeds.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

An innovation to be taken up and pushed in the seven states of the Western Lawn Tennis association district was tried out yesterday when the vocabulary of the game was pruned of the word "love" in scoring. The Chicago tennis colony takes its sport seriously, and the kidders who like to call out "Fawty—love" in piping tones will be forced to other humor hereafter.

Reginald F. Woods of the Hamilton club umpired the feature match of the day at the Sherwood club, Huron and St. Clair streets. Preceding the start he announced that "love" was deleted in the scoring and plain "naught" or "nothing" was to be used. The gallery arose en masse and cheered approval.

Old Pals Now Rivals.

The feature match was a doubles exhibition in which Ralph Burdick and Samuel Hardy defeated Walter Hayes and Charles Johnson Jr., in straight sets, 6—3, 6—1, 7—5. The appearance of Hayes and Burdick on different sides of the court gave the tennis public notice that the old Hayes-Burdick partnership, which swept through the local field to sectional, state and city championships galore in the last four years, has been dissolved.

Georgie O'Connell of South Park eliminated Otis Chatfield-Taylor of Lake Forest university, who was returned champion of the Little Five college conference Saturday.

Resume Tourney Tomorrow.

There will be no play in the Sherwood event today, singles competition being resumed tomorrow afternoon.

First round—Walter T. Hayes beat Fred Fisher, 6—4, 6—2; James Weber beat Thomas E. Beasley, 6—1, 6—4; D. E. Shaw beat A. M. Miller, 7—5, 6—2; C. E. Wilson beat W. J. McLoughlin, 6—3, 7—5; H. W. Robinson beat Leo J. Lunn, 6—2, 6—0; Fred Jaycox beat Roe Wade, 6—1, 6—1; Thomas Cochrane beat O. O. Sheline, 6—2, 6—3; W. M. Kinsel beat E. E. Carr, 6—2, 7—5.

Samuel Hardy beat R. G. England, 6—1, 6—2; H. Holbrook beat F. S. Crane, 4—6, 6—2, 6—2; G. G. Grenz, New York, beat H. Haeseler, 6—1, 6—0; L. B. Walton beat James Anderson, 6—1, 6—1; George O'Connell beat Otis Chatfield-Taylor, 6—1, 6—2; L. D. Leavitt beat R. Griffin, 6—1, 6—3; C. W. Fowler beat Lewis C. Nutter, 6—2, 3—6, 6—2.

The Chicago Public Parks Tennis association will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in the Hotel Sherman. All clubs wishing to affiliate should be represented.

GOLF NETS $250 FOR BLIND HEROES

Trigg Waller of Exmoor Country club won the annual Midlothian derby yesterday, with 155 net for the 36 hole medal play in the second day of the event. He played consistent golf with rounds of 84 and 85. One hundred and fifteen competed. The players contributed $250 to the blinded soldiers' and sailors' fund. Leading scores:

Trigg Waller, Exmoor, 169—14—155.
David Evans, Midlothian, 198—40—158.
W. H. Eaton, Midlothian, 202—44—158.
J. C. Johnson, Springfield, 186—28—158.
Ford Carter, Exmoor, 177—16—161.
W. S. Johnson, Midlothian, 217—56—161.

CHEST OF SILVER FOR JOE DAVIS

Joe Davis was guest Saturday night at a dinner to mark the twentieth anniversary of his advent into the newspaper field as golf editor of THE TRIBUNE. Golf notables, amateur and professional, and a few personal friends attended. The dean of local golf writers was presented with a chest of hammered silver in appreciation of his support of the sport. Many interesting anecdotes of early golf in Chicago were recalled.

AT LINCOLN PARK TRAPS.

Winning the shoot-off of a tie by one target, Dave Fessler yesterday won the first leg on the 1919 championship trophy of the Lincoln Park Gun club held over the new traps at the foot of Diversey boulevard. Fessler, who shot from 18 yards, tied with Fred Roets in the fifty target, distance handicap event, with a score of 48. In the shoot-off from the original distances, Fessler broke 24 targets and Roets, 23. W. J. Doyle won third place with a total of 47.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Going into the lead after the first four miles, Giacomo Clarizio, the Illinois A. C. long distance runner, yesterday won the Central A. A. U. ten mile championship run held at the Douglas park oval under auspices of the Illinois Sportsmen's club. The winner's time was 1:01:10.

Joe Stout, University of Chicago long distance star, failed to start, and none of the other athletes cared to set the pace.

The runners were bunched at the end of the first mile, but during the second mile, Mendes, Chicago Hebrew institute, took the pace and led the field for the next three miles with Clarizio in second place.

As the runners passed the four mile mark, Clarizio seized the lead, with Mendes in second place. William Schinski and Tom Chakinis of the Greek Olympic A. C. pulled away and left the rest of the trailers 100 yards farther back at the end of seven miles.

When the pistol was fired for the last mile, Clarizio had plenty of speed left. He increased his lead over Schinski and Chakinis and breasted the tape a winner by 300 yards. Half the field of twenty-two starters failed to finish.

BRICKIES TAKE SOCCER GAME, 5-0

Bricklayers handed the Irish-American soccer team a 5 to 0 setback in the last game of a double-header at Bricklayers' park, Thirty-fifth and Wentworth. In the first game the Olympias, leaders of the second division, continued their winning streak at the expense of the St. Georges, 3 to 0.

Swedish-American first team defeated the Hungarian-Americans at Winnemac and Robey, 5 to 1. In the curtain rasier the Swedish second team won from the Norwegian-Americans, 3 to 0.

Austin soccer defeated Victoria on the winner's field, 6 to 0, in the final game of the season for both teams.

QUESTIONS THEY ASK.

CHICAGO.—[To the Editor.]—1. Are there any quarries stocked with bass within ten miles of Chicago? 2. What method of angling is best to catch these quarry fish? 3. How do you account for the presence of these fish in the quarries? 4. I have heard that there are walleyed pike in Fox lake. If so, in what part of the lake? E. C.

Answers—1. None so close to town that we know of. Motor out Archer road or take the Joliet electric and you will see many quarries. Some of 'em have fish and some of 'em haven't. It's up to you to find which is which and which is whichn't. 2. This has been covered in several daily articles. If you cast, do so at night or on a cloudy day, and "snuk" up on 'em, 'cause they sure are foolish like a fox. Still fishing also gets some nice ones. 3. They were planted by the state about ten years ago, and a few were stocked by individuals many years before. 4. There are lots of big wall eyes in Fox lake, but few are caught on hook and line; anglers don't get down deep enough. Try the deep water around the island and any other deep holes you can find.

* *

Chicago.—[To the Editor.]—1. When does the fishing season open in Wisconsin? 2. Does a nonresident have to procure a license for catching small fishes? 3. Is there any closed season for pan fishes or any limit to the amount of catch? BOBBY.

Answer—1. May 29, as usual. 2. Yes; it costs $1; can be bought from Chicago tackle shops and tackle departments of the loop department stores. 3. Open season on perch, rock bass, white bass, opens May 29; no close season on bullheads. Daily limit on rock bass, thirty; no limit on other pan fishes except bullheads, which is thirty pounds daily. There are a few local exceptions to these laws.

* *

Chicago.—[To the Editor.]—What is the largest small mouthed black bass known? B. L. A.

Answer—Not counting the ones most of us have hooked and lost, the largest we have heard of was caught in Long pond, New York, and weighed eleven and one-half pounds. Specimens weighing eight pounds and better have been taken from the same waters and identified as small mouths by no less an authority than Fred Mather.

TRIPLE PLAY IS MERE SIDELIGHT IN GREAT EIGHTH

Sox Maul Mighty Walter for Two Runs After Griffs Take Lead.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

From a hectic eighth inning finish containing everything dear to fandom's heart, including a triple play, the White Sox emerged victors yesterday in their first game of the year with Washington. Score, 6 to 5.

There were other rounds besides the eighth, but they were comparatively tame, while the big session ran the baseball gamut from joy to despair and back again to delirium.

Grover Lowdermilk was given his first workout in a White Sox uniform against the Senators and had the game well in hand with the aid of three runs batted out of Jim Shaw's hide by the White Sox. In seven innings the visitors could get only two counters, and they were due to a lucky three base hit in the sixth.

That Wonderful Eighth.

As things were running smoothly up to the eighth, and all Clark Griffith's efforts to break the combination by switching hitters and new pitchers seemed doomed to failure. Then came the eighth. Menoskey opened for the Senators with a half bunt toward short and beat it out. Foster crossed the bunch with a single instead of a sacrifice.

Dick Kerr replaced Lowdermilk on the slab with two on, nobody out, and the score 3 to 2. Before he could retire the enemy they registered three runs and took the lead. Judge hit a high bounder to Gandil, who tried to handle it for a force play at second, but fumbled the ball, and the bags were full. Rice trundled a tantalizing one over second base and scored Menoskey and Foster. Gharrity walked, filling the cushions again. And still there was nobody out.

The Triple Play.

Shanks lifted a long fly to center. Felsch captured it and flung the ball home with no chance to retire Judge, who ran in from third after the pinch. Schalk cut into the throw and headed off Rice, who dared not go to third on the play. But Gharrity went down to second on it, and there were two of them trapped on one base. Risberg handed the ball to Weaver, who chased Rice back to second, compelling Gharrity to back up or perish.

The latter tried to sneak back to third, but Weaver tagged him. Rice lost his head, apparently, and tried for third again, but found Kerr covering that bag. Weaver hurled to the little pitcher, who ran Rice back to second again and tossed the ball to Collins for the third out, completing the weirdest triple play within the memory of man.

Beat Walter the Great.

The Senators had a lead of two, however, and Griffith sent Walter Johnson to the slab to hold it. Did he? He did not.

Gleason countered by putting Murphy in to bat for Kerr, and Eddie was thrown out by Johnson. Liebold then spilled a single into left and Weaver whaled one to right, causing the big plant to rock under the rooting of 25,000 fans. Collins soaked a single to right and Rice foolishly fired the ball home without a chance to stop Liebold from scoring. That peg let Weaver to third and Collins to second. Under orders Johnson passed Jackson, filling the bases and bringing up Felsch.

Hap merely pasted a liner safely to left center, scoring Weaver and Collins with the winning tallies. Gandil slammed a sharp one to Johnson for a double play and put Boss Gleason up a tree, for Cicotte, who was warming up to hold the game, wasn't ready.

Danforth Surprises 'Em.

So, after stalling as much as he could, Gleason sent Danforth to the mound, with the idea of letting him pitch to one batsman and give Cicotte a chance to loosen up. With practically nothing on the ball, Danforth disposed of Janvrin on a pop fly to Jackson. So he stuck on the slab and made Picinich and Johnson hit bounders to Risberg. Whereupon Cicotte stopped getting ready to save the game.

Singles by Schalk and Liebold and Weaver's three bagger to center scored two for the Sox in the third. Singles by Schalk and Lowdermilk and an infield out made another run in the fifth. A pass to Leonard, a triple by Foster just inside first base, and a single by Judge scored the two the Senators bagged in the sixth.

NOTES

Washington again today and tomorrow.

Guess Griffith won't pass Jackson again to bring up Felsch in the pinch.

Two open dates will follow the Washington series, and the White Sox are booked to go to Decatur to play Thursday.

There were twenty-six players in the game, including seven pitchers, and Gleason would have made it twenty-seven if the Senators had waited long enough in the ninth.

Liebold stabbed a nasty hit from Gharrity in the second inning and winged it to second base in time to stop the enemy, who thought he had an easy two bagger on it.

Gandil was on third with two out and Lowdermilk at bat in the seventh. Chick tried to steal home, but Craft, who happened to be hurling in that round, fired the ball just right to nip the tally.

With Weaver on third and one out in the third round Collins flashed a hit and run sign for a squeeze. Weaver started home, but Eddie missed the ball entirely. At that, Buck gave them such a run for his life that Judge had to come in from first base to make the out at the plate.

The Senators came close to counting in the second. Liebold muffed Picinich's fly in the sun with one out, then caught the one that Shaw hit out there. Menoskey walked. Foster slammed a single over second and Picinich tried to register on it, but Felsch's throw home, brilliantly handled by Schalk, nailed him.

MITCH SPENDING WAKEFUL NIGHTS OVER THE CUBS

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Boston, Mass., May 25.—[Special.]—Fred Mitchell has a team without any great amount of punch and his star pitching staff isn't starring. Those few words will answer in a nutshell the question everybody we meet asks: "What's the matter with the Cubs?"

In the winter and early spring forecasts, the baseball experts predicted the Cubs would be in the pennant fight because with such star pitchers as Vaughn, Alexander, Tyler, and Douglas, the team would win many games even though it lacked batting strength or punch in its attack. They predicted that almost any time the Cubs got a couple of runs, that game was theirs.

Win Two Games in Ten.

Since leaving home two weeks ago tonight, the Cubs have won just two games of ball and have lost eight. In nearly all games lost they scored at least two runs and yet couldn't win. They didn't have the punch to get four or five runs, and the big pitchers weren't making the two runs win.

Just what Manager Mitchell will do to stop the slump is hard to figure out. He's spent sleepless nights, switched his batting order, inserted bench players in place of the old regulars, and apparently has done everything in his power with what he has on hand. He can't make a man step to the plate and drive out a base hit. He can't make a pitcher strike out a batter.

New Blood Is One Solution.

There is one thing Mitchell might be able to do, and that is the same thing McGraw has done to make the Giants a winning aggregation.

He might go out an buy a couple of fellows who could put "punch" in the team's attack. However, such a thing isn't assured and isn't greatly admired by the public, outside of the New York Giant fans, who care for nothing except to win.

Mitchell confessed today that he is figuring on a deal or two, but followed his confession by stating he didn't think it would be possible to put one through. He still believes the present outfit will get into a winning stride before long, but in the meantime he's worrying because of the loss of so many games.

BACK FROM OVERSEAS, SHERROD SMITH PUTS PIRATES TO ROUT, 5-0

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 25.—Sherrod Smith of Brooklyn pitched his first game since his return from overseas and shut out Pittsburgh, 5 to 0, with three hits. He had splendid control of his crossfire ball and the Priates hit few balls to the outfield. Konetchy had nineteen putouts at first base. Score:

SO-SO SAY-SO.

THE BENEFITS OF POSTERITY.

Henry Clay railed at Andrew Jackson for being a military chieftain. This was soft for Jackson, who railed back at Clay for not being a military chieftain. But posterity was kinder to Clay. Though he missed the presidency, people are still smoking a cigar named for him. The best Jackson can boast is that people are still voting for him.

THE REWARD OF MERIT.

I have spent years in gathering news, chasing pictures and asking views, writing stories and answering phones, working alike through smiles and groans; laughing, ha ha, with the newly-wed, sorrowing over the mourners' dead—my mind a regular melting pot for all that falls to the human lot!

For these annoyances I've endured, that burn within me, still uncured; for all the anguish I've felt down here, Up There's the reward, I have no fear. For when I stand at the pearly gate to learn at last my eternal fate, and St. Peter gives my case a scan and finds I've been a newspaper man—the doors of heaven will open wide; unquestioned I shall step inside, and Peter will say, as he picks my berth:

"Pass in, you've had your hell on earth!" BERT REINEL.

GUIDE TO CHICAGO.

For the edification of thousands of summer visitors we herewith present a list of places of interest not included in the usual guide books:

Sanitary canal.	Horse hospital.

CALL AROUND, "LOOT," AND HAVE A NUT SUNDAE ON US.

We came across to fight for you and did our best each day
Until we cleaned the matter up the Yankee Doodle way.
And what did you do as we fought? You made the "Old States" dry.
You didn't give us birds a chance to vote on how or why.
And many of us feel that since you choked us off on beer,
We ought to skip the old home town and linger over here.

HOME RUNS KEEP GUNTHER CLUB ON WINNING STREAK

Romeos Import B. Hearn, but Sluggers Knock 2 Balls Out of Park.

Although the Romeos imported Bunny Hearn from Beloit to stop Gunthers, the latter continued their streak, trimming the former Boston Braves' southpaw, 8 to 5. Home runs won for Joe Benz. Tubby Jamieson smashed one out of the park with one on in the first frame. After the Romeos had tied the battle at 5 all in their seventh, Kilby decided the fracas by a terrific drive far over center field fence with two men on base in the home seventh.

Manager Charley O'Leary broke into the game in the seventh for the first time since taking the Gunther management, and was given a great reception by the overflow crowd. His sacrifice was a factor in the three run rally that broke up the game. Score:

She May Be "Smart-Aleck-y," but She's Funny!

"I'LL GET HIM YET."

Directed by Elmer Clifton.
Presented at Orchestra hall.

THE CAST.
Susy Faraday Jones .....Dorothy Gish
Bradford Warrington Jones, her dad.
.....George Fawcett
Scoop McCreedy .....Richard Barthelmess
Harold Packard .....Ralph Graves
Robert E. Hamilton .....Edward Peil
William R. Craig .....Porter Strong

By Mae Tinée.

Dorothy's clowning again!

There is a man in this town supposed to be most wondrous wise, who says he doesn't like Dorothy because he considers her too smart-Aleck-y. Well, maybe he's right, but the minx can certainly get a laugh out of me. I think she's awfully funny.

She's curled the black wig this time and the "him" she sets out to get—and does—is the young Mr. Barthelmess, whom matinée girls do adore. Like Dorothy, they would forsake father and Fifth avenue and gladly be their own general housework girl in a suburb where even the trains won't stop, were this brown eyed heart smasher the pot at the end of the rainbow. I know this to be true, because any number of the dears have told me so.

Now, Susy Faraday Jones owned about $5,000,000 worth of railroads. These had been transferred to her name by a papa, not so fond as furious at the income tax imposed upon him. And so, naturally, it devolved upon the owner to sign many papers, which bored her to tears.

Miss Susy loved a newspaper reporter. She egged him into a proposal. Blithely she sent him to tell papa, who had never yet refused her anything. Like unto the sweet old Latin rhyme:

Boyabus kissabus pretty girlorum.
Girlabus likeabus—want some morum.
Papabus comabus down the hallorum,
Kicabus boyabus out the doororum.

Anyhow, papabus kickabus Richardabus out through the door and there was Susybus with no more beauabus than a rabbitabus. But Susy was her father's own daughter and she would wed none other than her own reporter. So she called him up and told him so. But ha—listen to this:

"I will never wed a rich girl!" husked her hero and hung up on her.

Which was when Susy said the memorable words "I'll get him yet."

The balance of the picture shows Susy in action. How she gets him and what she does with him when she does get him, dished up in most amusing fashion. It's no easy matter to make your husband think you're dependent on his measley little salary when pompous officials are always turning up with mysterious papers and leaving cigaret butts behind them to point coffin nails of suspicion at a perfectly innocent young woman. If you thing it is, try it.

"I'll Get Him Yet" is farce-comedy. Cleverly presented.

REAL LOVE STORIES

An Indian Trader.

Father came to northern . . . raska as a settler, and in the years he lived there had worked up a trade with the Indians at a reservation nearby. All through the country he was known as the "Indian trader," while mamma took care of our country store.

On Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday of each week, father with his old fashioned rig called at the reservation with merchandise and traded the Indians for skins, crops, etc. Saturday was ladies' day at the reservation; that was the time when the women folks of the reservation also came out to buy, and so on that day I was allowed to accompany daddy, selling to the ladies of the reservation; we did not call them squaws, but flattered them with the refined reference as "ladies."

A young man, Fred, a salesman of a large grocery concern, who had sold to father for years, after having sponged daddy for information about the trading business, dropped salesmanship and started to compete with father as an Indian trader. Naturally he cut down father's business, for he had wholesale prices direct from the grocery concern to offer to the Indians and pap hadn't.

When he came to our store he'd been a real friend of mine, but from then on, while we met at the trading post of the reservation, we never spoke, were enemies. For four years he beat against father until father, losing out with even his old customers, took sick from worry. On top of that my mother, who had never known a sick day in her life, suddenly fell dead. The shock of it laid father up for months, so rather than lose all of father's trade, I hitched the team and went down to the post on the set days, tried to pick up the trade that was slipping from us.

When the young man saw me on the first noon of trading day, sitting up on the wagon eating my hurriedly packed lunch, he surprised me by coming over and seating himself beside me. He inquired of father, sympathized with me, and fidgeted away until I was nervous, then he came out with what was under his hat. He'd kept count of father's customers, kept tab of what they bought of him, and insisted that I accept 10 per cent commission on all sales of our customers he'd made. He felt it was fair for him to compete with father, but it wasn't fair for him to fight a woman, so he simply, without a word, some days later, dropped from the trading post and never returned to it.

The trade went back to father, and Fred bought a farm near by, settled to farming, then when an opportunity came to sell the farm at a price high above what was originally paid for it, Fred sold out—and we took a honeymoon trip to Chicago, where we've settled ever since. B. H.

Do you know a real love story—one that is stranger than fiction? It is the idea that is wanted. No attention will be paid to literary style. "The Tribune" will pay $5 for every story published. No manuscripts returned. Address Doris Blake, "The Tribune," Chicago.

Chicago Aids 16,764 Children of France

Moving pictures of the fatherless kiddies of France were shown in Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon. The movies were made in France under the personal direction of Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, chairman of the Chicago committee of the association. "Thirty-six dollars and a half is not enough for luxuries, but it prevents utter poverty," said Mrs. Brewster in commenting upon David R. Forgan's fiscal report. Mr. Forgan reported that $794,656.21 had been collected by the Chicago committee since it was organized, and that 16,764 orphans had been cared for.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Home Happy Till Piano Came.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have never come to you before, but I want your opinion on what I should do. I am 15 years old, and in the first year high school. My mother and I don't get along as well as we should. She insists on my taking music lessons. I don't care for music. It seems to me that she makes me take music for more of a punishment than for anything else. Our home was happy before we got the piano, but it is not very happy now. It seems that I cannot do anything to please her. I am thinking of joining the movies or working without my father's and mother's consent. Should I do so?

"MARIE."

O, no, dear Marie, please don't think of doing anything so foolish. You would be the most miserable little girl in the whole world. Don't you think you are just a little headstrong and willful? Think of how many girls there are who would be outrageously happy to have your chance to study music. Even though you don't like it, it is a feature of education that ought not to be neglected, so why not try to please your parents by studying? There will come a day later when you will be glad that they gave you this opportunity. Of course you are young, and you think now that having to take music lessons is a punishment, but there are many things that we must take in our youth which seem like punishment, but which turn out later to be a godsend. History and mathematics used to be perfect nightmares to me when I was in school, but I am thankful I was made to stick at it, as now I appreciate their value. You will, too, with the music, Marie, dear, even though you do not become a great player. And I think if you will make this concession to your parents you will find your whole life much happier and you will be laying another foundation stone for a sweeter charactered young woman.

Bright Sayings of Children

My little brother Jimmie was standing on the sidewalk with his pet pup when a man came along and said,

"That's a pretty nice dog you have there, sonny. What kind is it?"

"Half bulldog and half water spaniel and half cur," was the reply. V. B.

James was fond of one of his mother's friends, a girl in her twenties. One day, when he had been particularly well entertained by her, he remarked: "Aunt Margie, when I grow up I'm going to marry you." Then he looked at her thoughtfully and added: "That is, if you last long enough." E. E.

I was visiting in a little country place and was about to board the train to return when I noticed a dear little girl with tight curls close to her head, and, calling her, I asked: "Where did you get all those pretty curls?" Much annoyed, she answered: "O, dey was on me when I tumed." J. H.

Robert and Virginia were playing hide and seek, but Robert was unable to find Virginia, so he came into the house, and when his mother asked him why he had stopped playing he said: "I just can't find her, 'cause she didn't leave any tracks." L. A. C.

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

EVA: TRY MASSAGING YOUR face nightly for about ten minutes with a good cold cream or skin food. If the scaliness still persists then discontinue the use of soap for a while and use instead a mixture of oatmeal and bran. Place it in little bags made of cheese cloth about four or five inches square. Take equal parts of oatmeal and bran. Place about three tablespoons of the mixture in the bags and sew up, then put it in the water; when it becomes milky use the bags as you would a wash cloth.

SYLVIA: WHAT MAKES YOU want to spoil your beautiful hair, Sylvia, by bleaching it? You will regret it. You may not have the complexion that accompanies blonde hair. It's a bad business, at best. I have an excellent shampoo for blonde hair, which is not a bleach, and which will bring out the beautiful golden tints of it. I shall be glad to send you the formula if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

C. H. L.: IT'S A RULE THAT YOU have to send a stamped, addressed envelope for a personal reply, particularly about reducing, for those rules are too long to print. I love your blarney, old dear, but I can't break the rule. So hurry up your envelope; I'm waiting.

A Friend in Need

Sally Joy Brown

I want to be the medium through which the friend in need and the friend indeed may be brought together. It may be you have some discarded article which has outgrown its usefulness that will prove some less fortunate one happy, and you would gladly give it if you knew how to go about it. Write to me and I shall be only too happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper.

When information is wanted by mail stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send coin to "The Tribune," but write for the address of the applicant and send stamp.

Where Ignorance Abounds.

"We are trying to start a Sunday school among the children on the settlement. Of the thirty-six children I have in mind, from 12 to 13, only one can read and write. The little schoolhouse is open only one month in twelve, and, of the men, sixteen out of every hundred are illiterate." If any of your readers have any text books or pictures, I should be glad to have them in my effort to unfold the story of the cross to these little ones of the mountain whites of South Carolina. T. E.

Any one who has traveled through certain mountainous parts of the Ozarks has a vivid mental picture of the needs of the mountain folk. Books and pictures are a real blessing down there and any gift of the kind a real work of charity.

Wants Boy Scout Suit.

"I know a small boy who is a Boy Scout, but because he has to have an operation this summer and because the people are poor he will have no money at all for a Boy Scout suit. If any readers have a suit or part of a scout outfit it will be deeply appreciated. He weighs 111 pounds, his waist is 24 inches, his collar 13½ inches, and his height 5 feet 4 inches. He is 15 years old. I will gladly refund cost of express or parcel post. Parcel post would be preferable if a part of the country where I live.

M. E. F.

Tell the little boy for me that I am certain some one who has a Boy Scout outfit will write to me for his address before long.

SOCIETY and Entertainments

Fetes for June Brides to Crowd Next Few Days

This last week in May will be given over almost entirely to the entertainment of the late May and June brides, and the calendar for these happy young persons will be crowded with dinners, luncheons, teas, and breakfasts galore, in just the delightful manner which was the prerogative of every bride two years ago, but which was foresworn during wartimes.

Miss Doris Russell, in contrast to other brides of the season, has declined to have any prenuptial events. Miss Russell has been among the most active young igrls in war work, and was the able manager of the American Fund for French Wounded shop before it was closed some weeks ago. Her marriage to Lieut. Col. Richard ... Barnitz of the United States air service takes place on Wednesday.

The affairs preceding the wedding next Saturday of Miss Louise Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd B. Taylor of 200 East Pearson street, and Frederick H. Booth are contingent on the arrival in the city of the family of the bridegroom from Ottawa, Can. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have planned a dinner at the Blackstone on Wednesday evening, followed by a theater party for the bridal attendants. Other parties will be announced later.

A number of affairs have been planned for Miss Ruth Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Thompson, who will be married a week from Wednesday to Warren David Owen. This evening Mr. and Mrs. John R. Thompson III. and Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Brown will give a dinner dance at the South Shore Country club for Miss Thompson and Mr. Owen, and tomorrow Miss Thompson's aunt, Mrs. Edgar C. Frady, is giving a luncheon at the Blackstone for the bridesmaids. Wednesday Miss Philomena Becker of Glencoe will give a luncheon at the Skokie Country club; Thursday Mrs. Arthur Jones II. and Mrs. Oliver P. Kline will entertain at a luncheon at the Woman's Athletic club, and that night Miss Florence Murphy will be hostess at a dinner at her residence, 526 Deming place. Friday Mrs. Hanna Butler will give a tea at the Arts club and Saturday the bride to be will give a "trousseau tea" at the residence of her parents, 4415 Grand boulevard. Saturday evening Mr. Owen will give his bachelor dinner at the University club, and the following Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will give the bridal supper at their residence.

Members of the Junior league who expect to take an active part in Y. W. C. A. work during the coming year will be among the guests at a luncheon to be given today at the Blackstone by Mrs. Cyrus Hall McCormick for Mrs. Henry Hennen Morris of New York City. Mrs. Morris, who is a board member of the national Young Women's Christian association, will tell the guests of the program of the Y. W. C. A. for the coming year and will outline the plans of the Chicago association, which will conduct a campaign for $300,000 the week of June 2 to 7.

Furniture, rugs, jewelry, clothes, electrical appliances, groceries; in fact, almost anything one could want, will be on sale at the auction to be held today, tomorrow, Wednesday, and Thursday in a vacant store on the ground floor of the Garland building, Washington and Wabash avenues, for the benefit of the Passavant hospital building fund. Mrs. Josiah McRoberts, Mrs. Frank Hibbard, and Mrs. Orville Babcock are in charge of the auction.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Laflin will return from Princeton, N. J., tomorrow and open their Lake Forest place for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Kent Chandler will be with Mrs. Chandler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry N. Tuttle of Lake Forest, this summer. Mr. and Mrs. Chandler returned recently from the south, where they spent several weeks following Mr. Chandler's return from overseas.

Mrs. James A. Edwards and Miss Marjorie Edwards of 5244 University avenue returned yesterday from a late spring visit at the Virginia Hot Springs.

Mrs. Fletcher Durbin of 1449 Astor street is visiting friends in Philadelphia and New York City for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. De Forest Hulburd, who have been with Mrs. Hulburd's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Hessert of 602 Arlington avenue, since Mr. Hulburd's release from the naval service, will return today from a week's fishing trip in Wisconsin. They will move to their Lake Forest residence in about ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. Leverett Thompson of 20 East Schiller street returned Friday from an eastern trip and went directly to their summer place in Lake Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus K. Maxwell of 222 East Delaware place will open their residence at Lake Geneva today. Mrs. Maxwell's mother, Mrs. Jessie D. Crane of the Edgewater Beach hotel, will not go to Lake Geneva until the latter part of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Nichols and family have closed their apartment at 232 East Walton place and are in their Lake Forest residence for the summer.

Mrs. Eugene S. Pike of 1550 North State parkway has returned from Santa Barbara, Cal., where she spent the winter.

Mrs. Marshall Field III., who went to New York several days ago, returned yesterday and rejoined her husband and children at the Blackstone.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Belden have leased their apartment at 190 East Chestnut street and are at their Lake Forest residence for the summer months.

Mrs. Jacob Baur of 115 Bellevue place returned Saturday from Hot Springs, Va., where she spent a fortnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus S. Peabody of ... Lake Shore drive have returned from a week's visit in New York City.

Mrs. Arthur Dixon of 70 Scott street will open her country place at Oconomowoc, Wis., the first week in June. Her daughter, Miss Edna Dixon, who has been engaged in reconstruction work in France for several months, will probably return to America this summer unless she signs up for another six months' service.

Miss Elisabeth Ware, daughter of Mrs. Lyman Ware of 4424 Drexel boulevard, will leave tomorrow for a ... with school friends in the east.

Mrs. Thomas James Lee
Moffett Photo

Announcement is made of the marriage last Wednesday of Miss Florence Agnes Dillon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Dillon of La Grange, to Thomas James Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Lee of Berwyn. The service was read at St. Francis Xavier's church in La Grange, and the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Jean Dillon. The best man was William M. Galvin, who just returned from service with the 13th engineers in France. After a wedding journey in the east, Mr. and Mrs. Lee will spend the summer at Wauconda Lake, Wis.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. Marshall, wife of the vice president, assisted again last night at the auction sale of paintings, sculpture, and miniatures in the home of Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh for the benefit of the Salvation Army. Mr. John Barrett and Miss Janet Richards were auctioneers and a large sum was realized for the cause.

Mrs. Carter Glass, wife of the secretary of the treasury, and Miss Mary Archer Glass are in Lynchburg with relatives.

Senator and Mrs. Albert B. Fall of New Mexico and their daughter, Miss Jouett Fall, have taken an apartment at the Highlands.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Hitt entertained at dinner last evening at the Montgomery Country club, preceding the dancing class.

Mrs. Carroll C. Ennis announced today the engagement of her daughter, Virginia Randolph Merriweather Hicks, to Lieut. James Bertram Burns of San Francisco. Miss Hicks and Lieut. Burns are both with the American expeditionary force in France and will be married there. Miss Hicks met Lieut. Burns in this city about two years ago, but their acquaintance did not develop into a love affair until they worked together in the ordnance department at Tours, France.

The former imperial Russian Ambassador and Mme. Bakhmeteff will spend the summer at Newport, where they have leased the Stone cottage, which they have occupied several summers.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Psi Upsilon club of Chicago will entertain the delegates from eastern colleges who will pass through here today on their way to the annual convention of the fraternity at Minneapolis at luncheon today at the club rooms, 317 Plymouth court. Prof. Percy H. Boynton of the University of Chicago will be toastmaster and the speakers will be George F. Coleman of New York city, Charles Piez, and Herbert L. Bridgman, who has been president of the fraternity since 1883. Mr. Bridgman was graduated from Amherst in 1866.

The Mount Sinai hospital workers will give a reception Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Mme. Bertha Kalich.

The Municipal Employés' society of Chicago will give the first dance Thursday evening at the Municipal pier. Dancing will begin at 8 o'clock.

Daughters of Veterans, Illinois division, will give a luncheon at 1 o'clock Wednesday at Mandel's for Mrs. Lulu Carlin and Mrs. Mary Holmes, the national president and the national chief of staff. Mrs. Frances Wallace is chairman of arrangements for the luncheon.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, May 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. Theodore A. Schulze of 476 Summit avenue, St. Paul, Minn., announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Katherine Schulze, to Jeremiah Milbank of 29 East Thirty-ninth street, New York, and The Towers, Port Chester, N. Y. The wedding will take place quietly the latter part of June at the home of Miss Schulze's sister, Mrs. Theodore Pomeroy, Bryan Shore, Port Chester.

Mr. Milbank is a member of one of New York's oldest families. He graduated from Yale in 1909 and is a member of the University, Riding, Apawamis, and New York Yacht clubs, and the Greenwich Country club. He is the son of the late Joseph Milbank.

Mrs. Hamilton McK. Twombly of 684 Fifth avenue entertained an informal house party over the week end at her country place in Madison, N. J.

Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss has closed her town house at 33 East Sixty-seventh street and is now at her villa in Newport, where she will remain until late in the autumn.

WEDDINGS, ENGAGEMENTS

Announcement is made of the marriage of Dr. Jessie M. Shroyer of 4222 Ellis avenue to Melvin B. Estes, which took place May 16. Mr. and Mrs. Estes will reside at 4311 Greenwood avenue.

The marriage is announced of Miss Dorna Thorsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Thorsen of 4844 Kenmore avenue, to McKee H. Marshall of Detroit, which took place Wednesday at the Fourth Presbyterian church, Dr. Samuel Martin Gibson officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Robinson of 5805 Ridge avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Ruth, to Dr. I. E. Laby, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Laby of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bourne Wheeler of Eau Claire, Wis., announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen Louise, to Herman Monroe Potter of 5461 Blackstone avenue, Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Potter of Webster City, Ia.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Anna M. Kefer Dies; Lived Here 72 Years

Mrs. Anna M. Kefer, for seventy-two years a resident of Chicago, died yesterday at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Charles F. Bruning, 1728 Balmoral avenue. Mrs. Kefer was born in Norway April 20, 1846. She came to America as a baby, and transportation at that time was so slow that the voyage required six months. Mrs. Kefer had been planning to join the crowds that will greet the returning 122d artillery this week, her grandson, Paul C. Smith, 3751 Ridgeway avenue, being a member of the organization. Anticipation of this event is believed to have excited Mrs. Kefer, causing an attack of heart failure which brought death. Arrangements for the funeral will be published later.

FLORENCE HOLBROOK POUCHER is dead in New York City. For several years a resident of Evanston, she was active in social, philanthropic, and religious life there. She was one of the organizers of the Chicago College club and on its board of directors, and was a member of the Cordon club of Chicago, the Arts club, and others. She was a loyal friend of the art world and author of several art reviews and essays.

The funeral services will be held from the home of her son, Lieut. Barent Holbrook Poucher, in Milwaukee, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

SAMUEL HEYMAN, 231 Franklin road, Glencoe, a resident of Chicago for over thirty years and long identified with the wholesale clothing trade, died Saturday, after a short illness. He was for many years Chicago representative of a large clothing firm. He was a member of Normal Park lodge, A. F. & A. M. He is survived by Elizabeth Alice Heyman, his widow, M. A. Heyman, brother, and Mrs. Benjamin Wolf, sister, both of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Mrs. Benjamin Dreyfuss, sister, of New York City. Interment will be at Rosehill.

SONG AND DANCE AND PRETTY PAUL

Nelli Gardini returned to Chicago hearing as soloist of yesterday's concert by the Norwegian Singing Society in the Woods theater. She sang well and musically in her hard-finished, clear, cold soprano, using many of the good things that Grieg wrote. With Edgar Nelson to play for her, she made her part of the afternoon important. The society, too, sang Grieg: the program was all of Grieg. A great man of music, he, but never more emotionally stimulating than the cold sunshine of early March. These singing Norwegians of Chicago are getting along: their society will be fifty years old in 1920.

Marie Yung, once maitresse-de-ballet of the Chicago Opera, sent her pupils into exhibition in the Garrick, and thereby wrought nothing save good for herself, for them, or for the big audience of relatives and friends of the family. If none of the young dancers displayed so much sophistication as Sylvia Tell in last year's performance, those who took part while I was in the theater were delectably proficient in the fundamentals, and two or three were glib in the advanced idiom. These were Charline O'Shaughnessy, Virginia Rucker, and Dorothy Lang, who was rather exquisite as a Pierrette to a lacey tune by Chaminade. None of the other tutors seems to possess Mme. Yung's flair for imparting basic principles: her first-year pupils make a better showing than Isidora Duncan's seniors.

Paul Swan, once of our Art Institute and now a lily-lad of the tidewaters, danced, so to say, in the Palace music hall. Paul, some years ago, defiantly admitted that he was the most beautiful man in the world; and that would have helped him a lot, no doubt, if Renold Wolf had not thoughtlessly told in type that he had been seen reeling out of Huyler's. That set Paul back so far that he dared not ask for more than a thousand dollars a performance: that's his regular price, it seems. But he's a dear, with his rouged knees and tinted elbows, and didn't ask a cent for yesterday's dancing. That was a good thing: the sale of tickets put about $1,200 into the Chicago Babies' Free-Milk Fund, Mrs. Mortimer Singer explained. The takings were virtually net; for she got the theater, too, free of cost. F. D.

Loan Drive Luncheon.

In honor of their success in the Victory loan drive, Mrs. Herman Mack of the Lexington hotel gave a luncheon Saturday for Mrs. Charles B. Young and Mrs. P. G. Kennett, who had charge of the drive in the Lexington, in which they secured $31,000 against $5,000 in the fourth loan drive.

Ask 149th to Fowler Rites.

All members of the 149th field artillery are asked to meet in room 417 of the Hotel La Salle at noon tomorrow to attend the funeral of Chester Fowler of West Chicago, who is dead of tuberculosis.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—In winter we may prefer to look more pert than pretty. In summer we vote for just mere prettiness. That is what we get from this new and charming frock of white net with its underskirt and pointed side sections of lace, its sleeve and neck ruffles of the same lace, all plaited. Observe that the silhouette here is the Callot one of tight underskirt with wide overskirt, one which is bound to gain us in time the wide flaring skirt alone.

Lambda Tau Delegates Here.

Delegates from several states are in attendance at the annual convention of Lambda Tau sorority, which was opened with a reception and tea in the Hotel La Salle Saturday. Miss Hazel Popp, 6430 Yale avenue, president of the national organization, is in charge of the convention, assisted by Miss Alma Rose Leichty, 7156 Bennett avenue.

Goodnow-Vickery Wedding.

Miss Ethel Goodnow, daughter of County Commissioner Charles N. Goodnow, and Ensign John Frederick Vickery, U. S. N., were married in the parlors of the Auditorium hotel Saturday night by Dr. William R. Wedderspoon, pastor of St. James' Methodist Episcopal church. Dancing followed the ceremony. The couple will live at 1903 East Seventy-second street.

The Successful Home Garden

BY J. F. H. HEIDE.

No. 75.

THE SPRAY CALENDAR.

Though we plant the choicest varieties in perfect soil and give them the most painstaking culture, our space, money, and toil are wasted and our fondest hopes may be blasted if we take no steps to check the ravages of plant diseases and insect pests. No form of vegetation is entirely immune from attack.

Good drainage, duly enriched soil, fall spading repeated in spring, seasonable planting, correct pruning, clean cultivation, keeping the soil stirred up for aeration, clean garden methods, hand picking of chewing insects, prompt removal and destruction of diseased plants and prunings by fire, and a rational plan of crop rotation—will often be sufficient to produce profitable results, especially in the back yard garden. But where much is at stake, timely spraying, both for diseases and for insects, is a needed insurance.

In the series nere beginning we shall indicate only those sprays which are necessary for the production of profitable market results (which means of clean, wholesome fruits and vegetables) or for the very life of the plant. The multiplicity of imported and native pests may and probably will require specific treatment outside of the regular routine sprays, and these, together with formulas, will be subsequently treated.

The spraying should be done on calm, windless days. If this is not entirely possible in large practice, work from the windward side, coating every part of the plant subject to attack, without puddling under the plants.

FRUIT TREES.

For apples, pears, cherries, and plums the first, or dormant spray (that is, before leaf buds break) is as follows, calculated for a five gallon compression sprayer: Two quarts commercial lime-sulphur in four and one-half gallons water; in orchard quantities, five and one-half gallons commercial lime-sulphur in water to make fifty gallons. This is for the various scale insects.

The second, just before the flower buds open, is known as the cluster bud spray, for fungous diseases and insects: One pint commercial lime-sulphur, three ounces arsenate of lead paste (or one and one-half ounces in powder form in four gallons and seven pints water; in large quantities, one and one-quarter gallons commercial lime-sulphur, two pounds arsenate of lead paste (or one pound in powder form) in water to make fifty gallons.

The third, known as the calyx spray, immediately as the last of the blossoms of each variety of fruit fall, is also for fungous diseases and insects. It is made like the second, and the spray must be forcibly directed into the flowers in particular. In humid or rainy weather, such as we had here recently, the third must be repeated in ten days.

White Sauce for Party Luncheons.

It is rather a strain on anybody's imagination to try to plan a menu for a party or a wedding breakfast or supper or a guest dinner for somebody else's table. This is especially true if you never duplicate meals for guests at your own table.

Some of the reasons why this is difficult business are that you do not know the equipment or the buying judgment or the cooking and serving skill or the taste and ways prevailing in homes you have never entered. A good cateress will generally go to the place where she is to serve and look over the ground before she makes her plans. I have known such a one to make four four pound chickens serve eighty people, while another could not serve twenty with that number.

The "Lady from Philadelphia" used to give advice on everything, half of which was altogether bad and all of which was superficial. I have been noting some of the menus for wedding breakfasts she put into print twenty years ago. They were bad then, and they seem worse now when given forth by present day copying people who hesitate not one minute to tell anybody anything requested, generalizing and inventing or appropriating on the minute.

If you are no cook, yet desirous of learning to prepare nice little meals that would answer for party luncheons, I think you might best begin by learning to make a nice white sauce with variations. Made thin and with an addition, say, of strained asparagus, or something similar, it answers for a delicious soup.

A slice of fish cooked in a white sauce and basted with it with some splinters of vegetables like carrots cooked with it, makes an epicurean dish. Flaked fish with white sauce, bound with an egg white, and extended with white sauce and cooked in tin cups in a water bath, makes pretty timbales to serve with a cheese or other sauce when unmolded. The same mixture without the eggs, and in ramekins, sprinkled with fine bread crumbs and baked will go farther usually.

This is but the slightest suggestion of what we can do with white sauce.

SPENDS $225,000 TO GIVE WORKERS PROPER HOUSING

Clark Equipment Company Also Shares Gains, Builds Theater.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Typical of the approach many manufacturers are making toward the industrial housing problem are the activities of the Clark Equipment company, makers of steel disc wheels, drills, and tools, with plant at Buchanan, Mich., and general offices in Chicago.

In general the small cities are up against a shortage of houses, just as are the large centers. Particularly is this true of many communities in Michigan, due to the sudden expansion in the automobile industry. In many places factories have had to find accommodation for workers in tent colonies.

The Clark company had two chief motives, development of the community and comfortable housing for its steadiest employés, with a view of stimulating esprit.

Build 45 Houses.

Workers who wished to own their homes were without capital, so the company sailed in to give them the advantage of long time credit and cheaper building costs by constructing in bulk.

It bought a tract of land, platted it into a subdivision and as a starter put up forty-five bungalows and houses.

In price the houses ran as high as $4,500, which would be the equivalent of from $7,000 to $8,000 in Chicago, where land is higher.

To head off speculators and keep profiteers from grabbing the unearned increment, the company, in fixing the prices, added 100 per cent to the actual cost of the lot and 5 per cent on the cost of the house.

The purchasing employé paid on terms arranged to suit his purse, so much down and so much in installments, on an amortization plan that paid off both principal and interest, leaving the property free at the end of a period of years.

Knock Off a Part.

After five years of payments had given the purchaser an equity sufficient to guarantee his good faith in carrying the deal through to the end, the 100 per cent on the lot and the 5 per cent on the house were remitted and applied on the account, so the buyer got his home at actual cost price.

In most housing plans, so far, the employers have proceeded on a rental basis. Of 213 "company housing" projects studied by the government two years ago, only thirty-three built and sold the houses to the employés. Town planning had been ignored in the bulk of cases. Only 15 per cent of the projects had been mapped out by landscape and architectural experts.

When the Clark company came to sell its houses, it met with an interesting experience. It found the great demand was for the higher priced homes, instead of for the four room bungalows. The employés wanted homes not only of good architectural lines, but with plenty of room for expanding families.

"Coop" Houses Scorned.

The stabilized workman, who was ready to settle down and plant his own vine and fig tree, wanted a place where he would not be "cooped up." The larger houses went like hot cakes.

The company took the hint and announced that any purchaser could buy the lot, pick his own plan for a house and the company would build it, as long as it was not of freakish design. Several have done this.

So far the company had put in about $225,000 on housing development. Its officials say it has proved one of the best phases of their welfare work.

As part of the community development, the concern has built a theater. Its plant is in a park, and gardeners and hot houses keep it beautified with flowering plants and shrubbery. It has a gymnasium, a plant orchestra, and an amateur theatrical association.

No Paternalism Wanted.

In arranging its theatrical attractions the company came slapbang up against the well known fact that the American worker will not tolerate anything that smacks of paternalism. A vaudeville show was imported from Chicago and tickets were distributed free to the workers. That night the actors played to empty seats. Next time regular theater admission was charged and the performers played to a packed house.

Two years ago the Clark company inaugurated a plan of combined stock sale and profit sharing.

Employés were allowed to subscribe for stock in an amount equal to 10 per cent of their salary. They bought in "lots," each "lot" consisting of one share of preferred and one of common stock.

No one could buy more than four "lots" in any one year. With each "lot" was given an employés' participating certificate, which was entitled to a dividend of 6 per cent a year, or higher, if the directors so decided.

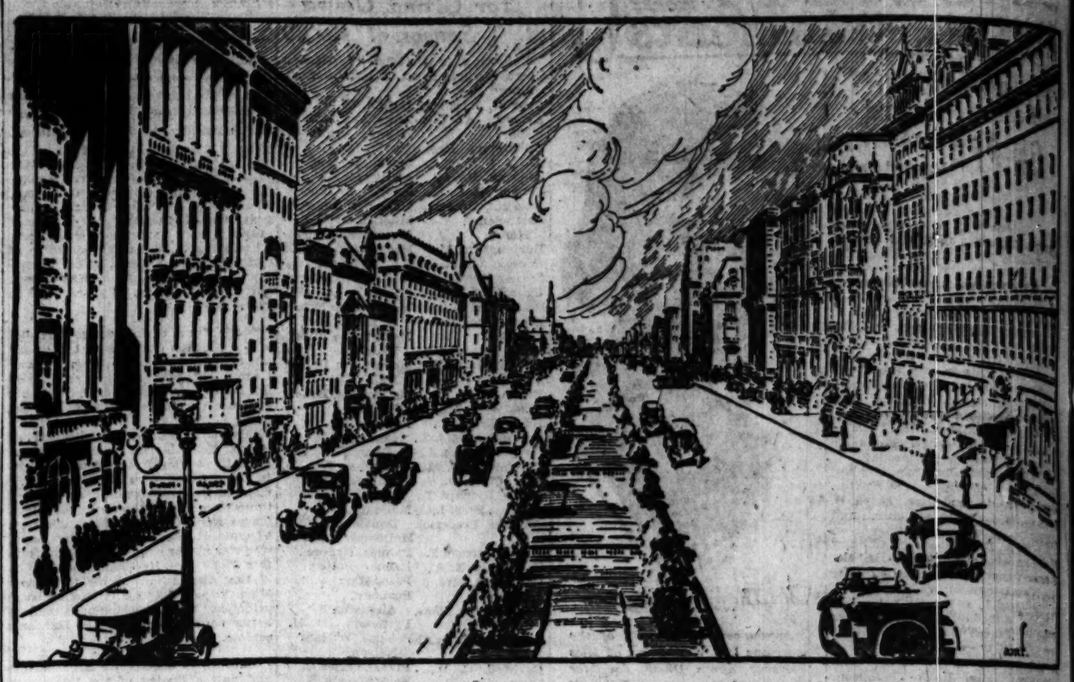

Workers Share Profits.

The idea was that the workman who held stock was entitled to a bigger dividend than the shareholder who merely invests his cash. As the plan has worked out, shareholding employés last year got a 7 per cent dividend on their preferred and $12 on each participating certificate.

In addition, at the end of the year there is a distribution dependent upon profit. The dividends to participating employés thus have gone as high as 65 to 70 per cent on their investment.

N. W. U. Trustees to Decide Hough Election Tomorrow

A decision in regard to the election of Dr. Lynn Harold Hough of Evanston to the presidency of Northwestern university is expected at a meeting of the full board of trustees tomorrow. It is known the majority of the nominating committee favors his election, notwithstanding a fight by certain of the alumni and a protest against electing him at this time by eight members of the board of trustees. There are forty members of the board, which leaves, it is said, a large majority in favor of his election after the opposition has been eliminated.

Think of reaching every person in this city of 110,000 selected homes!

Here is a city of 110,000 homes---a city without slums---a city where all the inhabitants are educated and cultured---a city where there is 100 per cent literacy---a city where every merchant's goods are guaranteed to be satisfactory---where the unscrupulous merchant is not permitted to sell his goods---a city of people who can afford to buy what they like---

It is a city where only one newspaper is read---

That city is Tribune, New York.

It is a city within a city---composed of 110,000 New York homes where people of their own accord have chosen the New York Tribune as the paper they want to read every morning.

Tribune, N. Y., is a unique city in that it is entirely composed of homes where people live who are intelligent and who can buy what appeals to them. Every ordinary city has its slums, its illiterates, its children whose wants are supplied by their parents. But in Tribune, N. Y., every human being is a logical prospect for the advertiser.

This is so well recognized in Greater New York that the high-grade department stores and shops have shown it: overwhelming preference. If local merchants are the most exacting buyers of advertising space, then these figures show the plus value in The Tribune's circulation. It contains the quality of New York's morning field---the people who prosper and buy. Here are the figures*:

The dream of the book-keeper—

This was the third night he had worked overtime. He was still far behind in his work. It seemed almost as if he were on a treadmill—working feverishly—doing the very best he knew how—but getting nowhere.

He stopped in his work for a moment and picked up a catalog. Let us look over his shoulder as he reads:—

"For 27 years, ever since Library Bureau introduced it, the card ledger has outclassed the old method of keeping accounts in books.

"Now that the day of the mechanically posted ledger is here, its advantages are even more evident.

"With the card ledger it is easy to keep postings up to date. Statements go out promptly—the first of the month. The L. B. Card ledger gives the bookkeeper a chance to use his head."

Dreams do sometimes come true. Today this same bookkeeper doesn't know what it means to work at night. He is off the treadmill. He does more work—he does better work—and he does it in less time. Yes, sir—he is using the L. B. Card ledger.

ALL SIGNS POINT TO PROSPERITY ON PEACE'S EVE

Signing of Treaty Expected to Give Impetus to Industry.

The New York Times.

New York, May 25.—[Special.]—Financial and business men approach the time when the peace treaty will be signed with evidence obtainable on practically every side of improving industrial conditions, of freer movement of goods into consumptive channels, of preparations for constructive legislation in behalf of the railroads, of a reawakening investment market for corporation bonds, and of relatively low cost of credit for domestic enterprise.

In lines where betterment a month ago was more of the sentimental than material quality, trade reports show that actual expansion has occurred which may be figured in employment of additional hands and an increase of profits.

Back of all the many factors promoting cheerfulness lies the prospect of abundant crops, which the world is in need of. Frequently reiterated in the discussions of producers and distributors of goods, the recounting of vastly increased bushels of wheat and corn and tons of hay never loses force in the process.

Views of Steel Makers.

The steel makers at a great conference last week laid stress on what large crops should do for their mills, and they were estimating the future at a moment when operations were greatly reduced from normal, when the outlook had to be visualized largely in nothing more tangible than expectations.

The building trade is looking up in many sections, and here, too, the promise of the crops is directing the activities of investors. The railroads of the northwest and southwest are preparing their facilities to the end that they may not be found wanting when crop moving demands come upon them. The influence of grain and cotton and fodder has a bearing both upon domestic and foreign business, but chiefly, at this time, upon the former.

The export movement of raw material and finished products is large and gaining in volume, but it is in domestic distribution that most producers are expanding their efforts.

Treaty Big Factor.

The growth of foreign trade, it is generally asserted, hinges upon the treaty and cornerstone of the treaty upon which international business will be built is the economic arrangement to which Germany accedes. That is what the bankers and manufacturers of all countries are now studying.

The drastic decline of French exchange to a point more than 20 per cent. under parity has been viewed with more or less freedom from concern because of the expectation that the peace terms in the end will shift much of the burden of France from her people to the shoulders of the Germans. Belgium and Italy await relief. These countries have insisted on a "just" peace which will exact from the destroyer as much reparation as may be had.

The Germans naturally squirm and seek to avoid the penalty of ruthlessness, but their efforts have been firmly set at nought by the allied representatives. It may be said that a foremost development in many favorable developments of the last week was the refusal of the allied and associated council to recede from their economic plans in respect to Germany.

Bankers' Opinion Firm.

If there had been wavering in the opinion of bankers, the half-formed program for financing the reconstruction of Europe might have been altered or at least made uncertain. The moral effect upon capital in many other countries than those engaged in the war might have been profound. As it is bankers are now encouraged to go ahead with negotiations, the calculations of western Europe's most pressing needs and the means to be used in allocating credits where they will be the most beneficial. Positive measures to this end will doubtless wait upon the signing of the treaty, which is expected to occur within a few weeks.

Probably to a greater extent than during the years of war manufacturing, the spring meeting of the American Iron and Steel institute on Friday emphasized the desire for coöperation between the producers rather than severe competition. It might be said that this was the keynote of the conference.

Favorable to Labor.

The need for giving labor a greater share in profits and management than heretofore was reiterated by speakers again and again. So little attention was paid the possibility of government interference with suggestions which hinted, at least, of closer relations hereafter between steel makers than before the war that the thought was aroused in some who listened to the speeches that a more liberal attitude by the new concern than by similar bodies of the past toward "Big Business" was believed probable.

Bank Clearings Surpass All Previous Records

With practically all centers reporting expansion, bank clearings at the principal cities in the United States last week attained notably high figures and surpassed all previous records for the period.

The total at 15 points amounted to no less than $7,021,396,334, an increase of 31.4 per cent over the same week last year, and one of 39.3 per cent in comparison with 1917. The continued activity in speculative channels finds reflection in bank clearings of $4,576,516,358 at New York City, or 51.1 per cent above those of this week of 1918, and 37.6 per cent more than two years ago.

Average daily bank exchanges for the year to date are given below for two years:

Commercial Failures for Week Show Decrease

Commercial failures last week in the United States, as reported by R. G. Dun & Co., are 106, against 141 the preceding week, and 184 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 18, against 14 the preceding week, and 12 last year. Of failures in the United States 43 were in the east, 20 south, 22 west, and 21 in the Pacific states, and 38 reported liabilities of $5,000 or more, against 75 last week.

William Farrell & Son, Inc.

(Incorporated under laws of State of New York)

7% Cumulative Preferred Stock

Dividends will be payable quarterly January 1, April 1, July 1 and October 1. Preferred both as to assets and dividends. Redeemable in whole or in part at option of Company on any dividend date at $120 per share and accrued dividends.

	Authorized and to be Presently Issued
7% Cumulative Preferred Stock (par value $100)	$3,000,000
Common Stock (no par value)	130,000 shares

The Company will have no funded indebtedness of any description, and none can be issued (other than purchase money obligations) without the consent of the holders of at least three-fourths of the outstanding Preferred Stock.

Information regarding this issue of Preferred Stock and the business and property of the Company is set forth in a letter furnished us by Mr. Thomas F. Farrell, President of William Farrell & Son, Inc., and summarized by him as follows:

William Farrell & Son, Inc., has arranged to acquire the business, assets and good will of representative coal dealers in the Boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx, New York City, doing an annual business of approximately 2,750,000 tons. It is proposed to apply a portion of the cash which will be in the treasury of the Company to acquire the business, assets and good will of several additional retail coal dealers, thereby increasing the tonnage substantially.

The placing of the various companies under one management is expected to result in increased efficiency and important economies, while sales should be materially increased.

Earnings of William Farrell & Son, Inc., as indicated by the average tonnage and net results per ton of the several companies for the past three years, and by new contracts signed and others in process of completion, will be more than three times the annual requirements of the Reserve Fund. This Reserve Fund will provide for:

Payment of all cumulated and unpaid dividends on the Preferred Stock;

Maintenance of an appropriated surplus sufficient to meet the cumulative dividends on the outstanding Preferred Stock for one year in advance;

Redemption of Preferred Stock at $120 per share and accrued dividends, or its purchase at not exceeding $120 per share and accrued dividends.

Through the operation of the Reserve Fund to be set apart out of surplus profits, it is estimated that the entire issue of Preferred Stock will be retired within about fourteen years.

Estimated value of physical property and net current assets approximately $4,800,000, equal to 160% of the total par value of the Preferred Stock. In this estimate no account is taken of the value of good will, leases and contracts.

The Charter contains unusually strong provisions for the safeguarding of the Preferred Stock.

All legal proceedings in connection with the formation of the Company and the issuance of the 7% Cumulative Preferred Stock have been passed upon by Messrs. Van Vorst, Marshall & Smith, Attorneys and Counsellors-at-law, New York City. The properties of the various companies for the acquisition of which arrangements have been made have been appraised by The American Appraisal Company, and the books and accounts of the companies have been examined by Messrs. Ernst & Ernst, Certified Public Accountants, New York.

This advertisement appears as a matter of record only, as all of the offering of Preferred Stock has been sold.

WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC & MANUFACTURING COMPANY

(SUMMARY OF ANNUAL REPORT)

PITTSBURGH, PA., May 23, 1919.

TO THE STOCKHOLDERS OF WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC & MANUFACTURING COMPANY:

The Board of Directors presents the following report of the operations of your Company and its proprietary companies for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1919, together with the usual financial and other statements as of that date.

INCOME ACCOUNT FOR THE YEAR

Gross Earnings:
Sales Billed		$160,379,942.68
Cost of Sales:
Factory Cost, including all Expenditures for Patterns, Dies, New Small Tools and Other Betterments and Extensions; also Depreciations of Property and Plant, Inventory Adjustments and all Selling, Administration, General and Development Expenses and all Taxes except Federal Income and Excess Profits Taxes		129,271,556.03
Net Manufacturing Profit		$31,108,386.65
Other Income:
Interest and Discount	$379,954.52
Dividends and Interest on Sundry Stocks and Bonds Owned	1,106,507.69
Miscellaneous—Royalties, etc.	136,799.61	1,623,261.82
Gross Income from All Sources		$32,731,648.47
Deductions from Income:
Interest on Bonds and Debentures	$378,804.05
Interest on One Year Notes and Other Notes Payable	1,891,478.38
Miscellaneous Interest	6,512.28	2,276,794.71
Net Income Before Deducting Federal Taxes		$30,454,853.76
Federal Income and Excess Profits Taxes		15,395,846.16
Net Income Available for Dividends and Other Purposes		$15,059,007.60

The Gross Earnings (sales billed) include shipments by New England Westinghouse Company and J. Stevens Arms Company from January 1, 1918.

From the Net Income for the year an amount has been deducted for Federal Income and Excess Profits Taxes based on statements prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Tax Law.

Here follows in the printed report a condensed comparative statement of operations for a period of six years.

After the elimination of contracts and orders cancelled as a result of the signing of the armistice, the value of unfilled orders on April 1, 1919, was $76,248,000.

INCOME AND PROFIT AND LOSS ACCOUNT

During the year regular quarterly dividends at the rate of 7% per annum were paid on the preferred and common stocks, resulting in a charge against Surplus of $5,236,783.70. After deducting this charge and the reserve for Federal Income and Excess Profits Taxes and miscellaneous items, the Net Surplus as of March 31, 1919, stands at $36,207,732.69, an increase over the surplus at the beginning of the year of $9,803,037.96.

ASSETS

During the year your Company acquired the Franklin Electric Manufacturing Company, which was engaged in the manufacture of incandescent lamps at Hartford and Middletown, Conn. The accounts of that company are included in this report as a proprietary company.

The equipment of the Essington Works with machine tools was completed in the early part of the year and these works have been wholly engaged in the manufacture of equipment for cargo and naval ships for the United States Government. When this work shall have been completed, the original plan to remove the manufacture of turbines and reduction gears from East Pittsburgh to this plant will be carried out, which will make available much needed additional manufacturing space for the other operations of your Company at East Pittsburgh.

The plant of the New England Westinghouse Company at East Springfield will hereafter be devoted to the manufacture of industrial motors and automobile starting and lighting apparatus, which will relieve an overcrowded condition at Newark and certain departments in East Pittsburgh. It is expected that these operations will begin at the Springfield plant about September 1st.

The increase in Investments is principally due to subscriptions made during the year to Liberty Loan Bonds. The Company and its employees together subscribed to the five Government Bond issues to an amount in excess of $21,500,000.

Negotiations are in progress for the sale for cash of your Company's 5% Prior Lien Debenture Bonds of Electric Holdings, Limited, of London, which were received in payment for your holdings of The British Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, Ltd., as stated in last year's report.

Every effort has been made to keep the investment in inventories at a minimum amount, with the result that they show a reduction of approximately $1,000,000 as compared with last year.

LIABILITIES

An issue of $15,000,000 One Year Notes due February 1, 1920, was sold during the year, the proceeds being used to retire a like amount due February 1, 1919.

The entire outstanding balance, $91,000 of debenture certificates of The Westinghouse Machine Company, and all but $10,000 face value of the Fifteen Year Notes due January 1, 1924, were retired during the year.

The current bank loans were reduced during the year by $7,420,000 and the balance of $5,280,000 is being paid as it matures.

The accruals for taxes include an estimated amount on income for January, February and March, 1919, calculated under the present Federal Tax Law, which will not be due for payment until 1920.

The balance sheet shows ample reserves for the protection of Accounts and Notes Receivable, Inventories and other adjustments, substantial amounts having been added during the year.

More than 8,000 employees entered the Naval and Military forces of the United States. During their absence steps were taken to protect their participation in the Pension and Relief Departments, and favorable conditions have been established for the reinstatement of such employees who may apply for positions.

The books and accounts of your Company and its proprietary companies have been audited by Messrs. Haskins & Sells, Certified Public Accountants, and their certificate appears in full in the printed report.

During the past year your Company has been operated under conditions unprecedented in the industrial world, and the Directors take pleasure in recording their acknowledgment of the devotion and unremitting efforts of the officers and employees.

By order of the Board of Directors.

GUY E. TRIPP, Chairman.

Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

A. R. L., Toledo, O.—The government has contracted to pay the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road a rental which, on the face of the contract, is sufficient to cover the dividend on preferred stock and leave a little for the common, but after adjustments the income for 1918 figured out at not quite enough to cover the preferred dividend. Actual earnings of the property were not enough to pay interest. The near future of this stock depends principally on what congress does in the matter of returning the roads to their owners.

Northern Ohio Traction and Light.

W. B., Madison, Wis.—The Northern Ohio Traction and Light company has $5,298,000 of preferred stock outstanding and about $15,000,000 of bonds, including those of a subsidiary. Gross and net earnings have increased steadily for years, except in 1917, when net declined slightly. Last year gross was $7,234,142 and net $2,418,450. This covered interest twice and left surplus enough to cover the preferred dividend about four times. Complete figures are not yet available. The company recently asked authority to issue more bonds. At 90 the preferred stock yields 6 2-3 per cent, which is below the average for well protected preferred stocks of utility corporations.

Brief Answers.

J. F. V.—The American Steel Foundries company recently voted to issue $25,000,000 of preferred stock to finance an extension of its business into new lines. The par of the common stock was at the same time reduced from $100 to $33.33 1-3 and the number of shares increased to 515,520.

A. W. M., Boone, Iowa—Commonwealth Edison bonds are a conservative investment. They are selling below par because high grade bonds in general are selling at prices to make the yield well over 5 per cent.

P. E. B.—The Submarine Boat corporation recently reported earnings of 22 cents a share in 1918, compared with $1.63 in 1917. The prospect of an early resumption of dividends would seem to be poor.

BULL EDGE OFF FOOD MARKETS; WEST IS SELLING

Fair Gains Last Week Despite Bearishness of Local Traders.

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

The bull edge is off the food market. The last relief ship is said to have left New York Saturday for Europe. Hereafter the export business is expected to be a catch as catch can proposition between the foreigners and exporters on this side of the ocean. These conditions are expected to make an unsettled situation, and it may not be as easy to do an export business in the future as in the past.

Expectations are that Germany will be a big buyer of foodstuffs after the peace treaty is signed, and those who are bullish are looking forward to a large demand from that quarter.

Long Period of Bull Markets.

Bull markets have been on for so long a period that it is no more than natural for a change in trade sentiment. The public is generally bullish on wages and bearish on the high cost of living, but is not getting anywhere on such a proposition. The government is reselling around 250,000,000 lbs of canned meats and hog products. The latter, however, have been mostly disposed of at asking prices to a shade less. It is likely that the canned roast beef and corned beef hash, of which there are 194,000,000 lbs, will be exported and will soon be out of the way.

Professional speculators are mostly looking for lower prices, as it is usual for a decline in values at this season, when the crop outlook is good. Those who are bullish are not as optimistic over the future as they were, although a good many traders believe in corn values holding up to a high level, as supplies are light.

Iowa Selling Corn.

Iowa is offering a great deal of corn and selling a fair quantity. The situation there has changed materially, owing to the destruction of the Douglas Starch works at Cedar Rapids last Thursday. They used 20,000 bu of corn per day, which has been a factor in absorbing corn from Omaha and other sections of the west. It is said that there was some 600,000 bu of corn bought to arrive by the Douglas interest, which is expected to be sold to come to Chicago.

May corn sold last week at the highest of the season, $1.79¾, and closed at $1.79, a gain of 8⅝c for the week. July closed at $1.63⅝@1.62⅞, up 3⅞c; September, $1.56⅛@1.56, up 2⅞c. With 23c difference between September and May, the general impression is that the short seller is giving away too much for its own good. Prices for the week follow:

Two Sides to Oat Market.

There are two sides to the oat market but neither side was able to gain much permanent advantage last week. Increased speculative buying sent prices up early while realizing sales caused a break at the last.

May oats closed Saturday at 68⅝c, July 66⅝c to 66¾c, September 63⅝c to 63¼c, showing a gain of ½c on the latter and ¾ to 1⅛c on the near deliveries. Prices for the week follow:

Resales of Product Absorbed.

Speculators are bearish on provisions because surplus supplies of the government are being resold. It is understood that these are going into hands of those needing supplies, and such offerings of lard and meats have been about all placed at good prices, so that they are no longer a factor in the market. Shipments from here are heavily in excess of previous years.

May pork is 90c higher and July 40c lower. Lard is off 45c to 72½c, the latter on September, and short ribs are 35c higher for May and 35c lower for July, compared with a week ago. Prices for the week follow:

PLANS FOR VAST MOTOR MERGER ARE REPORTED

New York, May 25.—[Special.]—Bankers are understood to be at work on plans for a merger of automobile companies, which would take in several more prosperous organizations, and present a solid competitive front to the $1,000,000,000 General Motors company. Chandler, Chalmers, Maxwell, and Studebaker are mentioned as being definitely in the plan, which probably will include others.

The tremendous demand which has sprung up since the close of the war for automobiles has made financial and physical expansion necessary. Some of the companies named in the present rumors are already far behind on new business and booked to capacity for several months. Studebaker is the largest of the quartet. It has $40,965,000 of stock outstanding, of which $30,000,000 is common and $10,965,000 is preferred. Maxwell ranks second in size with $38,650,000 stock outstanding. Chalmers has $4,400,000 preferred and 400,000 shares of no par value, and Chandler has issued $7,000,000 worth of the $10,000,000 authorized of its one class of stock.

TELEPHONE STOCKHOLDERS.

The number of American Telephone stockholders increased 30 per cent to the record total of 119,480 in the 1918 calendar year. The new names credited with more than 1,000 shares are [illegible].

STUDEBAKER EARNINGS SHOW VAST INCREASE

New York, May 25.—[Special.]—The sudden show of strength in Studebaker yesterday was understood to be due more to inside knowledge of the company's financial statement for the first three months of the year, which will be made public during the week, than to the merger rumor.

The company is understood to be earning slightly more than $1,000,000 a month net on the $30,000,000 of common stock outstanding, which is equivalent to $40 a share on the stock, against $3,334,000, or 10.39 per cent, earned in 1918, during which the company was paying $4 a year. The earnings are reported to have increased at such a tremendous pace as a result of new business which has been flooding the company. It is reported that the company has been obliged to shut down on new orders until caught up.

In connection with the increase in earnings the directors are reported to be considering an increase in dividends to a 10 per cent basis, which was the amount paid in 1916.

Imbrie & Co. Buy $10,000,000 Rio Bonds

New York, May 25.—[Special.]—That Imbrie & Co. have purchased $10,000,000 of City of Rio de Janeiro serial 6s and will offer them toward the latter part of this week was learned yesterday. It is the first foreign financing announced since the entrance of the United States into the war, and the first time that the Brazilian city has sold securities to any bankers not English and French.

The extent of the success of the offering, which is being syndicated, is being watched closely by those interested in future foreign financing and trade with Latin America. Should the issue be largely oversubscribed the bankers in the United States would be encouraged to purchase railroad, dock, and other internal improvement developments in South America.

Westinghouse Report Shows Heavy Business

The annual report of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company shows an enormous gain in gross business in the year ended March 31, 1919, but net earnings were practically unchanged. Sales billed amounted to $160,379,942, as compared to but $95,735,407 in the previous year. Manufacturing profit was $31,108,386, as compared to $15,509,470. The subtraction of $15,395,846 federal taxes, an item which was included in operating expense the previous year, left income available for dividends practically unchanged at $15,059,007, as compared to $15,405,681. This is equal to 21.17 per cent on the common stock as compared to 21.36 in the previous year.

THE LUMBER MARKET

St. Louis, Mo., May 25.—In its weekly review of the lumber trade conditions Lumber tomorrow will say:

"The fourth advance of the year in prices of Douglas fir went into effect last week at all manufacturing and distributing centers, and that the new advances of approximately $3 per thousand on all grades are being well maintained is evidenced by the fact that mills are sending back orders submitted on previous quotations. Shortage of stocks is the general rule throughout the entire lumber market, and advancing prices is the general tendency.

"In southern pine orders for the week exceeded production by about 27,000,000 feet, while shipments for the same period were nearly 7,000,000 feet in excess of production.

"The demand for lumber these days is coming from all consuming centers. Dealers are buying quite extensively to meet a constantly increasing home building demand, and wood consuming industrials are entering the market in quest of material in larger numbers daily. Maple and hardwood flooring are in especially good demand, and prices of both items have advanced materially during the last week."

$100,000,000 PACKING MERGER IN FORMATION

Imbrie Company Official Admits Scheme Is Under Way.

New York, May 25.—[Special.]—A combination of independent packing companies is in process of organization. The capitalization of this new merger, it is understood, will be in the neighborhood of $100,000,000.

The proposed amalgamation will include a number of the larger independent packing companies from five or six cities, among them New York. It is understood that Imbrie & Co. already have bought outright several concerns which will be absorbed in the consolidation.

Beyond admitting that such a merger is under way, a member of Imbrie & Co. declined to say anything for publication yesterday, excepting that the new combination will measure up with the large packing concerns in existence, known in the trade as the "Big Five." An announcement on the results of pending negotiations is expected within a few weeks.

It is stated in banking circles that an amalgamation of packers is a natural outcome of the war, which has stimulated food production to an enormous extent. It is expected that for some years to come the United States will be called upon to supply food deficiencies in Europe due to destruction wrought by the war.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Retail prices of food in the United States during the month of April were within 3 per cent of the highest point reached, which was in December of last year, according to a statement issued by the bureau of labor.

According to this statement the cost of twenty-two articles of food in the United States as a whole was 18 per cent higher than in April, 1918, and 85 per cent higher than in April, 1913.

Out of every dollar taken in by the railroads during the month of March in gross earnings, 92.2 cents was used to pay bare operating expenses, including taxes, according to the detailed statement just published by the interstate commerce commission. This raises a question as to how the railroads could manage under private ownership with an operating ratio of 92.2 per cent. After meeting operating expenses there must be a surplus to pay first, interest, rentals and other fixed charges, and then dividends.

Here is a detailed statement of the income and outgo of the railroads for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1914, before the high costs began to affect operating expenses:

		Ratio to Operating expenses.
Operating revenue	$3,047,019,908	100.00
Income from invest.	103,358,034	3.39
Total income	$3,150,377,942	103.39
Op. exp., inc. taxes	2,200,318,159	72.21
Interest, rent, etc.	521,023,237	17.10
Dividends	339,768,533	11.15
Balance		2.93

Owing to the cessation of the use of pneumatic tube systems in the transmission of the mails, at the close of last June, the report of operations of the American Pneumatic Service company for the calendar year 1918 compares unfavorably with previous similar documents. The earnings after expenses and depreciation last year were $337,213, compared with $461,229 in 1917 and $524,874 in 1916. After bond interest and sinking fund charges the balance available for dividends amounted to $238,140, against $364,165 in 1917.

The annual report of the Ohio Cities Gas company, to be read to stockholders at their annual meeting in Columbus June 5, will show surplus earnings available for the common stock in the fiscal year ended March 31 last of $9,063,957, which is equivalent to 19.73 per cent on the $45,937,500 of outstanding stock.

In the 1918 fiscal year the company showed surplus earnings available for the common of $9,854,525, or 26.85 per cent on the $36,750,000 of common stock then outstanding.

Unconditionally Guaranteed by

STANDARD GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY

The following is a summary of a letter signed by Mr. Arthur S. Huey, Vice-President of the Standard Gas & Electric Company:

Business. Shaffer Oil and Refining Company will acquire the oil interests of C. B. Shaffer and Associates in the Mid-Continent fields.

Security. A first lien on the entire system of oil properties, either by direct first mortgage or through the deposit of collateral. These properties comprise 57,000 acres of leases, with 391 producing wells, a modern 6,000 barrel refinery, 508 tank cars, twenty-five 55,000 barrel steel storage tanks, over 152 miles of pipe lines and gathering lines, and 70 distributing stations. The properties have a value in excess of twice the principal amount of these bonds to be oustanding according to appraisals of independent experts checked by Messrs. H. M. Byllesby & Company.

Earnings. For the past three years, before deduction of Federal Taxes, net earnings based on audits of Marwick, Mitchell, Peat & Co. have averaged over four times maximum interest requirements on this issue and for 1918 were $3,898,878, or more than five times the maximum interest requirements.

Sinking Fund. Semi-annual sinking fund payments commencing December 1, 1919, at 4% and gradually increasing to 6% on the par value of this issue of $12,000,000 will provide not less than $11,280,000 for retirement of these bonds before maturity.

A typical modern Latin American city scene

This is Florida Plaza and Florida Street, Buenos Aires. It is a line reproduction of an actual photograph. Notice the up-to-date buildings and the large number of automobiles. Such a city has real buying power.

A Real Market in Latin America

Facts on which to base advertising and selling campaigns now at command of United States manufacturers and exporters

"I realize the big possibilities of the Latin-American market, but how can I take advantage of them?"

THIS is the problem of many United States manufacturers.

Their product is ideal for that market. The time is ripe for them to go after it. But they hesitate because they haven't the same accurate knowledge that has enabled them to sell successfully in the United States.

There are obstacles to marketing our goods in Latin America. But these obstacles can now be overcome. These countries have 85,000,000 people. Of these, 40% are potential buyers of our products.

The size and buying power of the market make it worth the while of the United States manufacturer to expend the necessary effort and money to overcome these obstacles.

Among the United States products already enjoying good sales in this field are:

Colgate's Toilet Articles, Scott's Emulsion, Sapolio, Winchester Arms and Ammunition, Walk-Over Shoes, Singer Sewing Machines, Columbia Phonographs, Kodaks, Remington and Corona typewriters, and variety of makes of automobiles, tires, and machinery of all sorts.

It is a new market to many manufacturers. Such manufacturers will have the advantage of being first in the field. It is a growing market which will yield increased sales in proportion as it is scientifically worked.

How to get this market

The basis of a permanent and growing business is the same in Latin America as it is in the United States—CONSUMER DEMAND.

How to create and stimulate consumer demand in Latin America need be a problem no longer for the United States manufacturer.

The information needed to advertise and sell successfully in Latin America is now available. For the past year the Caldwell-Burnet Corporation has had its men in the South American, Central American and West Indian markets to bring back the most recent developments in them.

Answers to vital questions about your product

Is my product adaptable to the country?
What is the rate of duty on it?
Who are my competitors?
Is my package right for these markets?
Should the wording be in English, Spanish or Portuguese?
What are the wholesale and retail prices of similar articles in Brazil?
In Argentina?
Who are the leading wholesalers in my line in Chile?
What are their ratings?
How many retailers in my line are there in Buenos Aires?
In Argentina?
In all Latin America?
What are the facilities for the distribution of my product?

These facts are vital to your success down there. You can get them and other necessary data through the Caldwell-Burnet Corporation. It places this information at the command of the manufacturer or exporter and his advertising agency.

Represents 276 leading publications

The Caldwell-Burnet Corporation has the exclusive representation in the United States of 276 leading Latin American media. It also represents posting, car card and moving picture companies.

The same methods for transacting business between publishers, manufacturers, and advertising agencies which have proved efficient and economical in the United States have been put into effect by this corporation for Latin America. It places, forwards, checks and bills advertising in all Latin American media. By this means you can advertise in any country or city in Latin America through your own agency just as you can in the United States.

The following companies co-operated in the formation of the Caldwell-Burnet Corporation: GEORGE BATTEN COMPANY, BLACKMAN-ROSS COMPANY, CALKINS & HOLDEN, CRITCHFIELD & COMPANY, THE ERICKSON COMPANY, FRANK PRESBREY COMPANY, FRANK SEAMAN, INCORPORATED, SHERMAN & BRYAN, Inc., J. WALTER THOMPSON COMPANY and the AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

Through this co-operation it was possible to do this work in the comprehensive way that is necessary, but too costly for any single firm to afford.

Write or telephone for a representative of the Caldwell-Burnet Corporation to call on you.

To Advertising Agencies

The Caldwell-Burnet Corporation acts as a Special Agency representing Latin-American media. Its knowledge of Latin-American markets and the facilities for entering them are available to all accredited agencies. Write or telephone to have one of our representatives call to discuss the possibilities of these markets with you.

Do you know that—

YOU could put the entire United States into Brazil and still have 166,000 square miles to spare.

Buenos Aires, with 1,700,000 inhabitants, is the third largest city on the American continents being surpassed by only New York and Chicago.

The United States Shipping Board has just alloted 128 ships exclusively for trade with South America.

In January, 1919, $39,000,000 worth of U. S. goods went to Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay and Paraguay, an increase of 190% over January, 1918.

Edward N. Hurley says, "An increased demand for U. S. merchandise of every kind for export to South America is being felt."

When it is winter in the United States it is summer in Argentina, which suggests a possible solution for the problem of seasonal manufacturing in the United States.

Brazil has 10 cities with over 100,000 population, including one, Rio de Janeiro, over 1,500,000, and one, Sao Paulo, over 500,000.

In Argentina, 75% of the women use face creams, powders and other toilet articles. They prefer expensive, imported articles.

In Buenos Aires, alone, there are over 500 drug stores selling high-grade toilet goods. In addition, there are over 600 perfume shops, beauty parlors, barber shops and department stores handling these products.

South American men pay more attention to their toilet than the average North American. They are large consumers of soaps, perfumes, etc.

Already 1479 North American Manufacturers have agents or representatives in Buenos Aires. 2768 European Manufacturers are represented there.

For facts about the Latin-American markets, write or telephone today to the Caldwell-Burnet Corporation.
